SUBMARINE SITUATION NOW TENSE

GERMAN SQUADRON ATTACK ON ENGLISH COAST; IRISH REBELLION; BIG WAR NEWS

Lowestoft Bombarded But British Light Cruisers Come Up and Attacking Force Hurriedly Steams for Home—Little Infantry Fighting at Verdun But Artillery Duels Continue.

The Associated Press summarizes the war news as follows:

A revolutionary outbreak in Ireland in which British troops and volunteers sustained relatively heavy casualties and a raid by a German battle cruiser squadron on the east coast of England in which the raiders escaped after having bombarded Lowestoft and hit two British cruisers and a destroyer are the outstanding features of the war.

So far as has been made public the revolution in Ireland has not extended beyond Dublin, where the members of the Sinn Fein society on Monday captured the postoffice and other points in Dublin and in fighting which ensued between the troops and loyalists killed at least eleven of the city's defenders and wounded nearly a score of others. What the losses of the revolutionists were has not been stated.

The German battle cruiser squadron made its attack on Lowestoft, opening fire on the coast and killing two men, one woman and a child. British light cruisers, torpedo boat destroyers and aircraft chased the Germans, who put back hastily toward Germany. Two British cruisers and a destroyer were hit by German shells, but none was sunk. Whether the Germans suffered any damage is not known.

Except in Lorraine, there has been an entire absence of infantry fighting on the western front. The big guns, however, have continued their rain of shells on opposing positions at various points.

At La Chapelette in Lorraine the Germans launched a heavy infantry attack against the French which was repulsed. Some of the Germans obtained a footing in a portion of the French salient, but later were driven out with heavy losses.

Around Hill 364 and in the region of Esnes and Cumieres, northwest of Verdun, the bombardment continues intense. To the east of Verdun, around Moulainville, there also has been a violent bombardment. In the Argonne the French have destroyed with their guns a German post and shattered a German trench over a small front.

Considerable aerial activity by the Frenchmen in which four German machines were brought down is reported by Paris.

On the eastern front near Garbunovka the Russians made a heavy attack against the Germans, but according to Berlin were repulsed with sanguinary losses. Heavy artillery engagements are still in progress in the upper Cordevole and Monte San Michele zones of the Austro-Italian front. The British official communication from Mesopotamia says the British are still holding their lines on the right bank of the Tigris against the Turks and have somewhat extended them at one point by driving in the Turkish pickets.

PRO-GERMAN LEADER SAYS NO GERMANS HERE IF WAR COMES

Richard Bartholdt, former congressman from Missouri, and leader of the German-Americans in the United States, declares that if war breaks out between the United States and Germany, the people of German descent in this country will be the most loyal citizens of the republic.

ENGLAND INSISTS ON RIGHT TO SEARCH ALL SHIPS AT SEA

BRITISH NOTE CONTENDS PRACTICES COMPLAINED OF FORCED BY SITUATION THAT HAS ARISEN SINCE WAR WITH GERMANIC POWERS BEGAN.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, April 25.—The latest British note in answer to the American protests against allied interference with neutral trade, made public tonight at the state department, contends that the practices complained of are "judicially sound and valid" and that the relief which neutrals seek is rather to be obtained by the mitigation of necessary hardships than by "abrupt changes either in theory or application of a policy based upon admitted principles of international law carefully adjusted to the altered conditions of modern warfare."

It discloses that "an impartial and influential commission" has been appointed to find ways to minimize delays and pledges the allies to make their restraints on trade as little burdensome to neutrals as possible.

The note in which the French government concurs, reiterates the military necessity of regulating commerce to neutrals contiguous to Germany and justifies the effectiveness of the blockade which was challenged by the last American note.

MORE CORRESPONDENCE OVER ISSUE IS EXPECTED.

More diplomatic correspondence over the issue is expected. The note says, in conclusion:

"His Majesty's government have noted with sincere satisfaction the intimation contained in the concluding passages of the United States' note of the intention of the United States to undertake the task of championing the integrity of neutral rights.

"The first act of this war was the unprovoked invasion by the enemy of neutral territory—that of Belgium—which he was solemnly pledged by treaty to protect. The disregard of neutral rights has since been extended to naval warfare by the wanton destruction of neutral merchant ships on the high seas regardless of the lives of those on board. His Majesty's government would welcome any combination of neutral nations under the lead of the United States which would exert an effective influence to prevent the violation of neutral rights and they cannot believe that they or their allies have much to fear from any combination for the protection of those rights which takes an impartial and comprehensive view of the conductance of this war and judges it by a reasonable interpretation of the generally accepted provisions of international law and by the rules of humanity that have hitherto been approved by the civilized world.

NEW DEVICES NEED NEW METHODS.

"It would seem to be a fair reply to such a contention that new devices for dispatching goods to the enemy must be met by new methods of applying the fundamental and acknowledged principles of the right to intercept such trade."

The note argues the impossibility of making searches at sea because of the weather, the size of modern steamships and the manner in which contraband has been concealed. A report from Admiral Sir John Jellico, commander of the grand fleet, is included. After summing up the circumstances which it is contended work for less hardship by sending ships to port for search instead of search at sea, Admiral Jellico's report concludes:

ADMIRAL JELLICO'S REPORT SUMMED UP.

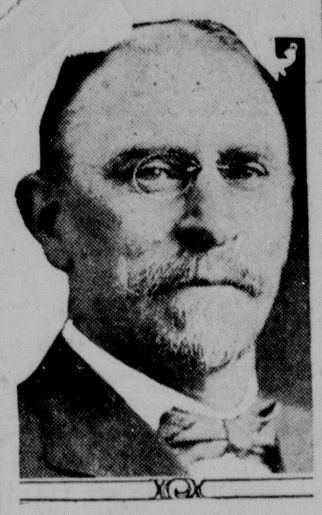

"The difference between the British and German procedure is that we have acted in the way which causes the least discomfort to neutrals. Instead of sinking neutral ships engaged in trade with the enemy, as the Germans have done in so many cases in direct contravention of their own prize regulations, we examine them, giving as little inconvenience as modern naval conditions will allow, sending them into port only where this becomes necessary."

The note adds that a further reason for bringing ships into harbor is the necessity for close examination of all suspected persons which has been made necessary by "the German practice of misusing United States passports to procure safe conduct for military persons and agents."

The note discusses the question of Minister to Turkey Tenders Resignation

Henry Morgenthau.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, April 25.—Henry Morgenthau, American ambassador to Turkey, has tendered his resignation to President Wilson and it probably will be accepted. Abram I. Elkus, a New York lawyer, is expected to succeed him.

Mr. Morgenthau is expected to take up important organization work for the democratic party in the coming campaign.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DRINKS ONE TOAST, "TO OUR PRESIDENT"

By the Associated Press.

New York, April 25.—In a toast offered to President Wilson at the luncheon in connection with the annual meeting here today of the Associated Press, Frank B. Noyes of Washington, D. C., president of the organization, tendered "our affectionate sympathy and our loyal support to the man who, by virtue of his great office is our spokesman to the world, and who speaks for our rights and our honor as God gives him to see our rights and our honor."

"On similar occasions in past years," Mr. Noyes said, "I have dwelt on the heterogeneous character of the membership of the Associated Press, mainly for the purpose of emphasizing the fact that varied as are our opinions on one subject, we all agree that each and every one is a loyal American."

"The 900 who compose our membership exercise their inalienable right of holding an opinion on every conceivable subject, including the relations of this government with foreign powers, and this right they hold and exercise in common with the rest of the hundred million Americans.

"This broadly does no great harm, because however unwise the opinion thus individually held, no one else is committed by its expression.

"Our form of government provides that the duty and obligation of voicing the opinion of this nation in its intercourse with foreign nations rests with and is imposed upon our chief magistrate. When he speaks for us in the course of that intercourse he speaks for all of us.

"It is a very great, indeed a very terrible responsibility for a man to bear at any time.

BOTH SYMPATHY AND SUPPORT TENDERED.

"Today with a world drenched in blood, writhing in anguish for those already dead or maimed, the responsibility is immeasurably great, immeasurably terrible.

"So in this hour of uncertainty as to what the immediate future may bring to us, we tender our affectionate sympathy and our loyal support to the man who by virtue of his great office is our spokesman to the world and who speaks for our right and our honor as God gives him to see our right and our honor.

"It is our custom at these annual gatherings to drink but one toast.

"I offer it today with a full heart: "I give you the health of our president, Woodrow Wilson."

TEXAN ELECTED ON ADVISORY BOARD.

At the annual meeting, the following directors were elected:

Charles A. Rook Pittsburg (Pa.) Dispatch; Charles Hopkins Clark, Hartford (Conn.) Courant; Clark Howell, Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution; V. C. McClatchy, Sacramento (Cal.) Bee; Elbert H. Baker, Cleveland Plain Dealer, and Oswald Garrison Villard, New York Evening Post.

The following advisory board and committees for the southern division were elected:

Advisory board: James R. Gray, Atlanta (Ga.) Journal; H. C. Adler, Chattanooga (Tenn.) Times; M. E. Foster, Houston (Texas) Chronicle; Bruce Haldeman, Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal; Robert Ewing, New Orleans (La.) States.

Nominating committee: F. G. Bell, Savannah (Ga.) News; J. M. Thomson, New Orleans (La.) Item.

Auditing committee: Frederick I. Thompson, Mobile (Ala.) Register.

Resolutions were adopted at the meeting today expressing regret because of the deaths of three former directors, Colonel Wm. R. Nelson, publisher of the Kansas City (Mo.) Starr; Charles W. Knapp, treasurer of the New York Times, and Herman Ridder, publisher of the New York Staats Zeitung.

FEAR AMERICAN REPORTS OF POSSIBLE CONCESSIONS WILL MAKE BERLIN TROUBLE

Secretary Lansing Deprecates Publication of Newspaper Dispatches That Germany May Abandon Submarine Campaign in Part as Teutonic War Party Might Distort Them.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, April 25.—Secretary Lansing in a conference today with newspaper correspondents deprecated the publication of reports that official dispatches from Ambassador Gerard indicated Germany might make concessions to the United States in reply to the note demanding the immediate abandonment of present methods of conducting submarine warfare. He said official dispatches from Berlin contained only quotations of newspaper opinions similar in many cases to the editorial excerpts in press dispatches.

The last dispatch from Mr. Gerard, Secretary Lansing said, was dated before the imperial chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg, had conferred with the ambassador.

It is understood here that one of the objects of the various conferences known to have taken place between officials of the Berlin foreign office and Ambassador Gerard has been to make it plain to the ambassador that there would be no avoidable delay in responding to the American note.

It is felt here that stories indicating Germany might make certain concessions and that the German government was willing to go to great lengths to preserve the friendly relations with the United States might find their way back to Germany in distorted form and have such effect upon the German people as to make more difficult the announcement of any policy of conciliation involving additional restrictions upon the use of submarines. The internal political situation in Germany always has been extremely delicate when questions involving submarine policy were under consideration.

Conference Is Held.

By the Associated Press.

Berlin, April 25, via London, April 26, 3:15 a. m.—Prior to his departure for headquarters to consult with Emperor William the submarine issue and Germany's relations with the United States were again under discussion today by Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, and James W. Gerard, the American ambassador.

No definite decision on the premises apparently has yet been reached and one probably will not be arrived at until the chancellor reaches headquarters tomorrow afternoon. All the surface indications, however, point more and more to the probability that an arrangement regarding the Sussex and a modus vivendi on the submarine problem will be offered to the United States and that a sincere endeavor to reach an understanding will be made from this side, putting the decision regarding the future status of relations up to Washington.

The public and press continue to view the situation gravely, but calmly, and for the greater part with a desire that a way out of the controversy may be found.

The Wolf bureau today circulated an appeal from the German University League of America to the rector of Berlin university for a dispassionate consideration of the American position.

Pittsburg Strikers Attack Wilmerding Plant Again

By the Associated Press.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 25.—Reports that the national guard might be called out to preserve order owing to the strike of 18,000 employes of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company did not prevent an attack being made on the plant of the Westinghouse Airbrake company in Wilmerding late today.

Strikers smashed their way through big heavily chained iron gates at two entrances, rushed past private guards and entered the plant in an effort to persuade workmen to join the strike. The men left before the guards could be reinforced. No arrests were made.

Fred H. Merrick, former editor of a socialist newspaper in Pittsburg, and two foreigners were arrested today. Merrick was later released. The other two were fined.

Massachusetts Not Strong for Teddy

By the Associated Press.

Boston, April 25.—Returns from slightly more than half of the total vote in today's primaries left little doubt tonight that the unpledged group of republican candidates for delegates at large to the national convention, headed by Governor McCall, had defeated the ticket whose members had declared themselves for the candidacy of former President Roosevelt.

There were contests in eleven districts among the democrats, but all the candidates were understood to favor the re-nomination of President Wilson.

New Mexico G. O. P. for Roosevelt

By the Associated Press.

Albuquerque, N. M., April 25.—New Mexico's delegation elected at the state convention here tonight will go to the national convention unnistructed. Political leaders declared, however, that five of the six delegates were for Theodore Roosevelt.

Roosevelt Delegates Lose in New Jersey

By the Associated Press.

Trenton, N. J., April 25.—Returns from the primary election in New Jersey for presidential delegates today indicate that in contests in the republican party between delegates pledged to Colonel Roosevelt and those preferring to go to the Chicago convention unpledged, the unpledged candidates were successful.

There was no opposition in the democratic party to the election of delegates favorable to the renomination of President Wilson.

Wilson and Burton Win Ohio Easily

By the Associated Press.

Columbus, Ohio, April 25.—Early indications tonight were that both republican and democratic candidates for delegates at large to the national convention were elected in Ohio today at the state's first presidential preference primaries.

For the presidential nominations republicans voted predominantly for Theodore E. Burton and democrats for President Wilson.

Theodore Roosevelt and Henry Ford received a few votes on both democratic and republican ballots. Their names were written in.

Dr. R. E. Vinson, New Head Of University of Texas

By the Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, April 25.—Dr. R. E. Vinson was elected unanimously as president of the University of Texas by the board of regents and will accept that office, beginning his duties July 1. For eight years he has been president of Austin Theological seminary. He succeeds Dr. William J. Battle, who has been acting president of the university since the resignation of Dr. S. E. Mezes in December, 1914. Dr. Vinson is 39 years old, is a graduate of Austin college, Union Theological seminary, has studied in the University of Chicago and received the degree of Doctor of Laws from Southwestern Presbyterian university.

The board reconvened at 2 o'clock and remained in session until 7:30 o'clock. The entire time was devoted to routine matters.

The recommendation of the faculty that the summer session of the university be doubled in length was formally authorized to become effective in 1917.

The official designations of the schools of business training and domestic economy were officially fixed and the degrees of bachelor of business administration, bachelor of domestic science, and master of journalism, authorized.

The election of Eugene Vangent as coach of university athletics was formally ratified and his title fixed as instructor in physical training.

After two hours for supper the board reconvened for a long night session at which it is hoped the entire mass of routine which is left for formal action may be passed upon and render any meeting tomorrow unnecessary.

United States Steel Makes $60,713,624 in Quarter

By the Associated Press.

New York, April 25.—All previous records for earnings by the United States Steel corporation were surpassed in the first quarter of the present year, according to the detailed statement for that period, issued after the close of business today. Total earnings amounted to $60,713,624, net increase $51,218,559, and surplus for the quarter $32,854,172.

These figures compare with previous high record made in the quarter immediately preceding of $51,232,788 in earnings, $40,853,113 in net income and $22,200,692 in surplus.

The balance for the quarter after liberal allowances for depreciation payments applicable to the sinking fund and other outstanding bonds amounted to $45,512,872, whereas, a year ago there remained a balance of only $915,058.

Contrary to expectations in many quarters, the directors not only failed to order an extra disbursement on the common stock, but according to Chairman E. H. Gary, the subject was not even formally discussed. Taking the first quarter's exhibit as a basis, the current month is expected to show earnings of $25,000,000 with a total of not less than $70,000,000 for the second quarter.

The usual quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent was declared on the common stock.

GERMAN-AMERICANS RAINING TELEGRAMS ON U. S. SENATORS

By the Associated Press.

Aurora, Ills., April 25.—As part of a plan for an organized protest from all parts of the country against the breaking off of diplomatic relations with Germany, thousands of telegrams advising representatives and senators against such action are being circulated through this part of the state for signatures. The tolls on the messages of protest are paid by the German-American National Bund, Dr. C. Hexer, Philadelphia, president, according to Otto May, president of the Aurora branch. Edward Senftt, who is seeking signatures here, said the telegrams would be sent from all parts of the United States.

Peace Societies Active.

By the Associated Press.

Chicago, April 25.—G. H. Jacobson, one of the leaders of the American embargo conference in Chicago, said that peace societies throughout the nation were co-operating in the telegraphic peace campaign.

"It is a campaign of Americans who do not want war with any country," said Mr. Jacobson. "We have reports showing that 15,000 telegrams will be sent from Cincinnati, 25,000 from St. Paul, 25,000 from Detroit, 10,000 from Toledo, 15,000 from St. Paul and Minneapolis, and many thousand from Chicago."

According to Mr. Jacobson, the expense of sending the telegrams is being paid largely by the various branches of the American embargo conference.

Senators Get Telgerams.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, April 25.—Twenty-five thousand telegrams protesting against action which might mean war with Germany began pouring in on Senators Sherman and Lewis of Illinois late last night and still were arriving today.

Although signed by individuals in Illinois, the telegrams followed prepared forms and were prepaid. Every available operator of both companies worked all night and was working today receiving the messages, which were being delivered to the senators in packages of one hundred.

During the day telegrams of the same sort began coming in to Senators Cummins and Kenyon from Iowa, and to Senators La Follette and Husting from Wisconsin. Senators were amazed at the extent of the propaganda.

Special to the Morning News.

Houston, April 25.—Hon. J. F. Wolters today gave out the following statement:

"I am not a candidate for national committeeman, nor have I suggested to any friend that I wanted the position. I do not desire it. According to my conception, this position should never be sought; it should be conferred voluntarily for faithful services rendered the party. It, at least, should be one place exempt from the prohibition controversy."

Scott and Obregon May Not Meet in El Paso or Juarez

By the Associated Press.

El Paso, April 25. — Mexican officials in Juarez, it was learned tonight, may make recommendations to General Carranza asking that the conference between General Hugh L. Scott and General Alvaro Obregon be held at some other point than Juarez or El Paso.

This move if made will be based on the strong interventionist feeling which exists here and the fear that in first adverse to the de facto government might be brought to bear on the conferences.

There is no question that the interventionists are very strong in El Paso. The feeling is intensified by the presence here of a large number of American refugees. A certain section of the interventionists has caused some friction by circulating rumors of outrages committed on Americans by Mexicans and of the destruction by Mexican mobs of American property, stories either exaggerated or purely imaginary.

The "rumoristas" have fought sanguinary battles in the last few days at Satevo, San Antonio, Namiquipa, Parral and points east and west, but every reliable report received here from the interior indicates no serious disturbances of any kind.

Troops Well Provisioned.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, April 25.—General Alvaro Obregon, minister of war of the de facto government, is expected to arrive at the border for his conference with Major General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the American army, by Thursday night. No definite word as to when he would reach Juarez was received today, however, either at the state department or at the Mexica nembassy.

Embassy officials thought it possible he might reach the border tonight.

There were no developments today either in the military or diplomatic aspects of the Mexican situation. General Funston forwarded delayed messages telling of the killing of a trooper of the Tenth cavalry by a sniper nearly two weeks ago, but giving no details.

The state department had reports of continued quiet in various parts of Mexico and also messages indicating that the presence of the American troops beyond the border might be influencing the price of Carranza currency adversely. Officials thought it possible this was one of the reasons that impelled Carranza to urge withdrawal of the American forces.

It was announced today that troops in Mexico were amply provisioned with stocks on hand large enough to carry them up to May 15 at least. It is understood also that arrangements have been completed to supply the cavalry commanders beyond the border with additional mounts.

Wait on Word From Obregon.

By the Associated Press.

San Antonio, Tex., April 25.—Generals Scott and Funston planned today to leave tomorrow night for El Paso to discuss with General Alvaro Obregon the situation created by the presence of American troops in Mexico. Whether they do go tomorrow, however, depends on information as yet not received concerning Obregon's plans. Whether Obregon, who reached San Luis Potosi today on his way north, will go to Juarez, opposite El Paso, or to some point on the border has not been definitely stated and late today the war department was requested to ascertain and advise General Scott where the conference would take place.

General Obregon could get to Laredo or Eagle Pass more quickly than to El Paso but dispatches from Mexico City and from Washington indicated that he was going to El Paso. To get there he will have to pass through the United States after entering either at Laredo or Eagle Pass, or go through a district between Torreon and Chihuahua that is infested with Villa's men. Villa's men are not in actual control of any great part of that section but they are so numerous that the passage of Carranza's minister of war might be exceedingly dangerous unless he carried with him an escort large enough to discourage rebel aggression.

General Scott was advised by the war department today that specific instructions concerning the character of the discussion he is to have with Obregon will be forwarded to him tomorrow. Until those instructions are received neither he nor General Funston know exactly what they are expected to talk to the Mexican official about.

It is believed by both of them and by army officers generally that Obregon will be given to understand that the United States expects the pursuit of Villa to be continued relentlessly either by his force or by those of the United States and that the United States will look to his government to gain such control of the Mexican frontier that such a raid as that which took place at Columbus be repeated.

General Pershing's troops now occupy positions along a shortened line with strong centers at Namiquipa and Casas Grandes from which supporting forces could be dispatched rapidly to any point required. The de facto forces in Northern Mexico were estimated at not less than 40,000. This estimate included those troops in and about Torreon. Military men realize that General Obregon's disposition of his northern troops has been such as to make his position remarkably strong.

"On similar occasions in past years," Mr. Noyes said, "I have dwelt on the heterogeneous character of the membership of the Associated Press, mainly for the purpose of emphasizing the fact that varied as are our opinions on one subject, we all agree that each and every one is a loyal American."

"The 900 who compose our membership exercise their inalienable right of holding an opinion on every conceivable subject, including the relations of this government with foreign powers, and this right they hold and exercise in common with the rest of the hundred million Americans.

"This broadly does no great harm, because however unwise the opinion thus individually held, no one else is committed by its expression.

"Our form of government provides that the duty and obligation of voicing the opinion of this nation in its intercourse with foreign nations rests with and is imposed upon our chief magistrate. When he speaks for us in the course of that intercourse he speaks for all of us.

"It is a very great, indeed a very terrible responsibility for a man to bear at any time.

BOTH SYMPATHY AND SUPPORT TENDERED.

"Today with a world drenched in blood, writhing in anguish for those already dead or maimed, the responsibility is immeasurably great, immeasurably terrible.

"So in this hour of uncertainty as to what the immediate future may bring to us, we tender our affectionate sympathy and our loyal support to the man who by virtue of his great office is our spokesman to the world and who speaks for our right and our honor as God gives him to see our right and our honor.

"It is our custom at these annual gatherings to drink but one toast.

"I offer it today with a full heart:

"I give you the health of our president, Woodrow Wilson."

FEAR AMERICAN REPORTS OF POSSIBLE CONCESSIONS WILL MAKE BERLIN TROUBLE

Secretary Lansing Deprecates Publication of Newspaper Dispatches That Germany May Abandon Submarine Campaign in Part as Teutonic War Party Might Distort Them.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, April 25.—Secretary Lansing in a conference today with newspaper correspondents deprecated the publication of reports that official dispatches from Ambassador Gerard indicated Germany might make concessions to the United States in reply to the note demanding the immediate abandonment of present methods of conducting submarine warfare. He said official dispatches from Berlin contained only quotations of newspaper opinions similar in many cases to the editorial excerpts in press dispatches.

The last dispatch from Mr. Gerard, Secretary Lansing said, was dated before the imperial chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg, had conferred with the ambassador.

It is understood here that one of the objects of the various conferences known to have taken place between officials of the Berlin foreign office and Ambassador Gerard has been to make it plain to the ambassador that there would be no avoidable delay in responding to the American note.

It is felt here that stories indicating Germany might make certain concessions and that the German government was willing to go to great lengths to preserve the friendly relations with the United States might find their way back to Germany in distorted form and have such effect upon the German people as to make more difficult the announcement of any policy of conciliation involving additional restrictions upon the use of submarines. The internal political situation in Germany always has been extremely delicate when questions involving submarine policy were under consideration.

Conference Is Held.

By the Associated Press.

Berlin, April 25, via London, April 26, 3:15 a. m.—Prior to his departure for headquarters to consult with Emperor William the submarine issue and Germany's relations with the United States were again under discussion today by Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, and James W. Gerard, the American ambassador.

No definite decision on the premises apparently has yet been reached and one probably will not be arrived at until the chancellor reaches headquarters tomorrow afternoon. All the surface indications, however, point more and more to the probability that an arrangement regarding the Sussex and a modus vivendi on the submarine problem will be offered to the United States and that a sincere endeavor to reach an understanding will be made from this side, putting the decision regarding the future status of relations up to Washington.

The public and press continue to view the situation gravely, but calmly, and for the greater part with a desire that a way out of the controversy may be found.

The Wolf bureau today circulated an appeal from the German University League of America to the rector of Berlin university for a dispassionate consideration of the American position.

Pittsburg Strikers Attack Wilmerding Plant Again

By the Associated Press.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 25.—Reports that the national guard might be called out to preserve order owing to the strike of 18,000 employes of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company did not prevent an attack being made on the plant of the Westinghouse Airbrake company in Wilmerding late today.

Strikers smashed their way through big heavily chained iron gates at two entrances, rushed past private guards and entered the plant in an effort to persuade workmen to join the strike. The men left before the guards could be reinforced. No arrests were made.

Fred H. Merrick, former editor of a socialist newspaper in Pittsburg, and two foreigners were arrested today. Merrick was later released. The other two were fined.

Massachusetts Not Strong for Teddy

By the Associated Press.

Boston, April 25.—Returns from slightly more than half of the total vote in today's primaries left little doubt tonight that the unpledged group of republican candidates for delegates at large to the national convention, headed by Governor McCall, had defeated the ticket whose members had declared themselves for the candidacy of former President Roosevelt.

There were contests in eleven districts among the democrats, but all the candidates were understood to favor the re-nomination of President Wilson.

New Mexico G. O. P. for Roosevelt

By the Associated Press.

Albuquerque, N. M., April 25.—New Mexico's delegation elected at the state convention here tonight will go to the national convention unnistructed. Political leaders declared, however, that five of the six delegates were for Theodore Roosevelt.

Roosevelt Delegates Lose in New Jersey

By the Associated Press.

Trenton, N. J., April 25.—Returns from the primary election in New Jersey for presidential delegates today indicate that in contests in the republican party between delegates pledged to Colonel Roosevelt and those preferring to go to the Chicago convention unpledged, the unpledged candidates were successful.

There was no opposition in the democratic party to the election of delegates favorable to the renomination of President Wilson.

Wilson and Burton Win Ohio Easily

By the Associated Press.

Columbus, Ohio, April 25.—Early indications tonight were that both republican and democratic candidates for delegates at large to the national convention were elected in Ohio today at the state's first presidential preference primaries.

For the presidential nominations republicans voted predominantly for Theodore E. Burton and democrats for President Wilson.

Theodore Roosevelt and Henry Ford received a few votes on both democratic and republican ballots. Their names were written in.

Dr. R. E. Vinson, New Head Of University of Texas

By the Associated Press

Austin, Texas, April 25.—Dr. R. E. Vinson was elected unanimously as president of the University of Texas by the board of regents and will accept that office, beginning his duties July 1. For eight years he has been president of Austin Theological seminary. He succeeds Dr. William J. Battle, who has been acting president of the university since the resignation of Dr. S. E. Mezes in December, 1914. Dr. Vinson is 39 years old, is a graduate of Austin college, Union Theological seminary, has studied in the University of Chicago and received the degree of Doctor of Laws from Southwestern Presbyterian university.

The board reconvened at 2 o'clock and remained in session until 7:30 o'clock. The entire time was devoted to routine matters.

The recommendation of the faculty that the summer session of the university be doubled in length was formally authorized to become effective in 1917.

The official designations of the schools of business training and domestic economy were officially fixed and the degrees of bachelor of business administration, bachelor of domestic science, and master of journalism, authorized.

The election of Eugene Vangent as coach of university athletics was formally ratified and his title fixed as instructor in physical training.

After two hours for supper the board reconvened for a long night session at which it is hoped the entire mass of routine which is left for formal action may be passed upon and render any meeting tomorrow unnecessary.

United States Steel Makes $60,713,624 in Quarter

By the Associated Press

New York, April 25.—All previous records for earnings by the United States Steel corporation were surpassed in the first quarter of the present year, according to the detailed statement for that period, issued after the close of business today. Total earnings amounted to $60,713,624, net increase $51,218,559, and surplus for the quarter $32,854,172.

These figures compare with previous high record made in the quarter immediately preceding of $51,232,788 in earnings, $40,853,113 in net income and $22,200,692 in surplus.

The balance for the quarter after liberal allowances for depreciation payments applicable to the sinking fund and other outstanding bonds amounted to $45,512,872, whereas, a year ago there remained a balance of only $915,058.

Contrary to expectations in many quarters, the directors not only failed to order an extra disbursement on the common stock, but according to Chairman E. H. Gary, the subject was not even formally discussed. Taking the first quarter's exhibit as a basis, the current month is expected to show earnings of $25,000,000 with a total of not less than $70,000,000 for the second quarter.

The usual quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent was declared on the common stock.

GERMAN-AMERICANS RAINING TELEGRAMS ON U. S. SENATORS

By the Associated Press.

Aurora, Ills., April 25.—As part of a plan for an organized protest from all parts of the country against the breaking off of diplomatic relations with Germany, thousands of telegrams advising representatives and senators against such action are being circulated through this part of the state for signatures. The tolls on the messages of protest are paid by the German-American National Bund, Dr. C. Hexer, Philadelphia, president, according to Otto May, president of the Aurora branch. Edward Senftt, who is seeking signatures here, said the telegrams would be sent from all parts of the United States.

Peace Societies Active.

By the Associated Press.

Chicago, April 25.—G. H. Jacobson, one of the leaders of the American embargo conference in Chicago, said that peace societies throughout the nation were co-operating in the telegraphic peace campaign.

"It is a campaign of Americans who do not want war with any country," said Mr. Jacobson. "We have reports showing that 15,000 telegrams will be sent from Cincinnati, 25,000 from St. Paul, 25,000 from Detroit, 10,000 from Toledo, 15,000 from St. Paul and Minneapolis, and many thousand from Chicago."

According to Mr. Jacobson, the expense of sending the telegrams is being paid largely by the various branches of the American embargo conference.

Senators Get Telgerams.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, April 25.—Twenty-five thousand telegrams protesting against action which might mean war with Germany began pouring in on Senators Sherman and Lewis of Illinois late last night and still were arriving today.

Although signed by individuals in Illinois, the telegrams followed prepared forms and were prepaid. Every available operator of both companies worked all night and was working today receiving the messages, which were being delivered to the senators in packages of one hundred.

During the day telegrams of the same sort began coming in to Senators Cummins and Kenyon from Iowa, and to Senators La Follette and Husting from Wisconsin. Senators were amazed at the extent of the propaganda.

Scott and Obregon May Not Meet in El Paso or Juarez

By the Associated Press.

El Paso, April 25. — Mexican officials in Juarez, it was learned tonight, may make recommendations to General Carranza asking that the conference between General Hugh L. Scott and General Alvaro Obregon be held at some other point than Juarez or El Paso.

This move if made will be based on the strong interventionist feeling which exists here and the fear that in first adverse to the de facto government might be brought to bear on the conferences.

There is no question that the interventionists are very strong in El Paso. The feeling is intensified by the presence here of a large number of American refugees. A certain section of the interventionists has caused some friction by circulating rumors of outrages committed on Americans by Mexicans and of the destruction by Mexican mobs of American property, stories either exaggerated or purely imaginary.

The "rumoristas" have fought sanguinary battles in the last few days at Satevo, San Antonio, Namiquipa, Parral and points east and west, but every reliable report received here from the interior indicates no serious disturbances of any kind.

Troops Well Provisioned.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, April 25.—General Alvaro Obregon, minister of war of the de facto government, is expected to arrive at the border for his conference with Major General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the American army, by Thursday night. No definite word as to when he would reach Juarez was received today, however, either at the state department or at the Mexica nembassy.

Embassy officials thought it possible he might reach the border tonight.

There were no developments today either in the military or diplomatic aspects of the Mexican situation. General Funston forwarded delayed messages telling of the killing of a trooper of the Tenth cavalry by a sniper nearly two weeks ago, but giving no details.

The state department had reports of continued quiet in various parts of Mexico and also messages indicating that the presence of the American troops beyond the border might be influencing the price of Carranza currency adversely. Officials thought it possible this was one of the reasons that impelled Carranza to urge withdrawal of the American forces.

It was announced today that troops in Mexico were amply provisioned with stocks on hand large enough to carry them up to May 15 at least. It is understood also that arrangements have been completed to supply the cavalry commanders beyond the border with additional mounts.

Wait on Word From Obregon.

By the Associated Press.

San Antonio, Tex., April 25.—Generals Scott and Funston planned today to leave tomorrow night for El Paso to discuss with General Alvaro Obregon the situation created by the presence of American troops in Mexico. Whether they do go tomorrow, however, depends on information as yet not received concerning Obregon's plans. Whether Obregon, who reached San Luis Potosi today on his way north, will go to Juarez, opposite El Paso, or to some point on the border has not been definitely stated and late today the war department was requested to ascertain and advise General Scott where the conference would take place.

General Obregon could get to Laredo or Eagle Pass more quickly than to El Paso but dispatches from Mexico City and from Washington indicated that he was going to El Paso. To get there he will have to pass through the United States after entering either at Laredo or Eagle Pass, or go through a district between Torreon and Chihuahua that is infested with Villa's men. Villa's men are not in actual control of any great part of that section but they are so numerous that the passage of Carranza's minister of war might be exceedingly dangerous unless he carried with him an escort large enough to discourage rebel aggression.

General Scott was advised by the war department today that specific instructions concerning the character of the discussion he is to have with Obregon will be forwarded to him tomorrow. Until those instructions are received neither he nor General Funston know exactly what they are expected to talk to the Mexican official about.

It is believed by both of them and by army officers generally that Obregon will be given to understand that the United States expects the pursuit of Villa to be continued relentlessly either by his force or by those of the United States and that the United States will look to his government to gain such control of the Mexican frontier that such a raid as that which took place at Columbus be repeated.

General Pershing's troops now occupy positions along a shortened line with strong centers at Namiquipa and Casas Grandes from which supporting forces could be dispatched rapidly to any point required. The de facto forces in Northern Mexico were estimated at not less than 40,000. This estimate included those troops in and about Torreon. Military men realize that General Obregon's disposition of his northern troops has been such as to make his position remarkably strong.

Sweden Is Getting Coal From Germany

By the Associated Press.

New York, April 25.—Sweden is now getting from Germany about seventy per cent of her coal supply and is rapidly making herself independent of Great Britain on the question of fuel, according to Gunner Wickman of San Francisco, who arrived today on the steamship Stockholm. Mr. Wickman is one of a party of ten repesentatives of Swedish newspapers published in the United States who have been visiting Sweden, returning a fraternal visit of Swedish journalists.

"I saw large numbers of German freight cars in Sweden," Mr. Wickman said, "indicating considerable traffic between the two countries.

"The people of Sweden are experiencing prosperity such as they never dreamed of. Farmers are buying expensive jewelry for their families and residents of cities are enjoying every comfort that money will buy.

"Our visit was most enjoyable. We were received by the king and he sent back to America by us a special message of good will."

TOPEKA IS STIRRED BY HORRIBLE CRIME

By the Associated Press.

Topeka, Kan., April 25.—Arrests in a wholesale manner were made tonight in an effort to find the assailant of little Edna Dinsmore, nine years old, who was found dead in a burning house here this morning by firemen. Feeling was intense in the city tonight and the police released several persons who had been arrested on investigation of charges, fearing there might be a disturbance at the city jail.

Mrs. Bessie Dinsmore, the girl's mother, tonight was reported in a serious condition from shock. The child was identified late today by her father, Earl Dinsmore, a cigar maker.

The little girl left an east side bakery where her mother worked, at 8 o'clock this morning for school and three hours later firemen who were called to extinguish a fire in a vacant house, found the child's body in the basement. The police said that the little girl had been criminally assaulted and that she had been choked to death. The child's assailant apparently tried to cover up his crime by setting fire to the house. Only meager clues have developed for the police to follow, it was reported tonight.

RIGHT TO INTERCEPT CONTRABAND FUNDAMENTAL.

"The right of a belligerent to intercept contraband on its way to his enemy," it says, "is fundamental and incontestible, and ought not to be restricted to intercepting contraband which happens to be accompanied on board the ships by proofs sufficient to condemn it. What is essential is to determine whether or not the goods were on British way to the enemy. If they were a belligerent is entitled to detain them and progress regard to the nature of the struggle in which the allies are engaged they are compelled to take the most effectual steps to exercise that right."

In discussing prize court procedure the note gives assurances that the orders in council do not override international law and that the prize court has full power to decide that any given act under those orders is illegal and to entertain any claim for compensation on that basis.

Figures issued by the United States department of commerce are quoted to show that exports to the Scandinavian countries and Holland increased from $97,000,000 in 1913 to $235,000,000 in 1915.

AMERICAN EXPORT TRADE NOT INJURED.

"In the face of such figures," says the note, "it seems impossible to accept the contention that prize court procedure has practically destroyed much of the export trade of the United States to neutral countries and it is suggested that if complaints have been made to Washington by would-be exporters, they emanated not from persons who desired to engage in genuine commerce, but from those who desired to dispatch goods to the enemy under cover of a neutral destination.

The note takes up the American contention that goods comprising part of the common stock of the neutral country to which they are consigned should not be intercepted.

It declares that when the allies found it necessary to intercept shipments of cotton to Sweden, "It transpired that though the quays and warehouses of Gothenburg were congested with cotton there was none available for the use of the shippers in Sweden."

It adds that contracts falling into British hands proved that goods were not intended for consumption of neutrals to whom they were consigned, but were bound to Germany.

"However sound the principle that goods intended for incorporation in the common stock of a neutral country should not be treated as contraband, maybe in the ordinary," says the note, "it is one that can have but little application to the present imports of the Scandinavian countries.

GOODS TO SWEDEN SENT INTO GERMANY.

"The circumstances of a large number of the shipments negative any conclusion that they are bonafide shipments for the importing countries. Many of them are made to persons who apparently are nominees of enemy agents and who never figured before as importers of such articles. Consignments of meat products are addressed to lighter men and dock laborers. Several thousand tons of such goods have been found documented for a neutral port and addressed to firms which do not exist there. Large consignments of similar goods were addressed to a baker, to the keeper of a small private hotel or to a maker of musical instruments. Will it be contended that such imports ought to be recognized as bonafide shipments intended to become part of the common stock of a country?

"In the presence of facts such as these indicated above, the United States government will, it is believed, agree with His Majesty's government that no such conditions exist in modern time, bound by a rule that no goods could be seized unless they were accompanied by papers which established their destination to an enemy country and that all detentions of ships and goods must be uniformly based on proofs obtained at the time of seizure. To press any such theory is tantamount to asking that all trade between neutral ports shall be free and would thus render negatory the existence of sea power and destroy the pressure which the sea enables the allies to impose upon their enemy.

"It is, of course, inevitable that the existence of rights at sea, however, reasonable, must inconvenience neutral trade and great pressure is being put upon the United States government to urge the technical theory that there should be no interference at all with goods passing between neutral ports and thus to frustrate the measures which the allies have taken to intercept commerce on its way to or from the enemy.

SUPREME COURT OF U. S. IS QUOTED.

The note refers to the action taken by the United States during the Civil war to stop such a trade and to the supreme court's doctrine given to cover all cases where there was an intention to thwart the blockade by "whatever means, direct or indirect."

"His Majesty's government desires to assure the United States government," the note continues, "that every effort is being made to distinguish between bonafide neutral commerce and that which really is intended for the enemy.

"The task is one of exceptional difficulty and the statistics show that a great volume of imports intended for the enemy must have passed through adjacent neutral countries during the war. As an instance, the imports of lard into Sweden during the year 1915 might be taken, in that year the total import of lard into Sweden from all sources was 9318 tons, of which no less than 9029 tons came from the United States. In the three years before the war the average annual import of the same article was only 888 tons, of which 638 came from the United States. It is difficult to believe that the requirements of Sweden in respect of lard even when every allowance is made for possible diversions of trade due to the war is irresistible that the greater part of these imports must have had another and enemy destination.

"The objects with which the usual declaration and notification of blockade are issued have been fully achieved. Again the effectiveness of the work of the allied fleets under the orders referred to is shown by the small number of vessels which escape the allied patrols. It is doubtful whether there ever has been a blockade where the ships which slipped through bore so small a proportion to those which were intercepted. The best proof of the thoroughness of a blockade is to be found in its results. The great rise in price in Germany of many articles most necessary to the enemy in the prosecution of the present war must be well known to the United States government."

COTTON FORCED ON CONTRABAND LIST.

The putting of cotton on the contraband list, the note says, was forced by the accumulation of evidence that it was being used only for military purposes in Germany and that its use for other purposes was prohibited.

To the American contention that "the curtailment of neutral rights by these measures which are admitedly retaliatory and therefore illegal, cannot be admitted," the note replies:

"Although these measures may have been provoked by the illegal conductance of the enemy, they do not in reality conflict with any general principle of international law, of humanity or of civilization they are enforced with consideration against neutrals and therefore juridically sound and valid.

WILL REGARD RIGHTS OF NEUTRAL.

"Finally His Majesty's government desires to assure the United States government that they will continue their efforts to make the exercise of what they conceive to be their belligerent rights as little burdensome to neutrals as possible."

Then referring to steps taken to expedite examination of ships and cargoes, the note says:

"It is to such mitigations that the allies and the neutrals concerned should look for the removal of difficulties now encountered rather than to abrupt changes either in the theory or application of a policy based upon admitted principles of international law, carefully adjusted to altered conditions of modern warfare."

The note is about 13,000 words long and contains some appendices and a statement from the French minister of marine sustaining the views expressed by Admiral Jellico.

WOMAN AVOIDS OPERATION

Medicine Which Made Surgeon's Work Unnecessary.

Astoria, N. Y. — "For two years I was feeling ill and took all kinds of tonics. I was getting worse every day. I had chills, my head would ache, I was always tired. I could not walk straight because of the pain in my back and I had pains in my stomach. I went to a doctor and he said I must go under an operation, but I did not go. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and told my husband about it. I said 'I know nothing will help me but I will try this.' I found myself improving from the very first bottle, and in two weeks time I was able to sit down and eat a hearty breakfast with my husband, which I had not done for two years. I am now in the best of health and did not have the operation." — Mrs. JOHN A. KOENIG, 502 Flushing Avenue, Astoria, N. Y.

Every one dreads the surgeon's knife and the operating table. Sometimes nothing else will do; but many times doctors say they are necessary when they are not. Letter after letter comes to the Pinkham Laboratory, telling how operations were advised and were not performed; or, if performed, did no good, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was used and good health followed.

If you want advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

FEEL BILIOUS? CALOMEL SICKENS! CLEAN LIVER AND BOWELS MY WAY

Don't Lose a Day's Work! If Constipated, Sluggish, Headachy, Take a Spoonful of "Dodson's Liver Tone."

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work!

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath it bad or stomach sour just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone.

Here's my guarantee — Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful tonight and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

Sweden Is Getting Coal From Germany

By the Associated Press.

New York, April 25.—Sweden is now getting from Germany about seventy per cent of her coal supply and is rapidly making herself independent of Great Britain on the question of fuel, according to Gunner Wickman of San Francisco, who arrived today on the steamship Stockholm. Mr. Wickman is one of a party of ten repesentatives of Swedish newspapers published in the United States who have been visiting Sweden, returning a fraternal visit of Swedish journalists.

"I saw large numbers of German freight cars in Sweden," Mr. Wickman said, "indicating considerable traffic between the two countries.

"The people of Sweden are experiencing prosperity such as they never dreamed of. Farmers are buying expensive jewelry for their families and residents of cities are enjoying every comfort that money will buy.

"Our visit was most enjoyable. We were received by the king and he sent back to America by us a special message of good will."

Anthracite Coal Miners May Strike

By the Associated Press.

New York, April 25.—Efforts to harmonize the demands of the anthracite coal miners and the concessions offered by the operators were broken off today after more than eight weeks of almost continuous discussion here today by a joint subcommittee representing both employers and employes. Predictions were made tonight by members of the miners' general board that the Tri-District convention to be held at Pottsville, Pa., May 2, would vote in favor of a strike.

Take Hair Out Not Off the Skin

It is useless to remove hair from the surface of the skin. This result is all that can be accomplished with pastes, rub-on preparations and imitations of De Miracle. To rob hair of its vitality, you must attack it under the skin as well as on the skin. De Miracle, the original liquid depilatory, does this by absorption. It alone contains certain ingredients which give it the power to devitalize hair. Well-groomed women always use De Miracle for removing hair from limbs and under arms. Buy De Miracle by name and you will get the only depilatory that has ever been endorsed by reputable physicians, surgeons, dermatologists, medical journals and prominent magazines. In 50c, $1.00 and $2.00 bottles at your dealer's or direct, postpaid, in plain wrapper. De Miracle Chemical Co., Dept. A-1, Park Ave. and 129th St., New York.

BLUE BOOK says

"A sure remedy for this most humiliating and distressing affliction." Genuine magazines of the highest character endorse only De Miracle. Beware of so-called endorsements of bogus magazines which are used to exploit the sale of questionable depilatories.

TOPEKA IS STIRRED BY HORRIBLE CRIME

By the Associated Press.

Topeka, Kan., April 25.—Arrests in a wholesale manner were made tonight in an effort to find the assailant of little Edna Dinsmore, nine years old, who was found dead in a burning house here this morning by firemen. Feeling was intense in the city tonight and the police released several persons who had been arrested on investigation of charges, fearing there might be a disturbance at the city jail.

Mrs. Bessie Dinsmore, the girl's mother, tonight was reported in a serious condition from shock. The child was identified late today by her father, Earl Dinsmore, a cigar maker.

The little girl left an east side bakery where her mother worked, at 8 o'clock this morning for school and three hours later firemen who were called to extinguish a fire in a vacant house, found the child's body in the basement. The police said that the little girl had been criminally assaulted and that she had been choked to death. The child's assailant apparently tried to cover up his crime by setting fire to the house. Only meager clues have developed for the police to follow, it was reported tonight.

Thirty houses in North LaCrosse are surrounded by water.

Gold Strike in Alaska.

Fairbanks, Alaska, April 25.—Another rich gold strike has been made in Alaska, according to reports today from the interior. Hundreds of miners are stampeding to Boob and Tolstoi creeks, in the Innoko district, where the pay streaks has been found. Three shafts yielding $2 to the cubic foot were reported from Boob creek.

Million Dollar Fire Loss.

By the Associated Press.

Decatur, Ala., April 25.—Sparks from a negro's cabin which fell in the yard of the Gulf Compress company here late today started a fire which destroyed the compress and about 10,000 bales of cotton. Twelve freight cars also were burned and several thousand bales of cotton damaged. The loss is estimated at $1,000,000.

ENGLAND INSISTS ON RIGHT TO SEARCH ALL SHIPS AT SEA

RIGHT TO INTERCEPT CONTRABAND FUNDAMENTAL.

"The right of a belligerent to intercept contraband on its way to his enemy," it says, "is fundamental and incontestible, and ought not to be restricted to intercepting contraband which happens to be accompanied on board the ships by proofs sufficient to condemn it. What is essential is to determine whether or not the goods were on British way to the enemy. If they were a belligerent is entitled to detain them and progress regard to the nature of the struggle in which the allies are engaged they are compelled to take the most effectual steps to exercise that right."

In discussing prize court procedure the note gives assurances that the orders in council do not override international law and that the prize court has full power to decide that any given act under those orders is illegal and to entertain any claim for compensation on that basis.

Figures issued by the United States department of commerce are quoted to show that exports to the Scandinavian countries and Holland increased from $97,000,000 in 1913 to $235,000,000 in 1915.

AMERICAN EXPORT TRADE NOT INJURED.

"In the face of such figures," says the note, "it seems impossible to accept the contention that prize court procedure has practically destroyed much of the export trade of the United States to neutral countries and it is suggested that if complaints have been made to Washington by would-be exporters, they emanated not from persons who desired to engage in genuine commerce, but from those who desired to dispatch goods to the enemy under cover of a neutral destination.

The note takes up the American contention that goods comprising part of the common stock of the neutral country to which they are consigned should not be intercepted.

It declares that when the allies found it necessary to intercept shipments of cotton to Sweden, "it transpired that though the quays and warehouses of Gothenburg were congested with cotton there was none available for the use of the shippers in Sweden."

It adds that contracts falling into British hands proved that goods were not intended for consumption of neutrals to whom they were consigned, but were bound to Germany.

"However sound the principle that goods intended for incorporation in the common stock of a neutral country should not be treated as contraband, maybe in the ordinary," says the note, "it is one that can have but little application to the present imports of the Scandinavian countries.

GOODS TO SWEDEN SENT INTO GERMANY.

"The circumstances of a large number of the shipments negative any conclusion that they are bonafide shipments for the importing countries. Many of them are made to persons who apparently are nominees of enemy agents and who never figured before as importers of such articles. Consignments of meat products are addressed to lighter men and dock laborers. Several thousand tons of such goods have been found documented for a neutral port and addressed to firms which do not exist there. Large consignments of similar goods were addressed to a baker, to the keeper of a small private hotel or to a maker of musical instruments. Will it be contended that such imports ought to be recognized as bonafide shipments intended to become part of the common stock of a country?

"In the presence of facts such as these indicated above, the United States government will, it is believed, agree with His Majesty's government that no such conditions exist in modern time, bound by a rule that no goods could be seized unless they were accompanied by papers which established their destination to an enemy country and that all detentions of ships and goods must be uniformly based on proofs obtained at the time of seizure. To press any such theory is tantamount to asking that all trade between neutral ports shall be free and would thus render negatory the existence of sea power and destroy the pressure which the sea enables the allies to impose upon their enemy.

"It is, of course, inevitable that the existence of rights at sea, however, reasonable, must inconvenience neutral trade and great pressure is being put upon the United States government to urge the technical theory that there should be no interference at all with goods passing between neutral ports and thus to frustrate the measures which the allies have taken to intercept commerce on its way to or from the enemy.

SUPREME COURT OF U. S. IS QUOTED.

The note refers to the action taken by the United States during the Civil war to stop such a trade and to the supreme court's doctrine given to cover all cases where there was an intention to thwart the blockade by "whatever means, direct or indirect."

"His Majesty's government desires to assure the United States government," the note continues, "that every effort is being made to distinguish between bonafide neutral commerce and that which really is intended for the enemy.

"The task is one of exceptional difficulty and the statistics show that a great volume of imports intended for the enemy must have passed through adjacent neutral countries during the war. As an instance, the imports of lard into Sweden during the year 1915 might be taken. In that year the total import of lard into Sweden from all sources was 9318 tons, of which no less than 9029 tons came from the United States. In the three years before the war the average annual import of the same article was only 888 tons, of which 658 came from the United States. It is difficult to believe that the requirements of Sweden in respect of lard even when every allowance is made for possible diversions of trade due to the war is irresistible that the greater part of these imports must have had another and enemy destination.

"The objects with which the usual declaration and notification of blockade are issued have been fully achieved. Again the effectiveness of the work of the allied fleets under the orders referred to is shown by the small number of vessels which escape the allied patrols. It is doubtful whether there ever has been a blockade where the ships which slipped through bore so small a proportion to those which were intercepted. The best proof of the thoroughness of a blockade is to be found in its results. The great rise in price in Germany of many articles most necessary to the enemy in the prosecution of the present war must be well known to the United States government."

COTTON FORCED ON CONTRABAND LIST.

The putting of cotton on the contraband list, the note says, was forced by the accumulation of evidence that it was being used only for military purposes in Germany and that its use for other purposes was prohibited.

To the American contention that "the curtailment of neutral rights by these measures which are admitedly retaliatory and therefore illegal, cannot be admitted," the note replies:

"Although these measures may have been provoked by the illegal conductance of the enemy, they do not in reality conflict with any general principle of international law, of humanity or of civilization they are enforced with consideration against neutrals and therefore juridically sound and valid.

WILL REGARD RIGHTS OF NEUTRAL.

"Finally His Majesty's government desires to assure the United States government that they will continue their efforts to make the exercise of what they conceive to be their belligerent rights as little burdensome to neutrals as possible."

Then referring to steps taken to expedite examination of ships and cargoes, the note says:

"It is to such mitigations that the allies and the neutrals concerned should look for the removal of difficulties now encountered rather than to abrupt changes either in the theory or application of a policy based upon admitted principles of international law, carefully adjusted to altered conditions of modern warfare."

The note is about 13,000 words long and contains some appendices and a statement from the French minister of marine sustaining the views expressed by Admiral Jellico.

Sporting Comment

The Stonebusters again today.

Incidentally, in the excitement, Jesse James batted ₵500.

Postmaster McCullom says he'll take his rooting in installments from now on—that he don't want it all at once.

Joe Martina is now getting his bumps in the Southern. There's an old saying about riding a good horse to death.

Uncle Jawn McGraw has already started getting chased off the field. Too bad the way the umps pick on Jawn's nine.

Ogle blew up in the ninth and the Buffs won. The Professor seems to have added a couple of innings this year. Last season he usually blew up in the seventh.

Fentress seems to be losing his rabbit's foot. He let Dallas beat him yesterday. Fort Worth fans admit he gets started slow, but they must be hoping secretly that he don't make it too slow.

Nunamaker did some fancy swatting yesterday. The Yankee catcher got a triple, a two-bagger and two singles out of four times up. That'll keep Walters on the bench another week, sure.

Waco in third place this morning, a half game behind Shreveport and a full game behind Galveston. Chances look good for taking the lead today. Zinn probably will be called on to turn the trick.

Another thing enjoyable about the game was the umpiring of Vitter. The arbiter never had a question raised by any player except Conwell. "Irish" remonstrated over a called strike and the umps gave him the five sign.

Waco fans have seen both Dallas and Shreveport play. Some of them cannot understand how the Gassers did it, judging from their form on the local diamond. "Just like they did last year" begins to look like the real dope on 'em.

Jesse James has added Sid Smith to his list of victims. The other two were Lee Garvin and Daddy Meeks. Sid was victimized yesterday when he clouted a screamer (good stuff, that "screamer") to right. Jess tore in on it and by a fast throw to first got the straining Gasser foreman by his eyelash.

Buddy Tanner was in a hot spot yesterday, making six assists, one of which was as pivot in a lightning double, with Mal shining on the other end. A peculiarity of the game was the fact that the first Gasser in the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh innings grounded out, Tanner to Wohlleben. He also retired the first out in the third, Conwell forcing Hiett at second.

James also attempted to beat Bernsen out of a hit in the third by sliding on his nose for a line drive. He missed it just an eighth of a half inch. That's just about how far Conwell missed Becker's hit 'n the fifth. In fact, in some places the scorers might almost have stretched a point and given errors on both chances. Of course, right afterwards they could have retired to the storm cellars, and Lefty would have added a hitless game to his string.

LEFTY HILL HOLDS STONE-BUSTERS TO TWO MIGHTY SCRATCHY HITS.

CONWELL KEEPS ON HITTING

Only One Run Scored by Sid's Men and That Came Without a Bingle.

A FABLE.

There was once a Gang of Stonebusters who Bulled through their work by Main Strength and Awkwardness. They got along fine and dandy. Every Big One they came to they easily made into Little Ones. It was really a Cinch.

They actually had the Populace believing they were the Real Noise. Whenever this Gang came upon a hard-looking stone, they yawned with Stonebuster's ennui, took a couple of swipes at the hard-looking one and lo it went bust.

But—

One day they struck a Snag. They bumped into a real Hard One. The First Stonebuster yawned, swung his Big Hammer and cracked at the stone. It wasn't there. He looked surprised. Then he took another bust at it. This time he hit, but it rolled out from under his hammer, unbusted.

"Hey, Bill," he called to the nearest comrade, "looky yere—I done found me a stone I can't bust."

"Lemme attim,' 'eame the lusty response. But the Comrade also slipped up.

Then they two of 'em called up the Big Boss and he chided them most ungently for their lack of skill with the Hammer.

"Watch me bust 'er," he said. So they all gathered around to watch the Big Boss bust 'er. But he did no bustin', because the Stone was too tough a Nut for the Main Strength and Awkwardness game.

MORAL—Old-time Main Strength and Awkwardness is obsolete; it takes Science to bust some Rocks.

The Navs evidently succeeded in getting all the boots out of their systems in the Monday game, for they resumed the even tenor of their way yesterday.

That about tells the story, for when the old Nav machine hits its gait the Gassers have about as much chance to beat them as a Waco movie has to keep open on Sunday.

Of course there were some incidentals: Cliff Hill recovered from a bad start and made the mighty Gasser hitters look like a band of Villistas capturing Washington. Lefty had worked only Saturday, but he didn't let that bother him any. He just slammed 'em in there and they hit at 'em three times and missed 'em or else they hit easy ones at some of Lefty's helpers. Hyder Barr was one of the most surprised humans in the world. He'd vow all sorts of do-or-die things, stick his spikes down in the native soil like George Leidy does, back off a couple of steps, get all ready, swing straight and even and level—and never even get a foul. He got exactly nine resultless swings in his four times at bat and the only thing that kept him striking out three times was Hill accidentally hit Barr's bat when the batter was dodging one on the inside corner; Mal caught the accidental fly. Barr's troubles are only mentioned as an instance of how Hill had the gang on his hip. The only hard ball hit in the game by a Gasser was a terrific line drive by Smith to right field that was so fast Jesse James threw the Gasser foreman out at first.

Of course Hill had a lot of help. While no sensational work was done, the Nav machine just plugged along with deadly precision. Tanner was the center of the enemy's fire and he returned a winner every time he was called on. Mal started one of his nifty doubles; Jesse James made a couple of fairly hard chances look easy—in fact the Navs were working in regular fashion. That tells it.

GASSERS SCORE WITHOUT A HIT IN FIRST.

Lefty didn't have his range adjusted properly right at the start, walking the first two men up in the initial frame. These two—Becker and Diamond—were shoved around by a sacrifice and the first scored on a fielder's choice—Barr hitting one to Tanner and being retired at first.

It has been said recently that the worst thing that can happen to the opposition in Navville is to get a run in the first inning. There must be more truth than Durham in the statement, for it worked out perfectly yesterday. Bittle opened with a single in Waco's half of the first. Coyle attempted a hit and run, but flied out to right. Conwell, who had made eight hits out of his last nine times at bat in previous games, hit the first ball pitched for a triple into the clubhouse corner, scoring Bittle. With Conwell on third, James was walked. Tanner pulled the bunting end of a nice squeeze, Barr throwing to the plate after Conwell had crossed it. Malmquist hit to Kneaves and with Knaupp as the pivot the side was retired on a fast double play.

After that it was only a question of how many hits Lefty would allow. He was a trifle wild, but always steadied in time to make his man hit the ball somewhere. In fact about the main interest of the crowd was centered in the antics of an exhuberant rooter who put as much pep into his rooting as though he had nine dollars or six-bits bet on the game.

Waco's other run was batted in by Conwell. Bittle started the third by drawing a walk and was advanced by a single, with Coyle on the shoving-around end as usual. Conwell hit a fast grounder past third base for the blow that registered Bittle. After James had flied out to left, Tanner hit into another double.

The interest of the crowd for a time was divided between the afore-mentioned exhuberant rooter and a question as to what Conwell was going to do on his next trip up. On his third appearance he popped up a dinky fly to shortstop just like an ordinary ball player. However, on his fourth trip up he led off the eighth inning with a clean single to left and stole second. In this inning the Navs got three men on with nobody out as the result of a walk by James and an error by Diamond. But Conwell was thrown out at the plate on Malmquist's grounder to Eaves, Wohlleben flied out to right and Reilly grounded out to Knaupp.

Four Straight Wins Now Hill's Record

CLIFF HILL.

Holding the Gassers to a couple of bingles yesterday, Lefty Hill annexed his fourth straight victory of the season. The principal reason that he has won only four games is that he has twirled in only that number. On the second day of the season, Hill shut out Fort Worth, 2 to 0. He again beat the Panthers here, 4 to 3, and took the Giants' measure, 2 to 1.

THIRD BASEMAN CONWELL.

Conwell popped up to the infield yesterday. Outside of that, he has garnered seventeen hits out of the last twenty-one times up. In the last three games, Conwell has hit eleven times out of thirteen times, the other exception being on Monday when Umpire Vitter called him out on what looked very much like a ball from the press box. In the last five games, Conwell has been hitting at an .810 stride. Since the season opened, he has hit twenty-five times out of fifty, for an average of .500. And when last he came to bat yesterday he still had his batting eye.

OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

SALTS, CALOMEL, PILLS ACT ON BOWELS LIKE PEPPER ACTS IN NOSTRILS.

Enjoy Life! Don't Stay Bilious, Sick, Headachy and Constipated.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

GOVERNOR FERGUSON INVITED TO ATTEND OPENING OF RALEIGH

An invitation will be sent today to Governor Ferguson asking him to be present when the Raleigh hotel is formally opened on the night of May 1. R. E. Pellow, manager of the hotel, is making extensive preparations for opening the hotel and is expecting several hundred people as guests.

Since Mr. Pellows took charge of the Raleigh a number of improvements have been made which is making the Raleigh to be classed among the leading hotels of the south. Reservations for tables in the dining hall on the opening night are being received by Mr. Pellows, who stated last night that approximately 40 per cent of the tables are already gone.

The hotel will be especially decorated for the occasion and souvenirs will be presented to both ladies and gentlemen. Members of the city commission will also be tendered an invitation to attend the opening.

Alessandro's Band Receive Equipment

Full military equipment was received yesterday for the Alessandro's Fourth Regimental band, including tents, stoves, entire camping outfits, uniforms and the remainder of the musical instruments.

Alessandro's band was appointed as the Fourth Regimental band of the Texas National Guards several months ago and their equipment will be furnished by the government.

A White Rose.

The red rose whispers of passion,
And the white rose breathes of love;
Oh, the red rose is a falcon,
And the white rose is a dove.

But I send you a cream-white rosebud
With a flush on its petal tips;
For the love that is purest and sweetest
Has a kiss of desire on the lips.

BOSQUE COUNTY ROAD DISCUSSED AT MEET

WILL ASK COUNTY TO TAKE DEFINITE STEPS IN REGARD TO PROJECT.

TRADE TRIP SUCCESS ASSURED

Property Owners of Austin Avenue Contribute Liberally to White Way Movement.

Further steps toward having the gap in the road to Bosque county put in good condition will be taken when committees representing the Young Men's Business League will call upon the McLennan county commissioners stating that unless they take definite action in fixing the road the league will conduct a campaign to have the road completed. This was the decision rendered last night at the regular weekly meeting of the board of directors of the league last night. Members of the league passed a motion which states that unless the commissioners start actions soon to have the road put in good condition that the league will wage a campaign and take other steps.

Some time ago representatives of Bosque county visited here and gained the promise of the Y. M. B. L. that they would do all they could to have the road completed. According to members of the board of directors McLennan county has been neglectful in having the road completed and that it is to its interest that the road be put in such condition that it will not interfere with the furthering of Waco as a trade center. Delegates from Bosque county that were in Waco to get the road completed, stated that this county was anxious to attend theatres and other places of amusements in McLennan county but they were handicapped because of the condition of this section of road which separates Bosque county from other excellent highways of McLennan county.

Both the good roads committee of the league and a special committee consisting of W. V. Crawford, W. W. Naman, Robert Dupree, W. A. Poage, W. H. Wheeler and J. M. Penland will call on the commissioners.

That the committee of the league was meeting with good results in securing the names of property owners of Austin avenue who would contribute forty cents a frontage foot to having the white way installed, was reported by W. W. Naman, chairman of the committee. He stated that almost half of the property owners had signed up to contribute this amount in order that the white way can be installed here. A motion was made and carried to ask the local newspapers to publish a list of the contributors after the list is completed. It was the sentiment of the directors that the public should know who was contributing to movements that were for the good of the city.

WACOANS WILL GO TO TEMPLE TODAY.

W. V. Crawford, president of the Associated Young Men's Business Leagues of Texas, reported that a delegation of about thirty-five Wacoans would leave for Temple this morning to attend the state convention. He said that a special rate could be obtained and that special features were being prepared by Temple. The round trip rate is $1.70.

Rates issued by the traction company in regard to sightseeing street cars to show visitors over the city were read by Robert Dupree, chairman of a committee that was appointed several weeks ago to investigate the proposition. The rates were put in the records of the league for future reference.

That 125 signatures had been secured of persons that would make the four summer trade trips was reported by W. V. Crawford, chairman of the general trade trip committee. This number is enough to assure the success of the trips, he stated. Announcement was made that the train for the first trip, May 11, to Comanche, will leave the Cotton Belt depot at 7 a. m.

MASTER BAKERS MEET HERE MAY 3.

Tickets were presented the members of the board for the banquet of the State Master Bakers' convention, which will be held in Waco May 3. The banquet will be given at the Maennerchor club. Charles M. Vincent, representing the local bakers, presented the tickets.

Efforts will be made to have the state firemen hold their 1917 convention in Waco and also to select Waco as their permanent meeting place. It is believed that Waco will find some opposition from Cuero and John Wyche, chairman of the convention committee, was chosen to represent Waco at the 1916 convention which will be held May 8, 9 and 10, at New Braunfels. Other Wacoans will attend the convention.

When the Cotton Palace opens for the 1916 exposition there will no doubt be a splendid agricultural exhibit, according to F. E. Goodman, chairman of the agricultural committee. Mr. Goodman has been interesting several communities in the exhibits and has secured a number of promises of farmers to have exhibits here during the exposition.

When the reports of the good roads committee was made by W. A. Poage, the Bosque county road was discussed and it was then that action was taken to have representatives of the league call upon the county commissioners. Mr. Poage stated that with R. J. Potts he attended the good roads meeting at Dawson last week which was held to arouse interest in the bond issue which will be voted on in Navarro county for good roads.

GRANDSTAND DAY SUCCESS REPORTED.

That a total of $1,684.60 was the total gate receipts on the opening of the Texas league in this city, was stated in a report read by W. V. Crawford. After expenses were paid, $1,364.30 was turned over to President Charles Turner of the baseball association to be applied on the cost of erecting the new grandstand.

E. C. Blomeyer, assistant to the president of the Texas Telephone company, stated that as soon as the company moved into its new headquarters an invitation would be extended to the league to hold one of its general meetings on the roof of the new building and to be guests of the telephone company.

RALEIGH FORMAL OPENING MAY 1.

An invitation was read from R. E. Pellow, manager of the Hotel Raleigh, asking that the league have representatives present at the formal opening of the hotel, which will be held on the night of Monday, May 1, in order to see what the hotel had done toward giving Waco one of the best hotels in the south. A motion was made to have the president, vice president and secretary of the league represent the league on this night.

A motion was made to pay the expenses of H. Hagedorn, secretary of the league, to attend the southern commercial organizations' secretaries' convention, which will be held in Shreveport May 4, 5 and 6.

A committee will be appointed to arrange to commemorate the anniversary of the dedication of Cameron park, May 27.

W. H. Hoffmann, chairman of the publicity committee, reported that a picture was taken of Mayor John Dollins when he appeared in a baseball uniform on the opening day of the Texas league here, and that the picture had appeared in several Texas newspapers.

Showing the delegation from Bosque county that was in Waco several weeks ago in interest of a good roads movement, a picture was presented the league by Photographer Gildersleeve and received with thanks.

In the absence of Perry A. Duncan, president of the league, E. C. Blomeyer, vice president, presided.

In Respect to the President.

Let us quarrel among ourselves all we choose, but let us remember that we are in the midst not merely of a political campaign, but of a grave international complication. Let us support the president in his enedavors to keep the peace, whether we vote for his re-election or not. Politically, he is a democratic candidate for re-election, but internationally he is our president—a conscientious and high-minded Christian gentleman, seeking light on very vexed problems. It is the privilege of any American to vote against his re-election; on that matter the Advance offers no advice; but while he is president, and while his hands are full and his heart is burdened with conditions that threaten our peace and the peace of the whole world, if he can keep us out of war, may God and every good citizen assist him. What we shall do, individually, next November, let each voter determine for himself; but from now to March, 1917, Woodrow Wilson is the president not of the democratic party or a faction within it, but of the United States.—Advance.

Americans leaving Monterey, Mexico, in box cars.

Practically all the Americans left in Monterey, Mexico, recently left that city for the United States in box cars. These people have hitherto braved all dangers, run all risks, and heroically stuck to their posts in the war-torn country, but conditions have reached such a critical stage that even the most daring have abandoned their vocations to return to the land of safety until less troublous times permit return to their mines and ranches.

Negro Pays Bill and Joke Is Not on Dick Smith

Along last summer the phone rang at Gray & Smith's grocery store and as usual it was answered promptly. An order for groceries was given. The name given was a familiar one, the red book was consulted and the party in question was entitled to credit A-1. The first of the month came and the bill was presented and it was returned with a letter stating that this party had not purchased groceries from this firm. Investigation was made and it was found that a negro had secured the groceries and that his name was identically the same as a very popula Wacoan.

Dick Smith had put his "O. K." on the bill and he was continually joked by hi semployes from then on about allowing the negro to beat him out of the grocery bill.

Yesterday morning the self-same negro whose cognomen was the same as the popular Wacoan walked into the store and said he was ready to settle his account. By referring to last year's books his name was found and much to the surprise of the members of the firm, the account was paid in full.

Ignoring the Old Maxim.

Paid by the federal government for his time and assisted in every wise during his experimenting, an Ohio chemist discovered a process whereby the amount of gasoline extracted from crude petroleum might be doubled. The invention was offered free to all refiners who were to receive licenses from the government and agree to turn over all improvements worked out durin gactual refining.

It is rather discouraging to learn that some trouble is being experienced with these manufacturers. Reports from the department at Washington show that certain of them are demanding exclusive rights, while others are requesting that the government guarantee their expenses in remodeling their present plants so as to install the new aparatus.

In the meantime the price of gasoline is mounting. Apparently the polite injunction never to look a gift horse in the mouth is being ignored by these selfish persons. Incidentally, there is promise of relief in the recent report that a Toledo inventor has developed a process within the week whereby crude petroleum is compelled to yield 90 per cent of gasoline, or 30 per cent more than the maximum at the Whiting (Ind.) plant of the Standard Oil company. Most refineries distill between 25 and 35 per cent.

The Toledo process is said to eliminate all by-products and to yield only gasoline and coal tar at a cost of 10 cents a gallon. In both processes the principle of utilizing what is now pure wastage is followed. In view of the necessities of the occasion it is hoped that haste will be observed in installing this new machinery of refinement. Haste here will not make waste, but prevent it.—Cincinnati Inquirer.

Crowds Attracted By Orpheum Bill

A splendid bill, consisting of four vaudeville acts and a five-part motion picture, pleased large crowds at the Orpheum theatre Monday and yesterday. The bill will be on for the last time today, after which a complete change will be made in the program.

The name of the motion picture is "Rosemary," and features a strong cast of Metro stars, headed by Marguerite Snow.

A Singer at the Railhead.

A train of, say eight hundred men, made up of small parties of twenties and thirties for the various units came into the railhead just as the light was beginning to show over beyond the river and make the cypress trees stand out in silhouette. The men were rather drowsy; not many of them looked out of the windows; a few got out to stretch their legs.

The railway transport officer was very busy sorting the men. Then, away down at the rear of the train, he heard a man's voice, faintly at first, but as the engine ran off to the shed and things became quieter he could hear it quite distinctly. He walked in the direction of the singing, and, getting nearer, recognized the song, Kurneval's song from "Tristan and Isolde."

A small crowd of English Tommies surrounded the rear brake van. On the roof stood a private in the Black Watch tartan, his tunic open at the neck, his bonnet set far back on his head, and his kilts swinging to the rhythmic motion of his body. He sang —God; how he sang. The crowd became morse dense; the French shunters and porters came and listened. The singer hardly pased at the end of the song; before the applause could commence he had started again. This time it was the "Toreador" from "Carmen."

The R. T. O. glanced at his watch; it was nearly time to get the men on board again. He looked at them. Each one was looking up at the singer; in the dull half light their eyes could hardly be seen, but their expression was intent. The song finished, the crowd applauded as only Tommies can.

"It's ——," said a man, mentioning the name of a famous singer.

"Ay, he's in our battalion," said another.—Westminster Gazette.

Tea, Coffee and Children

It would be difficult for any parent to find a physician of modern education who would contend that coffee and tea are not harmful, especially to growing children.

The fact remains, however, that many parents give these beverages to their little folks and allow their use in older children at a time when physical and mental development is the most rapid.

The drug, caffeine, in coffee and tea retards growth and interferes with school progress. Disturbances of eyesight, headaches, nervousness, irritability, indigestion and other ills appear in many, seemingly without cause, and the damage often occurs at the most impressionable period of life.

No parent should pemit the use of coffee and tea in the growing young; for the men and women of tomorrow will be what the parent of today makes the children by wise upbringing.

Children as well as adults need an invigorating, warm drink, and in a growing number of homes it has been found that the most wholesome table beverage is

Sweden Is Getting Coal From Germany

By the Associated Press.

New York, April 25.—Sweden is now getting from Germany about seventy per cent of her coal supply and is rapidly making herself independent of Great Britain on the question of fuel, according to Gunner Wickman of San Francisco, who arrived today on the steamship Stockholm. Mr. Wickman is one of a party of ten repesentatives of Swedish newspapers published in the United States who have been visiting Sweden, returning a fraternal visit of Swedish journalists.

"I saw large numbers of German freight cars in Sweden," Mr. Wickman said, "indicating considerable traffic between the two countries.

"The people of Sweden are experiencing prosperity such as they never dreamed of. Farmers are buying expensive jewelry for their families and residents of cities are enjoying every comfort that money will buy.

"Our visit was most enjoyable. We were received by the king and he sent back to America by us a special message of good will."

Anthracite Coal Miners May Strike

By the Associated Press.

New York, April 25.—Efforts to harmonize the demands of the anthracite coal miners and the concessions offered by the operators were broken off today after more than eight weeks of almost continuous discussion here today by a joint subcommittee representing both employers and employes. Predictions were made tonight by members of the miners' general board that the Tri-District convention to be held at Pottsville, Pa., May 2, would vote in favor of a strike.

Take Hair Out Not Off the Skin

It is useless to remove hair from the surface of the skin. This result is all that can be accomplished with pastes, rub-on preparations and imitations of De Miracle. To rob hair of its vitality, you must attack it under the skin as well as on the skin. De Miracle, the original liquid depilatory, does this by absorption. It alone contains certain ingredients which give it the power to devitalize hair. Well-groomed women always use De Miracle for removing hair from limbs and under arms. Buy De Miracle by name and you will get the only depilatory that has ever been endorsed by reputable physicians, surgeons, dermatologists, medical journals and prominent magazines. TOPEKA IS STIRRED BY HORRIBLE CRIME

By the Associated Press.

Topeka, Kan., April 25.—Arrests in a wholesale manner were made tonight in an effort to find the assailant of little Edna Dinsmore, nine years old, who was found dead in a burning house here this morning by firemen. Feeling was intense in the city tonight and the police released several persons who had been arrested on investigation of charges, fearing there might be a disturbance at the city jail.

Mrs. Bessie Dinsmore, the girl's mother, tonight was reported in a serious condition from shock. The child was identified late today by her father, Earl Dinsmore, a cigar maker.

The little girl left an east side bakery where her mother worked, at 8 o'clock this morning for school and three hours later firemen who were called to extinguish a fire in a vacant house, found the child's body in the basement. The police said that the little girl had been criminally assaulted and that she had been choked to death. The child's assailant apparently tried to cover up his crime by setting fire to the house. Only meager clues have developed for the police to follow, it was reported tonight.

McKINLEY GETS JOB; WOODS GIVEN TITLE

Representative W. B. McKinley.

That the conservative element is still in full control of the Republican party is shown by the fact that William B. McKinley, the man who financed the Taft campaign four years ago, has been chosen to handle the financial end of the national Republican campaign this year. Representative Frank Woods of Iowa, however, is to have the title which McKinley had in 1902.

ENGLAND INSISTS ON RIGHT TO SEARCH ALL SHIPS AT SEA

RIGHT TO INTERCEPT CONTRABAND FUNDAMENTAL.

"The right of a belligerent to intercept contraband on its way to his enemy," it says, "is fundamental and incontestible, and ought not to be restricted to intercepting contraband which happens to be accompanied on board the ships by proofs sufficient to condemn it. What is essential is to determine whether or not the goods were on British way to the enemy. If they were a belligerent is entitled to detain them and progress regard to the nature of the struggle in which the allies are engaged they are compelled to take the most effectual steps to exercise that right."

In discussing prize court procedure the note gives assurances that the orders in council do not override international law and that the prize court has full power to decide that any given act under those orders is illegal and to entertain any claim for compensation on that basis

Figures issued by the United States department of commerce are quoted to show that exports to the Scandinavian countries and Holland increased from $97,000,000 in 1913 to $235,000,000 in 1915.

AMERICAN EXPORT TRADE NOT INJURED.

"In the face of such figures," says the note, "it seems impossible to accept the contention that prize court procedure has practically destroyed much of the export trade of the United States to neutral countries and it is suggested that if complaints have been made to Washington by would-be exporters, they emanated not from persons who desired to engage in genuine commerce, but from those who desired to dispatch goods to the enemy under cover of a neutral destination.

The note takes up the American contention that goods comprising part of the common stock of the neutral country to which they are consigned should not be intercepted.

It declares that when the allies found it necessary to intercept shipments of cotton to Sweden, "it transpired that though the quays and warehouses of Gothenburg were congested with cotton there was none available for the use of the shippers in Sweden."

It adds that contracts falling into British hands proved that goods were not intended for consumption of neutrals to whom they were consigned, but were bound to Germany.

"However sound the principle that goods intended for incorporation in the common stock of a neutral country should not be treated as contraband, maybe in the ordinary," says the note, "it is one that can have but little application to the present imports of the Scandinavian countries.

GOODS TO SWEDEN SENT INTO GERMANY.

"The circumstances of a large number of the shipments negative any conclusion that they are bonafide shipments for the importing countries. Many of them are made to persons who apparently are nominees of enemy agents and who never figured before as importers of such articles. Consignments of meat products are addressed to lighter men and dock laborers. Several thousand tons of such goods have been found documented for a neutral port and addressed to firms which do not exist there. Large consignments of similar goods were addressed to a baker, to the keeper of a small private hotel or to a maker of musical instruments. Will it be contended that such imports ought to be recognized as bonafide shipments intended to become part of the common stock of a country?

"In the presence of facts such as these indicated above, the United States government will, it is believed, agree with His Majesty's government that no such conditions exist in modern time, bound by a rule that no goods could be seized unless they were accompanied by papers which established their destination to an enemy country and that all detentions of ships and goods must be uniformly based on proofs obtained at the time of seizure. To press any such theory is tantamount to asking that all trade between neutral ports shall be free and would thus render negatory the existence of sea power and destroy the pressure which the sea enables the allies to impose upon their enemy.

"It is, of course, inevitable that the existence of rights at sea, however, reasonable, must inconvenience neutral trade and great pressure is being put upon the United States government to urge the technical theory that there should be no interference at all with goods passing between neutral ports and thus to frustrate the measures which the allies have taken to intercept commerce on its way to or from the enemy."

SUPREME COURT OF U. S. IS QUOTED.

The note refers to the action taken by the United States during the Civil war to stop such a trade and to the supreme court's doctrine given to cover all cases where there was an intention to thwart the blockade by "whatever means, direct or indirect."

"His Majesty's government desires to assure the United States government," the note continues, "that every effort is being made to distinguish between bonafide neutral commerce and that which really is intended for the enemy.

"The task is one of exceptional difficulty and the statistics show that a great volume of imports intended for the enemy must have passed through adjacent neutral countries during the war. As an instance, the imports of lard into Sweden during the year 1915 might be taken. In that year the total import of lard into Sweden from all sources was 9318 tons, of which no less than 9029 tons came from the United States. In the three years before the war the average annual import of the same article was only 888 tons, of which 638 came from the United States. It is difficult to believe that the requirements of Sweden in respect of lard even when every allowance is made for possible diversions of trade due to the war is irresistible that the greater part of these imports must have had another and enemy destination.

"The objects with which the usual declaration and notification of blockade are issued have been fully achieved. Again the effectiveness of the work of the allied fleets under the orders referred to is shown by the small number of vessels which escape the allied patrols. It is doubtful whether there ever has been a blockade where the ships which slipped through bore so small a proportion to those which were intercepted. The best proof of the thoroughness of a blockade is to be found in its results. The great rise in price in Germany of many articles most necessary to the enemy in the prosecution of the present war must be well known to the United States government."

COTTON FORCED ON CONTRABAND LIST.

The putting of cotton on the contraband list, the note says, was forced by the accumulation of evidence that it was being used only for military purposes in Germany and that its use for other purposes was prohibited.

To the American contention that "the curtailment of neutral rights by these measures which are admitedly retaliatory and therefore illegal, cannot be admitted," the note replies:

"Although these measures may have been provoked by the illegal conductance of the enemy, they do not in reality conflict with any general principle of international law, of humanity or of civilization they are enforced with consideration against neutrals and therefore juridically sound and valid.

WILL REGARD RIGHTS OF NEUTRAL.

"Finally His Majesty's government desires to assure the United States government that they will continue their efforts to make the exercise of what they conceive to be their belligerent rights as little burdensome to neutrals as possible."

Then referring to steps taken to expedite examination of ships and cargoes, the note says:

"It is to such mitigations that the allies and the neutrals concerned should look for the removal of difficulties now encountered rather than to abrupt changes either in the theory or application of a policy based upon admitted principles of international law, carefully adjusted to altered conditions of modern warfare."

The note is about 13,000 words long and contains some appendices and a statement from the French minister of marine sustaining the views expressed by Admiral Jellico.

Of all the cities of the United Kingdom, Belfast has fewer unemployed than any other.

WOMAN AVOIDS OPERATION

Medicine Which Made Surgeon's Work Unnecessary.

Astoria, N. Y. — "For two years I was feeling ill and took all kinds of tonics. I was getting worse every day. I had chills, my head would ache, I was always tired. I could not walk straight because of the pain in my back and I had pains in my stomach. I went to a doctor and he said I must go under an operation, but I did not go. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and told my husband about it. I said 'I know nothing will help me but I will try this.' I found myself improving from the very first bottle, and in two weeks time I was able to sit down and eat a hearty breakfast with my husband, which I had not done for two years. I am now in the best of health and did not have the operation." — Mrs. JOHN A. KOENIG, 502 Flushing Avenue, Astoria, N. Y.

Every one dreads the surgeon's knife and the operating table. Sometimes nothing else will do; but many times doctors say they are necessary when they are not. Letter after letter comes to the Pinkham Laboratory, telling how operations were advised and were not performed; or, if performed, did no good, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was used and good health followed.

If you want advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

FEEL BILIOUS? CALOMEL SICKENS! CLEAN LIVER AND BOWELS MY WAY

Don't Lose a Day's Work! If Constipated, Sluggish, Headachy, Take a Spoonful of "Dodson's Liver Tone."

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work!

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath it bad or stomach sour just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone.

Here's my guarantee — Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful tonight and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

SAFETY-FIRST MEN HAD GOOD MEETINGS IN WACO, THEY SAY

The "First Aid to the Injured" and the "Safety First" meetings which have been held in Waco during the past two days, with Commissioner of Safety A. A. Krause of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway, Dr. E. S. Greene of the American Red Cross society, and others, participating as the principal speakers, came to an end yesterday afternoon, the session taking rank as the best meetings which have been held in this district.

Commissioner Krause will leave at 8:10 this morning for DeLeon and Walnut Springs, where similar meetings will be held. At 9:30 yesterday morning there was held in the local Chamber of Commerce rooms the general safety committee meeting of the Texas Central, Waco and Bell Meade committee, with thirty or more present. A. E. Rankin, agent at Albany, presided, while A. C. Beckton, Waco agent of the Katy, was secretary. Commissioner A. A. Krause used the time to 11 o'clock in explaining further the safety movement and its workings, and the morning was considered profitably spent.

At 11 o'clock those present went to the Queen theatre, where families of some of those railroad people preceded them, and there was witnessed the picture which has been prepared specially for such gatherings, entitled "The House That Jack Built." This was a practical and indisputable object lesson in the need for safety work.

The safety committee at 12:30 went to the Raleigh hotel, on invitation of Superintendent J. W. Evens of the Texas Central, and had a delightful lunch. The committee expressed their appreciation of the courtesy of Superintendent Evens.

One of the most profitable and instructive sessions of the entire gathering was held in the afternoon at 1:30 at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, at which time Dr. E. S. Greene of the American Red Cross society spent an hour explaining this work, and all who heard him were deeply interested. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in discussion of safety-first in the Texas Central district.

At 2:20 Commissioner A. A. Krause and Dr. E. S. Greene spoke at the fourth ward public school building, and were accorded an earnest hearing.

The meeting at Waco, from all standpoints, was rated as one of the very best yet held in the state.

Bids Will Be Opened May 4 for New Ward School Building

Plans and specifications have been completed and bids are to be opened on May 4 on the new ward school building which the Waco school board will have erected at Twenty-fifth and Bosque Boulevard.

If the contract is let at that time the work will be started very shortly thereafter, and if the letting of the contract is delayed a few days thereafter the school will soon be under way, anyhow, and will have been completed in ample time for the opening of the fall term of the public schools.

The building will be two stories high, of pleasing architecture, and will fill a real want in that section of Waco.

Railroad Man Says Waco Business Holds Its Own All the Time

"Waco is without doubt one of the most solid places I visit, and is holding up better than practically any city in Texas under the strain which has been put upon the country by abnormal conditions," said W. L. Holder, tax and land commissioner of the I. & G. N. railroad, while here yesterday.

Mr. Holder said that he traveled about over the state a great deal, and that he had always been struck by Waco's solidity, but that the present conditions had been a wonderful exhibition of business strength and preparedness. The country round about Waco he regards as second to none anywhere, and he thinks that the manufacturing, jobbing and other inherent resources of this city are now beginning to develop properly.

The visitor is one of the best posted business men in the state, and his view is worth something, being very heartening and encouraging.

Another Ford Car Is Stolen From Downtown

The third Ford car within almost as many days was stolen yesterday in broad daylight near the interurban station on Fourth street. The car belonged to Clem E. Connally, 2424 Bosque Boulevard, and was taken between 8 and 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The car bore No. 3378.

Masked Woman Mystifies Police--Claims She Is a Student of Human Nature

Either for the purpose of attracting attention and securing the consequent advertisement therefrom; to protect her complexion while traveling, or to serve some other somewhat occult purpose, a woman appeared at the passenger station of the railroads at Fourth and Mary streets a few days ago wearing a black mask, this mask being so complete that her features were entirely obscured from view, and even her nose was in a complete state of occultation and not even the tip was visible.

Officers who saw her talked about compelling her to leave off the mask, but after investigating were convinced that the face covering was for some purpose which, while probably not entirely practical, was yet harmless. The woman, who did not give her name, said that she lived in Richmond, Va., and was a student of human nature and a lecturer; her propaganda seemed to be directed against woman suffrage and the general attitude of many women of today as regards their appearance in public and participation in questions which bring them into public view. She inveighed very strongly, in conversation at the depot, against women taking any prominent part in matters outside of the home and the looking after the husbands and children; incidentally, she let it be known that she believed in the theory of soul transmigration, and her views from a standpoint of metempsychosis were freely and glibly spoken.

She went from Waco to New Braunfels, presumably to lecture and to carry on her study of human nature and her propaganda against the woman's movement of the day.

Uncorralled Bull-Moosers To Meet in Waco on May 23

The "unharmonized" and "unamalgamated" members of the progressive party in Texas, including members of the executive committee, will hold their state convention in the blue room of the city hall at Waco on May 23, according to arrangements completed yesterday afternoon by Mayor John Dollins and Secretary E. F. Drake of the Chamber of Commerce, and the executive committee of the party will meet here on May 22, a day ahead of the convention.

The letter containing this information was received yesterday by Mayor John Dollins, who immediately set about arranging for the gathering, and got in touch with Secretary Drake of the Chamber of Commerce, with the result that the blue room was tendered for the convention, and if it should prove inadequate a larger auditorium will be in readiness.

The letter in question was from J. M. McCormack, chairman of the executive committee of the progressives in Texas, whose home is in Dallas, and he was notified of the arrangements made at Waco for the meetings. The executive committee of the progressives is composed exclusively of white men, while it was stated that practically all delegates to the convention will be white. It was stated in the letter that several hundred will attend.

Prominent members of the republican party in Texas and of the progressive element of the opposition to the democrats met recently in Dallas and Houston, and resolved to harmonize and amalgamate, putting aside their differences and engaging in a common effort to win success in the contests for office this year, but the meeting which is called for Waco indicates that there is still some difference which must be threshed out.

The republicans and the progressives who have decided to harmonize will hold their state convention in Fort Worth on the same date, May 23, and contesting delegations to the national convention may result.

SHAKESPEARE CLUB TO DEDICATE QUAY PARK SUNDAY, MAY 7

Quay Memorial park, the first beauty spot to add to the already picturesque river driveway, will be formally christened on Sunday, May 7, by the Waco Shakespeare club. A tablet honoring the late S. J. Quay, for many years superintendent of the Waco city waterworks, and a fountain and other appropriate ornamental features have been completed by the club. With the trees, grass, walks and fountain added to the natural beauty of the location, the park makes a very attractive spot which will be enhanced by other improvements through the years. Members of the water board have signified their willingness to be responsible for the upkeep of the park. The plot is back of the filtration plant on the driveway.

The program, which will consist of music, speakers and christening exercises, is being arranged by the committee which has had details of the park in charge, consisting of Mrs. J. M. Hale, Mrs. J. W. Downs and Mrs. J. P. Carpenter. Representatives of the club, the water board and the city commission will be on the program of dedication. The hour for beginning the exercises has been set at 4 p. m.

HALF FARE BECOMES EFFECTIVE THURSDAY

The children of Waco will be able to get on the street cars at any time, day or night, after Thursday of next week, pay a fare of 2½c and ride to their destination, according to the city ordinance which was passed at the regular meeting of the city commission April 20.

This applies to children up to 12 years of age, or rather between the ages of 5 and 12 years, as up to 5 years of age they do not have to pay any fare at all. Children between the ages of 12 and 17 years will be able to go to and from school for 2½c, provided they purchase the books which are to be had at the corner of Washington and Fourth streets, at the station; these books are good on school days, but not on Sunday.

The passage of the 2½c fare measure was due largely to the efforts of Mayor John Dollins and of Commissioner Ben C. Richards, these two men having been champions of the measure in the form in which it passed the commission; Commissioner W. H. Cockcroft favored passage of the ordinance, but wanted an amendment providing for the purchase of books or tickets at designated points, while the two new commissioners, J. F. Stampp and J. D. Harlow, voted for the ordinance as written, after they had studied it for a week in order to try and and be fair to all concerned.

Suggests Meeting to Discuss Theft of Autos in City

"Matters have reached a point in Waco where steps must be taken to get at the parties who are stealing autos here, for the situation is a serious one for the owners of cars," said Dr. J. T. Harrington yesterday.

"I think it would be well to have a meeting, organize and see what we can do to assist the officers, for they have a great problem on hand and one in which the citizens are interested as well as the officers. It doesn't make any difference what the organization is called, but it should be formed, and every effort made to apprehend the guilty parties; rewards should be offered, co-operation secured between the car owners, and other plans worked out for mutual protection."

Dr. Harrington had his auto stolen Saturday night. Another car was taken the same night.

Waco Episcopalians Will Attend Council

There will be several delegates going from Waco to the Episcopal council at Houston, which begins May 10 with Bishop George H. Kinsolving presiding, the probabilities being that the meetings will continue for three days.

Rector W. P. Witsell of St. Paul's church will probably go down to Houston a little ahead of the others who will go, and among others likely to attend the council meeting are Messrs. C. L. Johnson, A. J. Dossett and Baker Hoskins.

The Woman's Auxiliary, a missionary organization, will meet at the same time in Houston, and this will take several Waco women to the Bayou City.

Sessions of the Episcopal council will be held in Christ church.

Sporting Comment

The Stonebusters again today.

Incidentally, in the excitement, Jesse James batted .500.

Postmaster McCullom says he'll take his rooting in installments from now on—that he don't want it all at once.

Joe Martina is now getting his bumps in the Southern. There's an old saying about riding a good horse to death.

Uncle Jawn McGraw has already started getting chased off the field. Too bad the way the umps pick on Jawn's nine.

Ogle blew up in the ninth and the Buffs won. The Professor seems to have added a couple of innings this year. Last season he usually blew up in the seventh.

Fentress seems to be losing his rabbit's foot. He let Dallas beat him yesterday. Fort Worth fans admit he gets started slow, but they must be hoping secretly that he don't make it too slow.

Nunamaker did some fancy swatting yesterday. The Yankee catcher got a triple, a two-bagger and two singles out of four times up. That'll keep Walters on the bench another week, sure.

Waco in third place this morning, a half game behind Shreveport and a full game behind Galveston. Chances look good for taking the lead today. Zinn probably will be called on to turn the trick.

Another thing enjoyable about the game was the umpiring of Vitter. The arbiter never had a question raised by any player except Conwell. "Irish" remonstrated over a called strike and the umps gave him the five sign.

Waco fans have seen both Dallas and Shreveport play. Some of them cannot understand how the Gassers did it, judging from their form on the local diamond. "Just like they did last year" begins to look like the real dope on 'em.

Jesse James has added Sid Smith to his list of victims. The other two were Lee Garvin and Daddy Meeks. Sid was victimized yesterday when he clouted a screamer (good stuff, that "screamer") to right. Jess tore in on it and by a fast throw to first got the straining Gasser foreman by his eyelash.

Buddy Tanner was in a hot spot yesterday, making six assists, one of which was as pivot in a lightning double, with Mal shining on the other end. A peculiarity of the game was the fact that the first Gasser in the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh innings grounded out, Tanner to Wohlleben. He also retired the first out in the third, Conwell forcing Hiett at second.

James also attempted to beat Bernsen out of a hit in the third by sliding on his nose for a line drive. He missed it just an eighth of a half inch. That's just about how far Conwell missed Becker's hit 'n the fifth. In fact, in some places the scorers might almost have stretched a point and given errors on both chances. Of course, right afterwards they could have retired to the storm cellars, and Lefty would have added a hitless game to his string.

Morris Rules Out Quick Return Ball

By the Associated Press.

Fort Worth, April 25.—The quick-return ball, which pitchers have used successfully in the Texas league for years, has been abolished by President Morris in a ruling today. When used hereafter, the batter will be given his base.

COULON WHIPS RICHIE.

By the Associated Press.

Kenosha, Wis., April 25.—Johnny Coulon, former bantam champion of the world, signalled his "come back" to the prize ring tonight by defeating Johnny Ritchie, according to critics at the ringside. The fight was fast and clever throughout the ten rounds.

MANY GOLFERS TO PLAY.

By the Associated Press.

Houston, April 25.—A card of 175 crack golfers of Texas was assured today when entries were closed for the eleventh annual state tournament on the links of the Houston Country club.

WACO---3 GASSERS---1

LEFTY HILL HOLDS STONE-BUSTERS TO TWO MIGHTY SCRATCHY HITS.

CONWELL KEEPS ON HITTING

Only One Run Scored by Sid's Men and That Came Without a Bingle.

A FABLE.

There was once a Gang of Stonebusters who Bulled through their work by Main Strength and Awkwardness. They got along fine and dandy. Every Big One they came to they easily made into Little Ones. It was really a Cinch.

They actually had the Populace believing they were the Real Noise. Whenever this Gang came upon a hard-looking stone, they yawned with Stonebuster's ennui, took a couple of swipes at the hard-looking one and lo it went bust.

But—

One day they struck a Snag. They bumped into a real Hard One. The First Stonebuster yawned, swung his Big Hammer and cracked at the stone. It wasn't there. He looked surprised. Then he took another bust at it. This time he hit, but it rolled out from under his hammer, unbusted.

"Hey, Bill," he called to the nearest comrade, "looky yere—I done found me a stone I can't bust."

"Lemme attim,' 'came the lusty response. But the Comrade also slipped up.

Then they two of 'em called up the Big Boss and he chided them most ungently for their lack of skill with the Hammer.

"Watch me bust 'er," he said. So they all gathered around to watch the Big Boss bust 'er. But he did no bustin', because the Stone was too tough a Nut for the Main Strength and Awkwardness game.

MORAL—Old-time Main Strength and Awkwardness is obsolete; it takes Science to bust some Rocks.

The Navs evidently succeeded in getting all the boots out of their systems in the Monday game, for they resumed the even tenor of their way yesterday.

That about tells the story, for when the old Nav machine hits its gait the Gassers have about as much chance to beat them as a Waco movie has to keep open on Sunday.

Of course there were some incidentals: Cliff Hill recovered from a bad start and made the mighty Gasser hitters look like a band of Villistas capturing Washington. Lefty had worked only Saturday, but he didn't let that bother him any. He just slammed 'em in there and they hit at 'em three times and missed 'em or else they hit easy ones at some of Lefty's helpers. Hyder Barr was one of the most surprised humans in the world. He'd vow all sorts of do-or-die things, stick his spikes down in the native soil like George Leidy does, back off a couple of steps, get all ready, swing straight and even and level—and never even get a foul. He got exactly nine resultless swings in his four times at bat and the only thing that kept him striking out three times was Hill accidentally hit Barr's bat when the batter was dodging one on the inside corner; Mal caught the accidental fly. Barr's troubles are only mentioned as an instance of how Hill had the gang on his hip. The only hard ball hit in the game by a Gasser was a terrific line drive by Smith to right field that was so fast Jesse James threw the Gasser foreman out at first.

Of course Hill had a lot of help. While no sensational work was done, the Nav machine just plugged along with deadly precision. Tanner was the center of the enemy's fire and he returned a winner every time he was called on. Mal started one of his nifty doubles; Jesse James made a couple of fairly hard chances look easy—in fact the Navs were working in regular fashion. That tells it.

GASSERS SCORE WITHOUT A HIT IN FIRST.

Lefty didn't have his range adjusted properly right at the start, walking the first two men up in the initial frame. These two—Becker and Diamond—were shoved around by a sacrifice and the first scored on a fielder's choice—Barr hitting one to Tanner and being retired at first.

It has been said recently that the worst thing that can happen to the opposition in Navville is to get a run in the first inning. There must be more truth than Durham in the statement, for it worked out perfectly yesterday. Bittle opened with a single in Waco's half of the first. Coyle attempted a hit and run, but flied out to right. Conwell, who had made eight hits out of his last nine times at bat in previous games, hit the first ball pitched for a triple into the clubhouse corner, scoring Bittle. With Conwell on third, James was walked. Tanner pulled the hunting end of a nice squeeze, Barr throwing to the plate after Conwell had crossed it. Malmquist hit to Kneaves and with Knaupp as the pivot the side was retired on a fast double play.

After that it was only a question of how many hits Lefty would allow. He was a trifle wild, but always steadied in time to make his man hit the ball somewhere. In fact about the main interest of the crowd was centered in the antics of an exhuberant rooter who put as much pep into his rooting as though he had nine dollars or six-bits bet on the game.

Waco's other run was batted in by Conwell. Bittle started the third by drawing a walk and was advanced by a single, with Coyle on the shoving-around end as usual. Conwell hit a fast grounder past third base for the blow that registered Bittle. After James had flied out to left, Tanner hit into another double.

The interest of the crowd for a time was divided between the afore-mentioned exhuberant rooter and a question as to what Conwell was going to do on his next trip up. On his third appearance he popped up a dinky fly to shortstop just like an ordinary ball player. However, on his fourth trip up he led off the eighth inning with a clean single to left and stole second. In this inning the Navs got three men on with nobody out as the result of a walk by James and an error by Diamond. But Conwell was thrown out at the plate on Malmquist's grounder to Eaves, Wohlleben flied out to right and Reilly grounded out to Knaupp.

Four Straight Wins Now Hill's Record

CLIFF HILL.

Holding the Gassers to a couple of bingles yesterday, Lefty Hill annexed his fourth straight victory of the season. The principal reason that he has won only four games is that he has twirled in only that number. On the second day of the season, Hill shut out Fort Worth, 2 to 0. He again beat the Panthers here, 4 to 3, and took the Giants' measure, 2 to 1.

Conwell popped up to the infield yesterday. Outside of that, he has garnered seventeen hits out of the last twenty-one times up. In the last three games, Conwell has hit eleven times out of thirteen times, the other exception being on Monday when Umpire Vitter called him out on what looked very much like a ball from the press box. In the last five games, Conwell has been hitting at an .810 stride. Since the season opened, he has hit twenty-five times out of fifty, for an average of .500. And when last he came to bat yesterday he still had his batting eye.

OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

SALTS, CALOMEL, PILLS ACT ON BOWELS LIKE PEPPER ACTS IN NOSTRILS.

Enjoy Life! Don't Stay Bilious, Sick, Headachy and Constipated.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

GOVERNOR FERGUSON INVITED TO ATTEND OPENING OF RALEIGH

An invitation will be sent today to Governor Ferguson asking him to be present when the Raleigh hotel is formally opened on the night of May 1. R. E. Pellow, manager of the hotel, is making extensive preparations for opening the hotel and is expecting several hundred people as guests.

Since Mr. Pellows took charge of the Raleigh a number of improvements have been made which is making the Raleigh to be classed among the leading hotels of the south. Reservations for tables in the dining hall on the opening night are being received by Mr. Pellows, who stated last night that approximately 40 per cent of the tables are already gone.

The hotel will be especially decorated for the occasion and souvenirs will be presented to both ladies and gentlemen. Members of the city commission will also be tendered an invitation to attend the opening.

A White Rose.

The red rose whispers of passion,
And the white rose breathes of love;
Oh, the red rose is a falcon,
And the white rose is a dove.

But I send you a cream-white rosebud
With a flush on its petal tips;
For the love that is purest and sweetest
Has a kiss of desire on the lips.

BOSQUE COUNTY ROAD DISCUSSED AT MEET

WILL ASK COUNTY TO TAKE DEFINITE STEPS IN REGARD TO PROJECT.

TRADE TRIP SUCCESS ASSURED

Property Owners of Austin Avenue Contribute Liberally to White Way Movement.

Further steps toward having the gap in the road to Bosque county put in good condition will be taken when committees representing the Young Men's Business League will call upon the McLennan county commissioners stating that unless they take definite action in fixing the road the league will conduct a campaign to have the road completed. This was the decision rendered last night at the regular weekly meeting of the board of directors of the league last night. Members of the league passed a motion which states that unless the commissioners start actions soon to have the road put in good condition that the league will wage a campaign and take other steps.

Some time ago representatives of Bosque county visited here and gained the promise of the Y. M. B. L. that they would do all they could to have the road completed. According to members of the board of directors McLennan county has been neglectful in having the road completed and that it is to its interest that the road be put in such condition that it will not interfere with the furthering of Waco as a trade center. Delegates from Bosque county that were in Waco to get the road completed, stated that this county was anxious to attend theatres and other places of amusements in McLennan county but they were handicapped because of the condition of this section of road which separates Bosque county from other excellent highways of McLennan county.

Both the good roads committee of the league and a special committee consisting of W. V. Crawford, W. W. Naman, Robert Dupree, W. A. Poage, W. H. Wheeler and J. M. Penland will call on the commissioners.

That the committee of the league was meeting with good results in securing the names of property owners of Austin avenue who would contribute forty cents a frontage foot to having the white way installed, was reported by W. W. Naman, chairman of the committee. He stated that almost half of the property owners had signed up to contribute this amount in order that the white way can be installed here. A motion was made and carried to ask the local newspapers to publish a list of the contributors after the list is completed. It was the sentiment of the directors that the public should know who was contributing to movements that were for the good of the city.

WACOANS WILL GO TO TEMPLE TODAY.

W. V. Crawford, president of the Associated Young Men's Business Leagues of Texas, reported that a delegation of about thirty-five Wacoans would leave for Temple this morning to attend the state convention. He said that a special rate could be obtained and that special features were being prepared by Temple. The round trip rate is $1.70.

Rates issued by the traction company in regard to sightseeing street cars to show visitors over the city were read by Robert Dupree, chairman of a committee that was appointed several weeks ago to investigate the proposition. The rates were put in the records of the league for future reference.

That 125 signatures had been secured of persons that would make the four summer trade trips was reported by W. V. Crawford, chairman of the general trade trip committee. This number is enough to assure the success of the trips, he stated. Announcement was made that the train for the first trip, May 11, to Comanche, will leave the Cotton Belt depot at 7 a. m.

MASTER BAKERS MEET HERE MAY 3.

Tickets were presented the members of the board for the banquet of the State Master Bakers' convention, which will be held in Waco May 3. The banquet will be given at the Maennerchor club. Charles M. Vincent, representing the local bakers, presented the tickets.

Efforts will be made to have the state firemen hold their 1917 convention in Waco and also to select Waco as their permanent meeting place. It is believed that Waco will find some opposition from Cuero and John Wyche, chairman of the convention committee, was chosen to represent Waco at the 1916 convention which will be held May 8, 9 and 10, at New Braunfels. Other Wacoans will attend the convention.

When the Cotton Palace opens for the 1916 exposition there will no doubt be a splendid agricultural exhibit, according to F. E. Goodman, chairman of the agricultural committee. Mr. Goodman has been interesting several communities in the exhibits and has secured a number of promises of farmers to have exhibits here during the exposition.

When the reports of the good roads committee was made by W. A. Poage, the Bosque county road was discussed and it was then that action was taken to have representatives of the league call upon the county commissioners. Mr. Poage stated that with R. J. Potts he attended the good roads meeting at Dawson last week which was held to arouse interest in the bond issue which will be voted on in Navarro county for good roads.

GRANDSTAND DAY SUCCESS REPORTED.

That a total of $1,684.60 was the total gate receipts on the opening of the Texas league in this city, was stated in a report read by W. V. Crawford. After expenses were paid, $1,364.30 was turned over to President Charles Turner of the baseball association to be applied on the cost of erecting the new grandstand.

E. C. Blomeyer, assistant to the president of the Texas Telephone company, stated that as soon as the company moved into its new headquarters an invitation would be extended to the league to hold one of its general meetings on the roof of the new building and to be guests of the telephone company.

RALEIGH FORMAL OPENING MAY 1.

An invitation was read from R. E. Pellow, manager of the Hotel Raleigh, asking that the league have representatives present at the formal opening of the hotel, which will be held on the night of Monday, May 1, in order to see what the hotel had done toward giving Waco one of the best hotels in the south. A motion was made to have the president, vice president and secretary of the league represent the league on this night.

A motion was made to pay the expenses of H. Hagedorn, secretary of the league, to attend the southern commercial organizations' secretaries' convention, which will be held in Shreveport May 4, 5 and 6.

A committee will be appointed to arrange to commemorate the anniversary of the dedication of Cameron park, May 27.

W. H. Hoffmann, chairman of the publicity committee, reported that a picture was taken of Mayor John Dollins when he appeared in a baseball uniform on the opening day of the Texas league here, and that the picture had appeared in several Texas newspapers.

Showing the delegation from Bosque county that was in Waco several weeks ago in interest of a good roads movement, a picture was presented the league by Photographer Gildersleeve and received with thanks.

In the absence of Perry A. Duncan, president of the league, E. C. Blomeyer, vice president, presided.

In Respect to the President.

Let us quarrel among ourselves all we choose, but let us remember that we are in the midst not merely of a political campaign, but of a grave international complication. Let us support the president in his enedavors to keep the peace, whether we vote for his re-election or not. Politically, he is a democratic candidate for re-election, but internationally he is our president—a conscientious and high-minded Christian gentleman, seeking light on very vexed problems. It is the privilege of any American to vote against his re-election; on that matter the Advance offers no advice; but while he is president, and while his hands are full and his heart is burdened with conditions that threaten our peace and the peace of the whole world, if he can keep us out of war, may God and every good citizen assist him. What we shall do, individually, next November, let each voter determine for himself; but from now to March, 1917, Woodrow Wilson is the president not of the democratic party or a faction within it, but of the United States.—Advance.

Negro Pays Bill and Joke Is Not on Dick Smith

Along last summer the phone rang at Gray & Smith's grocery store and as usual it was answered promptly. An order for groceries was given. The name given was a familiar one, the red book was consulted and the party in question was entitled to credit A-1. The first of the month came and the bill was presented and it was returned with a letter stating that this party had not purchased groceries from this firm. Investigation was made and it was found that a negro had secured the groceries and that his name was identically the same as a very popula Wacoan.

Dick Smith had put his "O. K." on the bill and he was continually joked by hi semployes from then on about allowing the negro to beat him out of the grocery bill.

Yesterday morning the self-same negro whose cognomen was the same as the popular Wacoan walked into the store and said he was ready to settle his account. By referring to last year's books his name was found and much to the surprise of the members of the firm, the account was paid in full.

Ignoring the Old Maxim.

Paid by the federal government for his time and assisted in every wise during his experimenting, an Ohio chemist discovered a process whereby the amount of gasoline extracted from crude petroleum might be doubled. The invention was offered free to all refiners who were to receive licenses from the government and agree to turn over all improvements worked out durin gactual refining.

It is rather discouraging to learn that some trouble is being experienced with these manufacturers. Reports from the department at Washington show that certain of them are demanding exclusive rights, while others are requesting that the government guarantee their expenses in remodeling their present plants so as to install the new aparatus.

In the meantime the price of gasoline is mounting. Apparently the polite injunction never to look a gift horse in the mouth is being ignored by these selfish persons. Incidentally, there is promise of relief in the recent report that a Toledo inventor has developed a process within the week whereby crude petroleum is compelled to yield 90 per cent of gasoline, or 30 per cent more than the maximum at the Whiting (Ind.) plant of the Standard Oil company. Most refineries distill between 25 and 35 per cent.

The Toledo process is said to eliminate all by-products and to yield only gasoline and coal tar at a cost of 10 cents a gallon. In both processes the principle of utilizing what is now pure wastage is followed. In view of the necessities of the occasion it is hoped that haste will be observed in installing this new machinery of refinement. Haste here will not make waste, but prevent it.—Cincinnati Inquirer.

Crowds Attracted By Orpheum Bill

A splendid bill, consisting of four vaudeville acts and a five-part motion picture, pleased large crowds at the Orpheum theatre Monday and yesterday. The bill will be on for the last time today, after which a complete change will be made in the program.

The name of the motion picture is "Rosemary," and features a strong cast of Metro stars, headed by Marguerite Snow.

A Singer at the Railhead.

A train of, say eight hundred men, made up of small parties of twenties and thirties for the various units came into the railhead just as the light was beginning to show over beyond the river and make the cypress trees stand out in silhouette. The men were rather drowsy; not many of them looked out of the windows; a few got out to stretch their legs.

The railway transport officer was very busy sorting the men. Then, away down at the rear of the train, he heard a man's voice, faintly at first, but as the engine ran off to the shed and things became quieter he could hear it quite distinctly. He walked in the direction of the singing, and, getting nearer, recognized the song, Kurneval's song from "Tristan and Isolde."

A small crowd of English Tommies surrounded the rear brake van. On the roof stood a private in the Black Watch tartan, his tunic open at the neck, his bonnet set far back on his head, and his kilts swinging to the rhythmic motion of his body. He sang—God; how he sang. The crowd became morse dense; the French shunters and porters came and listened. The singer hardly pased at the end of the song; before the applause could commence he had started again. This time it was the "Toreador" from "Carmen."

The R. T. O. glanced at his watch; it was nearly time to get the men on board again. He looked at them. Each one was looking up at the singer; in the dull half light their eyes could hardly be seen, but their expression was intent. The song finished, the crowd applauded as only Tommies can.

"It's ——," said a man, mentioning the name of a famous singer.

"Ay, he's in our battalion," said another.—Westminster Gazette.

Tea, Coffee and Children

It would be difficult for any parent to find a physician of modern education who would contend that coffee and tea are not harmful, especially to growing children.

The fact remains, however, that many parents give these beverages to their little folks and allow their use in older children at a time when physical and mental development is the most rapid.

The drug, caffeine, in coffee and tea retards growth and interferes with school progress. Disturbances of eyesight, headaches, nervousness, irritability, indigestion and other ills appear in many, seemingly without cause, and the damage often occurs at the most impressionable period of life.

No parent should pemit the use of coffee and tea in the growing young; for the men and women of tomorrow will be what the parent of today makes the children by wise upbringing.

Children as well as adults need an invigorating, warm drink, and in a growing number of homes it has been found that the most wholesome table beverage is

Woman Applies Gas When Man Attempts to Hold Up Her Auto

A novel and decidedly effective method was recently tried by a woman of this city to remove from in front of her auto a man who stepped out suddenly while she was far out on the Corsicana road, the man signaling for her to stop the machine immediately.

She was driving towards Waco, east of the city several miles, when a man appeared directly in front of her in the road, and swung his arms in a command for her to stop. Frightened by the appearance of the man, and hardly knowing what she was doing, except that she did not propose to stop in the lonesome spot where the white man showed up so suddenly and menacingly, the lady applied the gasoline freely, the machine shot forward like a rocket and whirled towards the man like some juggernaut of destruction. It was up to the man to move or be run down, and he moved, the woman coming on into the city unmolested.

After the incident she grew almost hysterical, thinking of what would have happened if the man had not gotten out of the way in time, but she consoled herself with the thought that she secured results and that no one was injured.

PROTECTION PLANS EAST WACO LEVEES BEING CARRIED OUT

Plans for taking better care of the levee in East Waco are being carried out according to the decision reached recently by the city commission, and City Engineer George Gurley has commenced on the work which is to be done in order to make of the structure a real tower of strength and a wall of protection in times of heavy floods.

The resolution presented by Commissioner Ben Richards, and which passed the commission, provided not only for inspection every ninety days, or oftener if necessary, but also that the cutting of the levee by all parties be stopped, and that it receive attention as needed, and specifically that four corrugated iron houses be built along the line of embankment, two above the old suspension bridge and two below it, these to be filled with sand bags which can be used in preventing a break in times of high water. One of these iron houses has been put in place and the others will be constructed so soon as a storm sewer which cuts into the levee shall have been fixed as it should be.

The levee will receive more attention than it has ever received, it will be kept well sodded with grass and the gopher holes filled up, so that it will present the maximum amount of resistance to the encroachments of the elements.

Waco Parks Are Now Being Made More Beautiful

Beautification touches are being given practically all the parks in Waco just now by Commissioner J. D. Harlow, who is in charge of the parks and cemeteries of the city, and it is hoped to have all these park spots looking good in a short time.

The bandstands, seats, children's playground apparatus, walks and other features of the parks are being inspected and improved, and the general result is expected to be pleasing. At the Edgefield park the old Dr. Owers homestead is being razed, and soon the brick will be piled up and gold; it is thought that there will be fifty to sixty thousand brick in this building, and after they shall have been cleaned they will be marketed.

Barton Is Hopeful Over Outcome of Submission

Dr. A. J. Barton, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Texas, spent yesterday in Waco, and while here talked informally with a number of prohibitionists regarding the outlook for submission, which he regards as most hopeful.

Dr. Barton told friends who inquired regarding his health, as he has only recently recovered from a dangerous attack of typhoid fever, that he had not felt better in a long time; in fact that he seemed to be in the very pink of condition, and was ready for the strenuous work which he believes is ahead in the program which the organization that he heads has mapped out.

He left Waco yesterday afternoon for other points in the state.

Dr. Brooks Was in Waco Yesterday

Dr. S. P. Brooks passed the time in Waco yesterday and the remainder of this week has a very busy program ahead of him.

Next week he will start out on another round in his senatorial campaign.

SATURDAY IS PIE DAY FOR MOTHERS' CLUB

On next Saturday, we will have a "Pie" day. This means, the Mothers' club of the North Seventh Street school (colored) will appreciate patronage for a delicious pie. Orders may be telephoned, new phone, to the B. J. Keeling residence, North Eighth street. The pies will be delivered at residence, the price being whatever the recipient cares to give. No more picturesque place can be found in all Waco than the slope which leads through bank and dell, under beautiful trees, through the space between the school building and the Sixth street side. By assisting the Mothers' club with their original idea of a "Pie Day" we will also assist in bringing to its possibility for another beauty asset for our city. The writer has tested the pie, and she can say it is delicious.

MISS LENORE HIRSHBERG MARRIES AARON GOLDSTEIN

Seldom has the announcement of a coming marriage elicited the genuine surprise as did that of Miss Lenore Hirshberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Hirshberg of Austin avenue. It had been known, of course, that Miss Hirshberg has been frequent visitor out of the state; it has also been known that she has spent several seasons in and around New York City. But it was not known until she herself sought to tell it that, with autumn, she becomes bride of Aaron M. Goldstein of New York City. It was to her girl friends first to whom Miss Hirshberg gave the pleasurable news. This was in a bridge matinee. Guests greeted and game formed, hands were dealt. In the assortment, Miss Elise Haber spied on the queen of hearts in golden letters the announcement. This called for change of score tallies from plain to more elaborate, two embossed hearts, done by the hostess with her skillful brush, souvenirs of this notable event. Following the last round, game favors were presented to Mrs. Joel Schonneman of Houston and to Miss Bess Long. Two courses was the luncheon service. During it all, congratulations were given Miss Hirshberg and the word of further congratulation sent the absent groom-to-be. Roses and Easter lilies made the room decoration for this eventful game.

HUNDREDS PAY RESPECTS TO MISS GRACE DYER

For the last of her girlhood days, Miss Grace Dyer was claimed by her aunt, Mrs. Z. F. Beasley. Miss Nellie Dancey was second hostess. Invitations were given to several hundred, old friends of the families, including a number from out of town who had gathered for the McGlasson-Dyer wedding. For two hours the house party did duty in welcome, introduction and entertainment. In addition to honoring a bride upon the eve of her wedding day, society met for the first large gathering of the Easter tide. To say that the rooms were abloom with flowers was to speak literally. The gold and white of the Easter lily and calendula was noticed first. In the refreshment room the baby gladiola in delicate pink gave mound over the rich lace table cover as well as height to basket about the room pieces. From the mound the spun crystal butterflies hovered, and at the base tiny lights glowed through pink roses of porcelain. Reception sweets repeated the pink tone. About the room punch cups and sandwiches were handed from sparkling cut glass pieces. Those remaining through the two hours were absorbed, since arrivals were many and in rapid succession. The stringed orchestra sat behind a screen of growing foliage. In addition to the social growth of our city, since both the Dyer and the Beasley names are synonymous with the transition of Waco from cultured village to metropolitan city. It has been many seasons since Mrs. Beasley and her daughter, Mrs. May Beasley Hutcherson, opened their homes to friends en masse, and it was the privilege of these to accept.

As the last call was paid, the men of the wedding party arrived to pass the merry hour with Miss Dyer, her attendants and her guests come from a distance. Remaining with hostesses and their honoree while the hundreds called were the Mesdames Felix Beasley, Edgar Kyser of El Paso, S. C. Red of Houston, C. F. Greenwood of Dallas, Carl Cranz of Fort Worth, Frank Clark, Saffold Beasley, W. W. Seley, Lee Davis, Flora Cameron, Edward Bolton, W. E. COULD NOT LIE ON SIDE

And Had to Sleep With Head High on Pillow on Account of Suffering. Says Cardui Made Her Well.

Laurel, Miss.—Mrs. Martha A. Corbin, R. F. D. 4, of this place, writes: "I am glad to write this letter and you are welcome to use it....in any way you choose.

"I have had a soreness in my side so that I could not lie on it to sleep. The back of my head hurt me a great deal, too, so that I had to lie with my head high on the pillow. Once a month I would have a great deal of backache.... Then I would suffer from dizziness, which would be so bad I could hardly sit up and would have a very queer feeling in my head. The neighbors all advised me to have a doctor, but I had heard a great deal of Cardui and decided to take that. I swelled a great deal, too.... When that first began on me I would want to stretch and when I would stretch, the pain would run to my hips and shoulders.

"But I began to take Cardui, and before I had taken a half bottle I began to feel better and the swelling began to go down. The pain began to diminish and by the time I had taken two bottles I felt well enough to quit taking it.... I think it is the grandest medicine that women can use."

Take Cardui. For sale by all druggists.

Society Notes

With the first of May, Mrs. E. P. Hunter of the Kyle becomes summer matron of the Ashburn cottage, North Eighteenth street.

Mrs. Nannie Webb Curtis of Colcord avenue is sojourner in Marlin for a few weeks.

Miss Louise Pace, one of the prominent young women of Texas, comes over from Corsicana, to be guest of Miss Decca Lamar West for the Shakspere reunion dinner.

In addition to all former members, the Shakspere reunion dinner at Hotel Raleigh promises to introduce several state guests.

The women of Austin Avenue Missionary society are quite proud of the result from their Rummage Sale, seventy-five dollars for their church work.

Miss Nellie Lee Hill and Miss Louise Irwin are receiving many compliments for their ambitious work as readers of the leading lines in the Baylor University Tercentenary play. It is no easy role, that of the exuberant, many-sided Rosalind, and her cousin, Celia.

The Misses Hays and Foster as official family for the San Antonio Fiesta, with their attendants, Holt Massey and Floyd Holland, have innumerable engagements for the present week. These will detain the Waco party in San Antonio until Friday or Saturday.

Mrs. Louis Stephens is matron of the W. M. Foster home, Thirteenth and Washington, this week.

It is estimated that as many as three thousand were on the University campus for "As You Like It," on Monday evening.

How comes it that nobody has spoken of the approaching "sweet girl graduate" for 1916? She is fast arriving.

On next Saturday, the Beau Nots will be with Miss Ella Flewellyn.

Is not Dame Nature a bold lady? She will place her bright gold daffodil beside her crimson maiden pink, and throw in her blue bonnet, all on a green carpet, and yet not do violence to a pleasing effect to the eye. But, just let the artist put such a riot of color on canvas, and mighty is the cry of offense to the sight.

It is just a little cool yet, but the next moonlight season will find suppers in the outdoor.

Women all over the land, and men, too, are talking the peace movement. All well and good; but, after all, the true foundation of peace lies in educating youth to humane thought and practice. Begin with kindness to the house pet.

Do make the porch attractive this very day. Remember, it is our home life for the next few months.

Swat that fly, and then look around for another fly to swat. Then go into the kitchen and tell the maid of all work to swat flies. This menace has been exterminated from the Canal Zone; why not from Waco?

Easter week is full, but the week following Easter brings good things, too. General as well as private gatherings are on the tapis.

Somebody must save home society and give us a June bride like they are having elsewhere. By way of passing remark, there might be a groom as well. So far, not one word even whispered over a June high life wedding.

The Shakspere pageant at "State" is pronounced a wonderful performance. This means, of course, that Waco students were doing their full part.

We noticed the other day a theatrical bill advertising "from problem play to slapstick." We know what the former is, but, pray, what may be the latter?

Now that the Easter tide brings our card clubs again, we must burnish up a bit on our bridge leads. There is reciprocal courtesy due at the bridge table. The woman who takes a hand owes it to the others to play that hand intelligently. On the other side, the woman who does play a good game owes it to her less skillful partner, to be courteous at all times.

While we are in the effort to understand just what an "imagist" is among the poets, we might try to discern what a "modernist" is among the artists.

Up in Washington is a dreadful situation. And it all comes from this: no provision for any music "to help the president go home from a party." When he enters a ballroom "Star-Spangled Banner" is played, and all guests rise. When he leaves, no notice is taken. Now, is opportunity for some aspiring composer to awake and find himself famous.

The Llewellyn Aubrey flower garden has come into its annual catering to enthusiastic compliment. The Woman's club in its session yesterday afternoon had first glimpse.

The Wednesday Matinee Bridge has deferred its accustomed game until Thursday of this week. Mrs. A. S. Haber is the hostess.

By process of evolution in name, the Congenials are now the "Idle Rich." What next? No sooner to meet than name is changed with this set of merry matrons. What's in a name any way?

De Wolf Hopper Puts Little Son to Work

De Wolf Hopper's infant son, who through his parentage, has become known in all civilized sections of the world and in a few barbarian circles, has been converted into a film actor. He makes his initial appearance in support of his pater in the latest Triangle Fine Arts production, "Sunshine Dad," showing at the Hippodrome Wednesday and Thursday.

William Hopper, Jr., who recently entered his ninth month of existence on earth, is a perfect picture of health. Having inherited his father's masterful disposition, he insisted that his four-wheeled perambulator also made its debut in "Sunshine Dad." It so happens that father and son play together in all of William, Jr.'s scenes, so it makes a sort of Hopper reunion.

Director Edward Dillon is responsible for the engagement of William, Jr. He felt that the scenes of father and son would add a touch of naturalness to the production.

The child will receive the usual remuneration for his work, and with it the cautious father will start a juvenile bank account to keep him in his old age.

SAFETY-FIRST MEN HAD GOOD MEETINGS IN WACO, THEY SAY

The "First Aid to the Injured" and the "Safety First" meetings which have been held in Waco during the past two days, with Commissioner of Safety A. A. Krause of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway, Dr. E. S. Greene of the American Red Cross society, and others, participating as the principal speakers, came to an end yesterday afternoon, the session taking rank as the best meetings which have been held in this district.

Commissioner Krause will leave at 8:10 this morning for DeLeon and Walnut Springs, where similar meetings will be held. At 9:30 yesterday morning there was held in the local Chamber of Commerce rooms the general safety committee meeting of the Texas Central, Waco and Bell Meade committee, with thirty or more present. A. E. Rankin, agent at Albany, presided, while A. C. Beckton, Waco agent of the Katy, was secretary. Commissioner A. A. Krause used the time to 11 o'clock in explaining further the safety movement and its workings, and the morning was considered profitably spent.

At 11 o'clock those present went to the Queen theatre, where families of some of those railroad people preceded them, and there was witnessed the picture which has been prepared specially for such gatherings, entitled "The House That Jack Built." This was a practical and indisputable object lesson in the need for safety work.

The safety committee at 12:30 went to the Raleigh hotel, on invitation of Superintendent J. W. Evens of the Texas Central, and had a delightful lunch. The committee expressed their appreciation of the courtesy of Superintendent Evens.

One of the most profitable and instructive sessions of the entire gathering was held in the afternoon at 1:30 at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, at which time Dr. E. S. Greene of the American Red Cross society spent an hour explaining this work, and all who heard him were deeply interested. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in discussion of safety-first in the Texas Central district.

At 2:20 Commissioner A. A. Krause and Dr. E. S. Greene spoke at the fourth ward public school building, and were accorded an earnest hearing.

The meeting at Waco, from all standpoints, was rated as one of the very best yet held in the state.

Bids Will Be Opened May 4 for New Ward School Building

Plans and specifications have been completed and bids are to be opened on May 4 on the new ward school building which the Waco school board will have erected at Twenty-fifth and Bosque Boulevard.

If the contract is let at that time the work will be started very shortly thereafter, and if the letting of the contract is delayed a few days thereafter the school will soon be under way, anyhow, and will have been completed in ample time for the opening of the fall term of the public schools.

The building will be two stories high, of pleasing architecture, and will fill a real want in that section of Waco.

Railroad Man Says Waco Business Holds Its Own All the Time

"Waco is without doubt one of the most solid places I visit, and is holding up better than practically any city in Texas under the strain which has been put upon the country by abnormal conditions," said W. L. Holder, tax and land commissioner of the I. & G. N. railroad, while here yesterday.

Mr. Holder said that he traveled about over the state a great deal, and that he had always been struck by Waco's solidity, but that the present conditions had been a wonderful exhibition of business strength and preparedness. The country round about Waco he regards as second to none anywhere, and he thinks that the manufacturing, jobbing and other inherent resources of this city are now beginning to develop properly.

The visitor is one of the best posted business men in the state, and his view is worth something, being very heartening and encouraging.

Another Ford Car Is Stolen From Downtown

The third Ford car within almost as many days was stolen yesterday in broad daylight near the interurban station on Fourth street. The car belonged to Clem E. Connally, 2424 Bosque Boulevard, and was taken between 8 and 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The car bore No. 3378.

Masked Woman Mystifies Police--Claims She Is a Student of Human Nature

Either for the purpose of attracting attention and securing the consequent advertisement therefrom; to protect her complexion while traveling, or to serve some other somewhat occult purpose, a woman appeared at the passenger station of the railroads at Fourth and Mary streets a few days ago wearing a black mask, this mask being so complete that her features were entirely obscured from view, and even her nose was in a complete state of occultation and not even the tip was visible.

Officers who saw her talked about compelling her to leave off the mask, but after investigating were convinced that the face covering was for some purpose which, while probably not entirely practical, was yet harmless. The woman, who did not give her name, said that she lived in Richmond, Va., and was a student of human nature and a lecturer; her propaganda seemed to be directed against woman suffrage and the general attitude of many women of today as regards their appearance in public and participation in questions which bring them into public view. She inveighed very strongly, in conversation at the depot, against women taking any prominent part in matters outside of the home and the looking after the husbands and children; incidentally, she let it be known that she believed in the theory of soul transmigration, and her views from a standpoint of metempsychosis were freely and glibly spoken.

She went from Waco to New Braunfels, presumably to lecture and to carry on her study of human nature and her propaganda against the woman's movement of the day.

Uncorralled Bull-Moosers To Meet in Waco on May 23

The "unharmonized" and "unamalgamated" members of the progressive party in Texas, including members of the executive committee, will hold their state convention in the blue room of the city hall at Waco on May 23, according to arrangements completed yesterday afternoon by Mayor John Dollins and Secretary E. F. Drake of the Chamber of Commerce, and the executive committee of the party will meet here on May 22, a day ahead of the convention.

The letter containing this information was received yesterday by Mayor John Dollins, who immediately set about arranging for the gathering, and got in touch with Secretary Drake of the Chamber of Commerce, with the result that the blue room was tendered for the convention, and if it should prove inadequate a larger auditorium will be in readiness.

The letter in question was from J. M. McCormack, chairman of the executive committee of the progressives in Texas, whose home is in Dallas, and he was notified of the arrangements made at Waco for the meetings. The executive committee of the progressives is composed exclusively of white men, while it was stated that practically all delegates to the convention will be white. It was stated in the letter that several hundred will attend.

Prominent members of the republican party in Texas and of the progressive element of the opposition to the democrats met recently in Dallas and Houston, and resolved to harmonize and amalgamate, putting aside their differences and engaging in a common effort to win success in the contests for office this year, but the meeting which is called for Waco indicates that there is still some difference which must be threshed out.

The republicans and the progressives who have decided to harmonize will hold their state convention in Fort Worth on the same date, May 23, and contesting delegations to the national convention may result.

SHAKESPEARE CLUB TO DEDICATE QUAY PARK SUNDAY, MAY 7

Quay Memorial park, the first beauty spot to add to the already picturesque river driveway, will be formally christened on Sunday, May 7, by the Waco Shakespeare club. A tablet honoring the late S. J. Quay, for many years superintendent of the Waco city waterworks, and a fountain and other appropriate ornamental features have been completed by the club. With the trees, grass, walks and fountain added to the natural beauty of the location, the park makes a very attractive spot which will be enhanced by other improvements through the years. Members of the water board have signified their willingness to be responsible for the upkeep of the park. The plot is back of the filtration plant on the driveway.

The program, which will consist of music, speakers and christening exercises, is being arranged by the committee which has had details of the park in charge, consisting of Mrs. J. M. Hale, Mrs. J. W. Downs and Mrs. J. P. Carpenter. Representatives of the club, the water board and the city commission will be on the program of dedication. The hour for beginning the exercises has been set at 4 p. m.

Editor Senter Speaks Sunday Evening at Central Christian

Special efforts are being made by Rev. F. N. Calvin, pastor of the Central Christian church, to advertise the services at his church on Washington street next Sunday evening, at which time the audience will be addressed by Editor E. G. Senter of the Waco Morning News.

"Why Every Ambitious Young Man and Young Woman Should Be a Christian" is the theme chosen by Editor Senter, and the service will begin at 8 o'clock. The public is invited to attend, and the service is expected to be of special interest to the young men and young women of Waco.

HALF FARE BECOMES EFFECTIVE THURSDAY

The children of Waco will be able to get on the street cars at any time, day or night, after Thursday of next week, pay a fare of 2½c and ride to their destination, according to the city ordinance which was passed at the regular meeting of the city commission April 20.

This applies to children up to 12 years of age, or rather between the ages of 5 and 12 years, as up to 5 years of age they do not have to pay any fare at all. Children between the ages of 12 and 17 years will be able to go to and from school for 2½c, provided they purchase the books which are to be had at the corner of Washington and Fourth streets, at the station; these books are good on school days, but not on Sunday.

The passage of the 2½c fare measure was due largely to the efforts of Mayor John Dollins and of Commissioner Ben C. Richards, these two men having been champions of the measure in the form in which it passed the commission; Commissioner W. H. Cockcroft favored passage of the ordinance, but wanted an amendment providing for the purchase of books or tickets at designated points, while the two new commissioners, J. F. Stampp and J. D. Harlow, voted for the ordinance as written, after they had studied it for a week in order to try and and be fair to all concerned.

Suggests Meeting to Discuss Theft of Autos in City

"Matters have reached a point in Waco where steps must be taken to get at the parties who are stealing autos here, for the situation is a serious one for the owners of cars," said Dr. J. T. Harrington yesterday.

"I think it would be well to have a meeting, organize and see what we can do to assist the officers, for they have a great problem on hand and one in which the citizens are interested as well as the officers. It doesn't make any difference what the organization is called, but it should be formed, and every effort made to apprehend the guilty parties; rewards should be offered, co-operation secured between the car owners, and other plans worked out for mutual protection."

Dr. Harrington had his auto stolen Saturday night. Another car was taken the same night.

Waco Episcopalians Will Attend Council

There will be several delegates going from Waco to the Episcopal council at Houston, which begins May 10 with Bishop George H. Kinsolving presiding, the probabilities being that the meetings will continue for three days.

Rector W. P. Witsell of St. Paul's church will probably go down to Houston a little ahead of the others who will go, and among others likely to attend the council meeting are Messrs. C. L. Johnson, A. J. Dossett and Baker Hoskins.

The Woman's Auxiliary, a missionary organization, will meet at the same time in Houston, and this will take several Waco women to the Bayou City.

Sessions of the Episcopal council will be held in Christ church.

DONE UNTO ME.

(Matthew 25:34-40.)

Then shall the king say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world. For I was an hungered, and ye gave me meat; I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink; I was a stranger, and ye took me in; naked, and ye clothed me. I was sick, and ye visited me. I was in prison and ye came unto me.

Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungered, and fed thee, or thirsty, and gave thee drink. When saw we thee a stranger, and took thee in, or naked and clothed thee. Or when saw we thee sick, or in prison, and came unto thee?

And the king shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me.

WACO HAS THE HOTEL FACILITIES.

The formal inaugural of a new career is announced by the management of the Hotel Raleigh, to be celebrated with a social function on May 1st. This event is a reminder to the state that Waco is now in a position to entertain all guests, from any quarter and in any style. Hotel facilities are essential to the industrial success of the modern city. Waco is ready to entertain the world, whether it comes singly, in pairs, or in convention array.

A UNIQUE DISTINCTION FOR GOV. COLQUITT.

When the issue first came between the administration and the Kaiser's government, Mr. Taft was one of the first to uphold the president's hands. The republican leaders in congress gave their silent, and some of them their cordial support. Even Roosevelt had no criticism to offer.

The temptation to play politics with big issues is seductive during a campaign year. It is to the credit of all parties that in the face of a world-wide conflict, and its constant menace to us, there has been a temporary lull in partisan politics.

There is, however, one discordant note. Texas, we are sorry to say, has furnished it.

To a former governor of this state, O. B. Colquitt, falls the unique distinction of seeking to inflame the resentment and engage the influence of those whom he supposes to be more attached to a foreign state than to his own country in order that he may thereby secure their support for his political aspirations.

By the way, Oscar, why not try Zapata? He's ready for anything new in the way of a war dance.

To the New York World: Can you tell us what Koeble said?

Judge Riddle has hit the senatorial trail and is stepping lively. Remember Ridder, Judge, and keep your typewriter under your vest.

Anyway, Governor Colquitt is entitled to the appointment of Minister Plenipotentiary and Ambassador Extraordinary to—well, where?

Colquitt to Koeble: "I wish you would also see W. E. Ismann, and talk with him." Can anybody guess what the governor wanted Koeble to talk to Ismann about?

Colquitt to Koeble: "I hope that I am not asking too much in requesting that you see Mr. Ridder and enlist his friendly aid."

Don't mention it, Governor, ask on; ask on.

If it be really true that Obregon and Carranza have indulged in a fist fight, the First Chief would do well to lasso himself to the American column instead of trying to get it out of Mexico.

St. Louis points with pride to its conservation of babies by the use of pure milk. What an infantile paradise St. Louis would be if it would only advance a step further and try buttermilk.

Colquitt to Koeble: "Mr. Henry has no chance to win, but is trying to make headway with the German-American vote."

Why don't you get out of the way, Mr. Henry, and give a real race-horse a chance?

WALL STREET FOR ROOSEVELT.

How does Wall street stand is always an interesting question. The Financial World, a New York organ of finance, has sounded 1100 members of the New York Stock Exchange, and has returns from more than 28 per cent of the membership of the Exchange. The vote is Root, 107; Roosevelt, 96; Hughes, 70; Wilson, 20; Theo Burton, 10; J. H. Weeks, 3; Taft, 1; socialist, 1; Henry Ford, 1; General Wood, 1.

The disclosure as to Roosevelt moves the World to say:

"With regard to Roosevelt's vote the gain he makes is remarkable in that it gains over 200 per cent over the vote he received from the Exchange members in 1912. Taft and Wilson men are for him this year in goodly number. The return to 'Teddy' is indicative of the love of 'action,' which Wall street likes, even if it doesn't help their markets at all times. Just what Wall street expects to get from Roosevelt should he be elected president is not quite clear, except that there has been a general understanding that since Roosevelt held the famous conference a few months ago with Judge Gary of the Steel Trust and other industrial magnates at the home of Robert Bacon, partner of J. P. Morgan & Co., the old hatreds engendered in Roosevelt's former administrations have been largely dissipated and mutual understandings resorted as between the candidate and 'Big Business.' Roosevelt is for Big Business if it is righteous, and that is what Wall street likes. Then, too, the Stock Exchange is stronger for Roosevelt this year because they see a ghost of Germany hovering about and Roosevelt, the militarist, will, they think, be able to cope with it."

Governor Ferguson didn't have a copy of that Koeble letter when the Gridiron banquet was pulled off at Houston, but in the light of subsequent events what he said there sounds like a premonitory symptom that he knew it was coming.

The district court has been in session at Columbus, and several euphonious Spanish names figure in the list routed for the gallows on account of the Villa raid. It is amazing to a Mexican patriot to observe what may happen to a truly good citizen when he strays beyond the border.

Mr. Cato Sells will not be a candidate to succeed himself as the Texas member of the Democratic National Committee. Friends of the administration should see to it that his successor truly represents the sentiment of approval which Texas democrats give the policies of the president.

Judge Batts of Austin calls the Baconian theory "an amusing literary joke, so cleverly conceived as to make converts among every class of readers except those who have read Shakespeare and Bacon." Fine him ten dollars for contempt, Judge Tuthill.

For personal reasons, democrats will regret that Mr. McCombs will not serve as chairman of the Democratic National Committee during the next campaign. There is no occasion, however, to fear that the office will not be filled by a competent man. In fact, the committee could get along pretty well four years longer with only an office boy and a janitor.

Mexican bandits are breaking up into small bands and their predatory raids will continue until most of them are killed. Diaz met a problem of this sort soon after his revolutionary movement was successful by sending for the chiefs of the banditti and offering them the choice between becoming policemen for him or extermination. They chose his service, and thus originated the rurale force, which was his chief agency for the pacification of Mexico. If Carranza is wise, he will follow this precedent.

By-the-By

An East Texas exchange says of a candidate for the legislature: "He is quiet, gentlemanly, but determined." Try him with a meat-axe, and if he makes good, put him in the race for speaker.

The rising tide of the peanut industry in Texas is enough to make a Georgia cracker forget that he has a watermelon tooth.

The May fudget will soon succeed the Easter budget.

A Galveston News recipe for chicken pie is thus qualified:

"The exact time for cooking is very hard to give, as the condition and age of the chicken must determine this, but it should always be plunged in actively boiling water, brought again to the boiling point and then very slowly simmered until tender."

That's all right for a well-behaved young hen, but if you are dealing with a veteran rooster, first boil him, then boil the water, then boil them both together, then apply the hand-saw, then boil some more; then let the compound simmer, and, finally, feed it to the office cat.

Lillian Russell insists that beauty is a misfortune. Still, it is an expense that can be dropped whenever the average beauty wishes to shake the misfortune.—George Bailey in Houston Post.

Rosalee is snaggle-tooth! Her front teeth are gone!
She looked like an angel once, smiling in the dawn,
But her smile is now a grin, full of rowdy-dow;
Rosalee, the angel-child, is a human now,
Filled with every happiness, filled with every glee—
You should have looked down at her when she grinned at me!
Should have seen the mischief and happiness of youth—
Children are plum lovable when they're snaggle-tooth!

And you oughter see me run when she snaps that snag,

And I know what's comin' when that tooth begins to wiggle.)

Texas Co. Intervenes in I. & G. N. Suit

Houston, April 25.—The Texas company, claiming $561,549.13 due from the International and Great Northern railway, filed intervention proceedings in the United States court here today asking an injunction to prevent the road's issuance of $1,400,000 receiver's certificates to meet payment on outstanding bonds. The hearing is set for tomorrow morning.

How to Look Years Less Than Your Age

The most aged face will look years younger after the use of ordinary mercolized wax for from ten days to two weeks. This remarkable substance, because of its peculiar absorptive power, actually removes the thin veil of faded or withered outer cuticle a little at a time. Gradually the fresher, more youthful skin underneath is revealed. This absorption process being a purely hygienic one; an entirely natural complexion is acquired—quite different from the artificial complexion, which appears anything but girlish, though often bearing painful evidence of childishness. An ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to rejuvenate any complexion. It is put on like cold cream at bedtime, and removed mornings with warm water.

To eradicate such age marks as wrinkles and furrows, make a wash lotion by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt witch hazel. This has wonderful astringent and tonic properties. It quickly effaces all kinds of wrinkles, no matter how caused, making the skin firm, smooth and young looking.

Board of Tax Equalization for Marlin Named—Knights of Pythias Elect.

Special to the Morning News.

Marlin, April 25.—Dr. Aycock of Rosebud was in Marlin this morning looking into good roads data and into estimates which were recently made for the Precinct Number One Farmers' Good Roads association for the roads in this precinct with a view to encouraging the voting of a bond issue for the Rosebud precinct.

Those in charge of the work of getting the $500,000 bond issue voted in this precinct expect to have their petitions out within the next few days, and will have the election called as soon as possible.

At a special meeting of the city council this morning W. L. Wood, C. G. Cooley and Frank Oakes were appointed on the board of tax equalization for this year. They will begin their work with the tax rolls as soon as the rolls are completed.

The Marlin Knights of Pythias at their meeting last night conferred the rank of page on fifteen candidates. During the business part of the meeting, J. R. Lockerd was elected representative to the grand lodge meeting in Dallas and B. J. Miller representative to the meeting of the keepers of the record and seals in Dallas at the same time the grand lodge meets.

The following Waco people are registered at local hotels: O. A. Maxwell, I. M. Bass and A. L. Ulinston.

As the close of the revival services being conducted in this city by Rev. L. E. Finney for the Baptist church draws near, the interest is becoming more intense and numbers are signifying their intentions to lead better lives.

Evangelist Finney has been delivering several impressive illustrated sermons in a very original manner, which have been exciting much interest and favorable comment. The work of the meeting has spread until prayer meetings are being held daily in about ten places and two to three services are being conducted daily in the vacant department store building which is being used for the purposes of a tabernacle.

Gus Clayton, the negro shot by Joe Norwood, a white man, last Wednesday night, died from his wounds this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Norwood was arrested again on a charge of murder, but was released under bond to await the action of the grand jury, after waiving examining trial.

Special to the Morning News.

Itasca, April 26.—Waterworks improvement bonds amounting to $6000 were retired at a special meeting of the city council yesterday. The bonds were issued in 1899 and will not be due until 1938. Only $6500 additional bonds are outstanding and when these are retired the city will have paid for a waterworks system worth about $40,000. Following the present retirement of bonds, an additional bond issue, already authorized, of $15,000 will be sold for the purpose of installing a sewer system.

The cattle range is in splendid shape and cattle have wintered better than ever known in this section, there being no loss and cattle of all ages are in good flesh.

Austin, April 25.—Attorney General B. F. Looney left today for Washington to appear before the United States supreme court in the so-called Crane company case, wherein the state of Texas is defendant. Several hundred thousand dollars annually will be lost by the state should the law be held invalid.

Man on Trial Dies of Heart Failure

Special to the Morning News.

Meridian, April 25.—J. S. Graves, who was placed on trial here yesterday, died at his home in Clifton last night. Graves was charged with assault to murder Rufus Clements at Clifton last February. He entered the store in which Clements was working and fired several shots at him with an automatic shotgun. Clements secured a revolver and fired five shots, two taking effect, striking Graves in the abdomen. Graves was just recovering when placed on trial. Last night after court was dismissed he went home on the 8 o'clock train and died after reaching home.

Sensational Charge in Miller Trial

By the Associated Press.

Sherman, April 25.—With tears in her eyes and at times almost sobbing, Miss Luda Kidwell of Anna, testifying today at the trial of her sister, Mrs. Florence Miller, charged with the murder of her husband, Jeff Miller, told of suggestions she alleged Miller made to the witness and defendant several weeks prior to the killing, which occurred here on July 26, last. She was the first witness called in the case, the jury having been completed yesterday.

According to Miss Kidwell's testimony, Miller had urged both women to follow immoral lives in Sherman.

State Wins Orient Case.

By the Associated Press.

Austin, April 25.—A telegram was received today by Attorney General Looney advising that the United States supreme court had, on the motion of the state, dismissed the case of the State against the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railway, thereby sustaining the state's contention. The constitution of Texas provides that when a railroad builds its tracks within three miles of the county seat it must build to the county seat. The state sued the Orient for mandatory injunction to compel the building of its tracks into Sherwin, Irion county. The company refused on the grounds of physical difficulties. The state courts held that such difficulties did not exist and today's action of the United States supreme court sustains this contention. Penalty in the sum of $2,500 is also recovered.

Local Deaths

Mrs. Orpha Tong.

Funeral services of Mrs. Orpha Tong, aged 38, who died yesterday morning at a local sanitarium, were held yesterday afternoon from the parlors of the F. M. Compton Undertaking company, Rev. J. M. Dawson, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating. Interment was at Park Lawn cemetery.

Mrs. Tong and her husband, F. W. Tong and three daughters, moved here last Saturday from Aransas Pass. They resided in Mexico until the recent Mexican disturbances.

Mrs. J. M. Brown.

Telegrams were received in Waco yesterday afternoon telling of the death in Denver, Colorado, yesterday of Mrs. J. M. Brown, nee Miss Ida Thompson of Waco, and profound sorrow was caused by the news.

Mrs. Brown was a daughter of Mrs. T. B. Thompson of Waco and had two brothers here, J. M. and W. B. Thompson, and a sister also lives here, Mrs. Tom Hollon, wife of Deputy County Tax Assessor Tom Hollon. Mrs. Hollon was called to Denver by the illness of her sister and has been there since April 5. Mrs. Brown leaves, beside the stricken husband, three children. They had been living in Denver for the last seven or eight years, going from Fort Worth to Colorado.

Former Waco Man Has Invented Safety Arm for Chauffeurs

An auto safety signal, invented by A. D. Alessandro, a former Wacoan, but now of Houston, has made its appearance in Waco. The invention consists of a red arm that shows to the traffic behind the equipped car and to pedestrians that the driver is going to turn or slow down. Many cars of Houston are said to be equipped with the device and its inventor claims that it will help to cut down the number of accidents and collisions which the heavy auto traffic has caused. The inventor is a brother of Prof. V. Alessandro of this city.

One hundred and fifty members of the Working Boys' Sunday school were given a banquet at the Y. M. C. A. last night by the City Federation of Wesleyan classes. In addition to the festivities which were enjoyed by the federation members and the boys alike, the federation held its semi-annual business session while the boys enjoyed the games and sports that had been arranged for their pleasure.

B. B. Byus was chosen as president of the citywide organization; Miss Mary Hester, vice president; Miss Irene Helmrich, secretary, and Oscar Steel, treasurer. Something like 150 members of the federation were in attendance.

Valuables Stolen by Burglar Caught in Denver Returned

Seven watches, two gold barpins, a lavalier, a pair of earscrews and a stickpin have been received by Chief of Police Guy McNamara from the chief at Denver, Colo., as the major part of the loot gleaned by a burglar who operated in Waco several months ago and who was captured in Colorado recently. The burglar is thought to have been the same one who entered the Robert Leftwich home on North Fifth street shortly before Christmas and held a gun on Mr. Leftwich, while he ransacked for valuables.

Chief Detective Hall was busy yesterday afternoon finding the addresses of the homes from which the jewelry was taken. The police department asks that those who lost the jewelry call at headquarters and and identify same.

Twenty Cases in City Court for Violation of Traffic Laws

Indicating the pressure that the traffic officer and the city recorder are putting on violations of the traffic ordinances, twenty cases were tried before Corporation Judge George W. Cole yesterday morning. Many of the offenders were hailed in the city court for a violation of the provisions of the ordinance relating to rear lights on cars, and others were for speeding and for using cardboard numbers instead of something more substantial.

With this worked out harmoniously it is believed the street will be one of the prettiest in that section of Waco.

Sporting Comment

The Stonebusters again today.

Incidentally, in the excitement, Jesse James batted .500.

Postmaster McCullom says he'll take his rooting in installments from now on—that he don't want it all at once.

Joe Martina is now getting his bumps in the Southern. There's an old saying about riding a good horse to death.

Uncle Jawn McGraw has already started getting chased off the field. Too bad the way the umps pick on Jawn's nine.

Ogle blew up in the ninth and the Buffs won. The Professor seems to have added a couple of innings this year. Last season he usually blew up in the seventh.

Fentress seems to be losing his rabbit's foot. He let Dallas beat him yesterday. Fort Worth fans admit he gets started slow, but they must be hoping secretly that he don't make it too slow.

Nunamaker did some fancy swatting yesterday. The Yankee catcher got a triple, a two-bagger and two singles out of four times up. That'll keep Walters on the bench another week, sure.

Waco in third place this morning, a half game behind Shreveport and a full game behind Galveston. Chances look good for taking the lead today. Zinn probably will be called on to turn the trick.

Another thing enjoyable about the game was the umpiring of Vitter. The arbiter never had a question raised by any player except Conwell. "Irish" remonstrated over a called strike and the umps gave him the five sign.

Waco fans have seen both Dallas and Shreveport play. Some of them cannot understand how the Gassers did it, judging from their form on the local diamond. "Just like they did last year" begins to look like the real dope on 'em.

Jesse James has added Sid Smith to his list of victims. The other two were Lee Garvin and Daddy Meeks. Sid was victimized yesterday when he clouted a screamer (good stuff, that "screamer") to right. Jess tore in on it and by a fast throw to first got the straining Gasser foreman by his eyelash.

Buddy Tanner was in a hot spot yesterday, making six assists, one of which was as pivot in a lightning double, with Mal shining on the other end. A peculiarity of the game was the fact that the first Gasser in the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh innings grounded out, Tanner to Wohlleben. He also retired the first out in the third, Conwell forcing Hiett at second.

James also attempted to beat Bernsen out of a hit in the third by sliding on his nose for a line drive. He missed it just an eighth of a half inch. That's just about how far Conwell missed Becker's hit 'n the fifth. In fact, in some places the scorers might almost have stretched a point and given errors on both chances. Of course, right afterwards they could have retired to the storm cellars, and Lefty would have added a hitless game to his string.

WACO-----3 GASSERS---1

LEFTY HILL HOLDS STONE-BUSTERS TO TWO MIGHTY SCRATCHY HITS.

CONWELL KEEPS ON HITTING

Only One Run Scored by Sid's Men and That Came Without a Bingle.

A FABLE.

There was once a Gang of Stonebusters who Bulled through their work by Main Strength and Awkwardness. They got along fine and dandy. Every Big One they came to they easily made into Little Ones. It was really a Cinch.

They actually had the Populace believing they were the Real Noise. Whenever this Gang came upon a hard-looking stone, they yawned with Stonebuster's ennui, took a couple of swipes at the hard-looking one and lo it went bust.

But—

One day they struck a Snag. They bumped into a real Hard One. The First Stonebuster yawned, swung his Big Hammer and cracked at the stone. It wasn't there. He looked surprised. Then he took another bust at it. This time he hit, but it rolled out from under his hammer, unbusted.

"Hey, Bill," he called to the nearest comrade, "looky yere—I done found me a stone I can't bust."

"Lemme attim," came the lusty response. But the Comrade also slipped up.

Then they two of 'em called up the Big Boss and he chided them most ungently for their lack of skill with the Hammer.

"Watch me bust 'er," he said. So they all gathered around to watch the Big Boss bust 'er. But he did no bustin', because the Stone was too tough a Nut for the Main Strength and Awkwardness game.

MORAL—Old-time Main Strength and Awkwardness is obsolete; it takes Science to bust some Rocks.

The Navs evidently succeeded in getting all the boots out of their systems in the Monday game, for they resumed the even tenor of their way yesterday.

That about tells the story, for when the old Nav machine hits its gait the Gassers have about as much chance to beat them as a Waco movie has to keep open on Sunday.

Of course there were some incidentals: Cliff Hill recovered from a bad start and made the mighty Gasser hitters look like a band of Villistas capturing Washington. Lefty had worked only Saturday, but he didn't let that bother him any. He just slammed 'em in there and they hit at 'em three times and missed 'em or else they hit easy ones at some of Lefty's helpers. Hyder Barr was one of the most surprised humans in the world. He'd vow all sorts of do-or-die things, stick his spikes down in the native soil like George Leidy does, back off a couple of steps, get all ready, swing straight and even and level—and never even get a foul. He got exactly nine resultless swings in his four times at bat and the only thing that kept him striking out three times was Hill accidentally hit Barr's bat when the batter was dodging one on the inside corner; Mal caught the accidental fly. Barr's troubles are only mentioned as an instance of how Hill had the gang on his hip. The only hard ball hit in the game by a Gasser was a terrific line drive by Smith 'to right field that was so fast Jesse James threw the Gasser foreman out at first.

Of course Hill had a lot of help. While no sensational work was done, the Nav machine just plugged along with deadly precision. Tanner was the center of the enemy's fire and he returned a winner every time he was called on. Mal started one of his nifty doubles; Jesse James made a couple of fairly hard chances look easy—in fact the Navs were working in regular fashion. That tells it.

GASSERS SCORE WITHOUT A HIT IN FIRST.

Lefty didn't have his range adjusted properly right at the start, walking the first two men up in the initial frame. These two—Becker and Diamond—were shoved around by a sacrifice and the first scored on a fielder's choice—Barr hitting one to Tanner and being retired at first.

It has been said recently that the worst thing that can happen to the opposition in Navville is to get a run in the first inning. There must be more truth than Durham in the statement, for it worked out perfectly yesterday. Bittle, opened with a single in Waco's half of the first. Coyle attempted a hit and run, but flied out to right. Conwell, who had made eight hits out of his last nine times at bat in previous games, hit the first ball pitched for a triple into the clubhouse corner, scoring Bittle. With Conwell on third, James was walked. Tanner pulled the bunting end of a nice squeeze, Barr throwing to the plate after Conwell had crossed it. Malmquist hit to Kneaves and with Knaupp as the pivot the side was retired on a fast double play.

After that it was only a question of how many hits Lefty would allow. He was a trifle wild, but always steadied in time to make his man hit the ball somewhere. In fact about the main interest of the crowd was centered in the antics of an exhuberant rooter who put as much pep into his rooting as though he had nine dollars or six-bits bet on the game.

Waco's other run was batted in by Conwell. Bittle started the third by drawing a walk and was advanced by a single, with Coyle on the shoving-around end as usual. Conwell hit a fast grounder past third base for the blow that registered Bittle. After James had flied out to left, Tanner hit into another double.

The interest of the crowd for a time was divided between the afore-mentioned exhuberant rooter and a question as to what Conwell was going to do on his next trip up. On his third appearance he popped up a dinky fly to shortstop just like an ordinary ball player. However, on his fourth trip up he led off the eighth inning with a clean single to left and stole second. In this inning the Navs got three men on with nobody out as the result of a walk by James and an error by Diamond. But Conwell was thrown out at the plate on Malmquist's grounder to Eaves, Wohlleben flied out to right and Reilly grounded out to Knaupp.

Four Straight Wins Now Hill's Record

CLIFF HILL.

Holding the Gassers to a couple of bingles yesterday, Lefty Hill annexed his fourth straight victory of the season. The principal reason that he has won only four games is that he has twirled in only that number. On the second day of the season, Hill shut out Fort Worth, 2 to 0. He again beat the Panthers here, 4 to 3, and took the Giants' measure, 2 to 1.

THIRD BASEMAN CONWELL.

Conwell popped up to the infield yesterday. Outside of that, he has garnered seventeen hits out of the last twenty-one times up. In the last three games, Conwell has hit eleven times out of thirteen times, the other exception being on Monday when Umpire Vitter called him out on what looked very much like a ball from the press box. In the last five games, Conwell has been hitting at an .810 stride. Since the season opened, he has hit twenty-five times out of fifty, for an average of .500. And when last he came to bat yesterday he still had his batting eye.

Volley Ball Teams Have Banquet at State House

In the New State House dining room last night, seventeen teams of the twenty men that played in the last schedule of volley ball games at the Y. M. C. A., sat down to one of Mr. Seley's suppers, and thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Several of the men were called upon to give some remarks along these lines:

Mr. Morrow, "Team Work;" Mr. Goldberg, "What I've Got Out of Volley Ball;" Mr. Redman, who surprised the players recently with an original poem, again came to the front with a short poem, that treated in a verse, each team as they stood in the league at the wind up.

Mr. Dupree and Mr. Redman were selected as a committee to place the players in the new league on teams, and to make these teams as even as possible in ability. Dr. H. E. Hoke, L. S. Gardner and Clint Padgett were the new men to be selected and placed on these teams.

It was decided at the banquet that whenever any team was scheduled to play no matter whether they had one or all of their men present, it was up to them to start the game and not wait for their other men to come. This new schedule is to last for 30 games, and the two winning teams will eat with the losers at the latter's expense. The personnel of the new teams are as follows:

Team No. 1.—Eason, Dupree, Manton, Fitzpatrick, Murray.

Team No. 2.—Siebel, Goldberg, Gus Knebel, Hicks, Brandt.

Team No. 3.—Morrow, Redman, Rogers, Ben Knebel, Hunter, Padgett.

Team No. 4.—Gay, Jones, Blair, Lagow, Hoke, Gardner.

No captain for these teams were selected las tnight, because each team will on Friday night elect their own captain.

At the regular meeting Friday night at 6:15, Team No. 1 will play Team No. 2; at 6:30 Team No. 2 will play Team No. 4.

PRESIDENT OPENS BASEBALL SEASON

President throwing first ball in opening game at Washington.

The national capital would not feel that its baseball season had been properly inaugurated unless the president of the United States attended the game and threw out the first ball. The opening of the home season came on the heels of the president's important message to congress on the German submarine issue and it was announced the night before the game that Mr. Wilson could not attend. He made a special effort to go, however, and saw Washington win the opener.

Hell Is Not a Place With Champagne and Chorus Girls

In his sermon on "What We Know About Hell," preached at the First Baptist church last night, Dr. H. H. Hulten made it very plain that Christ taught the doctrine of a literal hell. "However," said Dr. Hulten, "we have read Dante into our Bibles too much. So much so that we have made the doctrine grotesque. As orthodox Baptists, we indeed believe in a literal hell, but do not let us get away from the Scriptures in our endeavor to make it plain to others.

"Too many preachers say that hell is filled with poker chips, champagne and chorus girls. What more could a bad boy want than that? That is heaven enough to him."

Dr. Hulten pictured the rich man as living in a mansion, beautiful and luxuriant. Just outside the palace lay the beggar, Lazarus. But when the rich man ordered the servants to sick the angry dogs on Lazarus the dogs proved to be the friends of the beggar, and licked his sores. "If you want a real friend, get a dog," he said. "He'll stick closer than a man every time. But when the rich man died his soul went to hell. When the beggar died his soul went to heaven.

"This parable, if it is a parable, gives us the most awful picture of hell. But Jesus taught the whole program of God. There are many preachers who stand in our pulpits today and preach the doctrine of Infinite Love, and never touch on the doctrine of future punishment.

"In the Scriptures there are four words from the original that are used to designate what we know as hell. In the Old Testament Hebrew we find the word 'Sheol,' meaning grave. In the New Testament we find the Greek word, 'Gehenna,' meaning the place where fire and smoke ascended constantly, for the burning of the city's refuse. Then the Greek word, 'Hades,' meaning 'Unseen world.' There were two places in Hades, one for the bad and one for the good. Then from the Latin Vulgate we have the word, 'Tartarus,' which the ancient Greeks believed to be a place as far below the earth as the heavens were above.

"Did Jesus merely seek to frighten us by giving us such an awful outlook toward future punishment?" asked the preacher. "No, for we are taught that there is a way to avoid going there.

"God never sent one single soul to hell; it is the logical place for the sinner. The Scriptures tell us that Judas went to his own place.

"If the language of the Bible about hell is figurative, so is the language of the Bible about heaven. How many people want to believe that the language of the Bible about heaven is figurative?

"If hell is not a place of fire and brimstone then it is a place just as bad as fire and brimstone. But the hottest fires in this world are not where the iron is melted, but in the caldrons of sin.

"Everywhere in the Scripture we find future punishment spoken of as eternal. 'And,' said Abraham, 'between thee and me, there is a great guif fixed.' Hence, there is never any passing from hell to heaven.

"We are not called upon to understand God in this, for God says, 'As the heavens are high above the earth, so are my ways above your ways and my thoughts above your thoughts.'

"When Voltaire came to die, he turned to his friend and said, 'I have denied the existence of hell, but now I am going there.'"

At the conclusion Dr. Hulten explained in a beautiful way how Jesus has provided for us to escape His condemnation.

Services each morning at 10 o'clock and evening at 8. Prayer meetings at the church for men and women at 7:30.

¶ CITY NEWS BRIEFS ¶

It transpires that there were a good many telephones put out of commission by the storm of Sunday night. The wind blew harder than most people knew, and limbs which were broken off fell across the telephone wires in some cases, interfering with the transmission of the electric currents or breaking wires altogether.

Lightning struck very close to the residence of Jim Bagby in East Waco Sunday night during the storm, and Mr. Bagby had not been long gone from the place where the stroke made itself felt. Two or three persons who were in the house at the time received a severe shock, but were not really injured.

It was decidedly like unto summer yesterday, and pedestrians were observed looking for the shady side of the street. It has not been long since the sunshine section of the thoroughfare was the one sought, but this is changing.

There have been many revival meetings in Waco in the past several weeks, and the evangelistic campaigns are still in progress. Most of the ministers who have heid these meetings have had good success.

Health conditions are satisfactory in Waco, and the people are co-operating in the work of cleanliness, said Health Commissioner W. H. Cockcroft yesterday. There has been some complaint of the dust on Austin street, incident to the putting down of the new pavement, he said, but this is correcting itself as the pavement solidifies and becomes less dusty daily.

There is still a great deal of cotton in the yards in Waco and at other points in Central Texas. Not much cotton remains in the country, but the yards show a lot of it is still in the hands of parties who are probably holding for a better price. Just what the outcome of the effort to secure this price will be remains to be seen.

Waco clerks, bookkeepers and office men generally are turning their attention as never before towards getting a certain amount of exercise daily. Some are joining the Y. M. C. A., others are getting into ball teams, some are walking to and from their work, and in various ways they are trying to secure the needed use of dormant muscles.

The Methodists of Waco and in fact of McLennan county are looking forward to the district conference at West, which will assemble on April 27 and last two days. Practically all pastors in the county will be present at the gathering, as will many laymen.

The regular weekly meeting of the city commission will be held tomorrow morning. The sessions are generally pretty busy ones, as many matters receive attention.

Wearing a woman's red sweater, a negro man was arrested by Constable Leslie Stegall and Deputy Phil Hobbs at Windy City, on the Robinson road, yesterday morning, on a charge of theft. The negro is said to have stolen a gold watch, a clock, an automatic cigar lighter and some eggs from the home of Henry Owens, who lives near Robinson.

James Lusk, train auditor of the M., K. & T. railroad here, has been transferred to San Antonio, and has already gone to that place. Mr. Lusk has been in Waco about a year and had formed a number of friendships. His successor has not yet been named.

A. L. Upton, 217 Dallas street, received a telegram yesterday morning of the death of his brother, R. L. Upton at Phoenix, Ariz. R. L. Upton was once a prominent mantle man in south Texas. He was engaged in the mining business in Arizona.

County Sunday School Convention to Bring Noted Speakers

The Sunday school workers of McLennan county will enjoy a rare treat when the County Sunday School convention begins in the First Presbyterian church next Friday.

The touring party will consist of noted specialists, including the international field secretary, W. A. Brown of Chicago; Miss Mary F. Price, state secondary superintendent, of Kentucky; Mrs. W. G. Moody, state adult superintendent of Texas; Rev. S. W. Hutton, Southwestern Bible school superintendent of the Christian churches of Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas; Miss Neil Peterman, elementary specialist for the Methodist churches, and William Nehemiah Wiggins, general secretary of the Texas Sunday School association of all denominations, who will have charge of the tour party and program.

Seventy languages are said to be spoken in the ancient city of Tiflis, in Russia.

To Quickly Remove Ugly Hairs From Face

(Beauty Notes.)

Beauty-destroying hairs are soon banished from the skin, with the aid of a delatone paste, made by mixing some water with a little plain powdered delatone. This is pread upon the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed to remove the remaining delatone. This simple treatment banishes every trace of hair and leaves the skin without a blemish. Caution should be used to be certain that it is delatone you buy.

Waco Woodmen Will Assist in Mart Initiations

Approximately 1,000 members are enrolled in the local W. O. W., according to a statement made Monday night when several hundred members of the order celebrated the silver jubilee of Geyser camp No. 6. Several addresses were made telling of the growth of the order.

Members of Geyser City camp will go to Mart May 4 to help confer initiatory degrees on ten candidates of the Mart camp. The Mart camp is reorganizing its teams.

Republican Delegates.

At the beginning of this week there were 538 delegates chosen to the republican national convention out of a total membership of 985. The instructed delegates fall into these groups:

Sherman	58
Fairbanks	48
Cummins	50
Ford	30
La Follette	25
Total	211

Only two states, Nebraska and Montana, choose delegates this week; but next week will be a big one in the selection of the convention's membership, since 120 delegates will then be chosen by Massachusetts, New Jersey, Ohio and Idaho. The Ohio delegates will probably be instructed for Mr. Burton. But watch Ford.—Springfield Republican.

Sure Way To Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

MACCABEES LAUNCH MOVEMENT TO MAKE WACO LODGE CENTER

A movement to get a "Great Camp" of Maccabees in Texas with Waco as the place for the organizing convention and later as the camp headquarters was launched at a meeting of the local Maccabees in their hall at the New Masonic temple last night. It is declared that the Maccabees in Texas are strong enough to have the self-government that comes with the Great Camp and Waco is taking the lead in pushing the movement to a successful consummation. The vote on the project will probably be taken by the various tents over the state at their last regular meeting in May. Should the proposal of a Great Camp carry, which it is declared to be almost certain, Waco will make a pull for the convention that will formally organize the state machinery and also for the permanent location of the organization headquarters.

Woman Applies Gas When Man Attempts to Hold Up Her Auto

A novel and decidedly effective method was recently tried by a woman of this city to remove from in front of her auto a man who stepped out suddenly while she was far out on the Corsicana road, the man signaling for her to stop the machine immediately.

She was driving towards Waco, east of the city several miles, when a man appeared directly in front of her in the road, and swung his arms in a command for her to stop. Frightened by the appearance of the man, and hardly knowing what she was doing, except that she did not propose to stop in the lonesome spot where the white man showed up so suddenly and menacingly, the lady applied the gasoline freely, the machine shot forward like a rocket and whirled towards the man like some juggernaut of destruction. It was up to the man to move or be run down, and he moved, the woman coming on into the city unmolested.

After the incident she grew almost hysterical, thinking of what would have happened if the man had not gotten out of the way in time, but she consoled herself with the thought that she secured results and that no one was injured.

PROTECTION PLANS EAST WACO LEVEES BEING CARRIED OUT

Plans for taking better care of the levee in East Waco are being carried out according to the decision reached recently by the city commission, and City Engineer George Gurley has commenced on the work which is to be done in order to make of the structure a real tower of strength and a wall of protection in times of heavy floods.

The resolution presented by Commissioner Ben Richards, and which passed the commission, provided not only for inspection every ninety days, or oftener if necessary, but also that the cutting of the levee by all parties be stopped, and that it receive attention as needed, and specifically that four corrugated iron houses be built along the line of embankment, two above the old suspension bridge and two below it, these to be filled with sand bags which can be used in preventing a break in times of high water. One of these iron houses has been put in place and the others will be constructed so soon as a storm sewer which cuts into the levee shall have been fixed as it should be.

The levee will receive more attention than it has ever received, it will be kept well sodded with grass and the gopher holes filled up, so that it will present the maximum amount of resistance to the encroachments of the elements.

Waco Parks Are Now Being Made More Beautiful

Beautification touches are being given practically all the parks in Waco just now by Commissioner J. D. Harlow, who is in charge of the parks and cemeteries of the city, and it is hoped to have all these park spots looking good in a short time.

The bandstands, seats, children's playground apparatus, walks and other features of the parks are being inspected and improved, and the general result is expected to be pleasing. At the Edgefield park the old Dr. Owens homestead is being razed, and soon the brick will be piled up and sold; it is thought that there will be fifty to sixty thousand brick in this building, and after they shall have been cleaned they will be marketed.

Barton Is Hopeful Over Outcome of Submission

Dr. A. J. Barton, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Texas, spent yesterday in Waco, and while here talked informally with a number of prohibitionists regarding the outlook for submission, which he regards as most hopeful.

Dr. Barton told friends who inquired regarding his health, as he has only recently recovered from a dangerous attack of typhoid fever, that he had not felt better in a long time; in fact that he seemed to be in the very pink of condition, and was ready for the strenuous work which he believes is ahead in the program which the organization that he heads has mapped out.

He left Waco yesterday afternoon for other points in the state.

Dr. Brooks Was in Waco Yesterday

Dr. S. P. Brooks passed the time in Waco yesterday and the remainder of this week has a very busy program ahead of him.

He will speak in Itasca and Grandview today, and will during the remainder of the week visit the following points to meet speaking dates: Denton, Aubrey, Sanger, Burleson, and will close on Saturday at Hillsboro, spending next Sunday at home in Waco.

Next week he will start out on another round in his senatorial campaign.

SATURDAY IS PIE DAY FOR MOTHERS' CLUB

On next Saturday, we will have a "Pie" day. This means, the Mothers' club of the North Seventh Street school (colored) will appreciate patronage for a delicious pie. Orders may be telephoned, new phone, to the B. J. Keeling residence, North Eighth street. The pies will be delivered at residence, the price being whatever the recipient cares to give. No more picturesque place can be found in all Waco than the slope which leads through bank and dell, under beautiful trees, through the space between the school building and the Sixth street side. By assisting the Mothers' club with their original idea of a "Pie Day" we will also assist in bringing to its possibility for another beauty asset for our city. The writer has tested the pie, and she can say it is delicious.

MISS LENORE HIRSHBERG MARRIES AARON GOLDSTEIN

Seldom has the announcement of a coming marriage elicited the genuine surprise as did that of Miss Lenore Hirshberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Hirshberg of Austin avenue. It had been known, of course, that Miss Hirshberg has been frequent visitor out of the state; it has also been known that she has spent several seasons in and around New York City. But it was not known until she herself sought to tell it that, with autumn, she becomes bride of Aaron M. Goldstein of New York City. It was to her girl friends first to whom Miss Hirshberg gave the pleasurable news. This was in a bridge matinee. Guests greeted and game formed, hands were dealt. In the assortment, Miss Elise Haber spied on the queen of hearts in golden letters the announcement. This called for change of score tallies from plain to more elaborate, two embossed hearts, done by the hostess with her skillful brush, souvenirs of this notable event. Following the last round, game favors were presented to Mrs. Joel Schonneman of Houston and to Miss Bess Long. Two courses was the luncheon service. During it all, congratulations were given Miss Hirshberg and the word of further congratulation sent the absent groom-to-be. Roses and Easter lilies made the room decoration for this eventful game.

HUNDREDS PAY RESPECTS TO MISS GRACE DYER

For the last of her girlhood days, Miss Grace Dyer was claimed by her aunt, Mrs. Z. F. Beasley. Miss Nellie Dancey was second hostess. Invitations were given to several hundred, old friends of the families, including a number from out of town who had gathered for the McGlasson-Dyer wedding. For two hours the house party did duty in welcome, introduction and entertainment. In addition to honoring a bride upon the eve of her wedding day, society met for the first large gathering of the Easter tide. To say that the rooms were abloom with flowers was to speak literally. The gold and white of the Easter lily and calendula was noticed first. In the refreshment room the baby gladiola in delicate pink gave mound over the rich lace table cover as well as height to basket about the room pieces. From the mound the spun crystal butterflies hovered, and at the base tiny lights glowed through pink roses of porcelain. Reception sweets repeated the pink tone. About the room punch cups and sandwiches were handed from sparkling cut glass pieces. Those remaining through the two hours were absorbed, since arrivals were many and in rapid succession. The stringed orchestra sat behind a screen of growing foliage. In addition to the social growth of our city, since both the Dyer and the Beasley names are synonymous with the transition of Waco from cultured village to metropolitan city. It has been many seasons since Mrs. Beasley and her daughter, Mrs. May Beasley Hutcherson, opened their homes to friends en masse, and it was the privilege of these to accept.

As the last call was paid, the men of the wedding party arrived to pass the merry hour with Miss Dyer, her attendants and her guests come from a distance. Remaining with hostesses and their honoree while the hundreds called were the Mesdames Felix Beasley, Edgar Kyser of El Paso, S. C. Red of Houston, C. F. Greenwood of Dallas, Carl Cranz of Fort Worth, Frank Clark, Saffold Beasley, W. W. Seley, Lee Davis, Flora Cameron, Edward Bolton, W. E. COULD NOT LIE ON SIDE

And Had to Sleep With Head High on Pillow on Account of Suffering. Says Cardui Made Her Well.

Laurel, Miss.—Mrs. Martha A. Corbin, R. F. D. 4, of this place, writes: "I am glad to write this letter and you are welcome to use it....in any way you choose.

"I have had a soreness in my side so that I could not lie on it to sleep. The back of my head hurt me a great deal, too, so that I had to lie with my head high on the pillow. Once a month I would have a great deal of backache.... Then I would suffer from dizziness, which would be so bad I could hardly sit up and would have a very queer feeling in my head. The neighbors all advised me to have a doctor, but I had heard a great deal of Cardui and decided to take that. I swelled a great deal, too.... When that first began on me I would want to stretch and when I would stretch, the pain would run to my hips and shoulders.

"But I began to take Cardui, and before I had taken a half bottle I began to feel better and the swelling began to go down. The pain began to diminish and by the time I had taken two bottles I felt well enough to quit taking it.... I think it is the grandest medicine that women can use."

Take Cardui. For sale by all druggists.

Society Notes

With the first of May, Mrs. E. P. Hunter of the Kyle becomes summer matron of the Ashburn cottage, North Eighteenth street.

Mrs. Nannie Webb Curtis of Colcord avenue is sojourner in Marlin for a few weeks.

Miss Louise Pace, one of the prominent young women of Texas, comes over from Corsicana, to be guest of Miss Decca Lamar West for the Shakspere reunion dinner.

In addition to all former members, the Shakspere reunion dinner at Hotel Raleigh promises to introduce several state guests.

The women of Austin Avenue Missionary society are quite proud of the result from their Rummage Sale, seventy-five dollars for their church work.

Miss Nellie Lee Hill and Miss Louise Irwin are receiving many compliments for their ambitious work as readers of the leading lines in the Baylor University Tercentenary play. It is no easy role, that of the exuberant, many-sided Rosalind, and her cousin, Celia.

The Misses Hays and Foster as official family for the San Antonio Fiesta, with their attendants, Holt Massey and Floyd Holland, have innumerable engagements for the present week. These will detain the Waco party in San Antonio until Friday or Saturday.

Mrs. Louis Stephens is matron of the W. M. Foster home, Thirteenth and Washington, this week.

It is estimated that as many as three thousand were on the University campus for "As You Like It," on Monday evening.

How comes it that nobody has spoken of the approaching "sweet girl graduate" for 1916? She is fast arriving.

On next Saturday, the Beau Nots will be with Miss Elia Flewellyn.

Is not Dame Nature a bold lady? She will place her bright gold daffodil beside her crimson maiden pink, and throw in her blue bonnet, all on a green carpet, and yet not do violence to a pleasing effect to the eye. But, just let the artist put such a riot of color on canvas, and mighty is the cry of offense to the sight.

It is just a little cool yet, but the next moonlight season will find suppers in the outdoor.

Women all over the land, and men, too, are talking the peace movement. All well and good; but, after all, the true foundation of peace lies in educating youth to humane thought and practice. Begin with kindness to the house pet.

Do make the porch attractive this very day. Remember, it is our home life for the next few months.

Swat that fly, and then look around for another fly to swat. Then go into the kitchen and tell the maid of all work to swat flies. This menace has been exterminated from the Canal Zone; why not from Waco?

Easter week is full, but the week following Easter brings good things, too. General as well as private gatherings are on the tapis.

Somebody must save home society and give us a June bride like they are having elsewhere. By way of passing remark, there might be a groom as well. So far, not one word even whispered over a June high life wedding.

The Shakspere pageant at "State" is pronounced a wonderful performance. This means, of course, that Waco students were doing their full part.

We noticed the other day a theatrical bill advertising "from problem play to slapstick." We know what the former is, but, pray, what may be the latter?

Now that the Easter tide brings our card clubs again, we must burnish up a bit on our bridge leads. There is reciprocal courtesy due at the bridge table. The woman who takes a hand owes it to the others to play that hand intelligently. On the other side, the woman who does play a good game owes it to her less skillful partner, to be courteous at all times.

While we are in the effort to understand just what an "imagist" is among the poets, we might try to discern what a "modernist" is among the artists.

Up in Washington is a dreadful situation. And it all comes from this; no provision for any music "to help the president go home from a party." When he enters a ballroom "Star-Spangled Banner" is played, and all guests rise. When he leaves, no notice is taken. Now, is opportunity for some aspiring composer to awake and find himself famous.

The Llewellyn Aubrey flower garden has come into its annual catering to enthusiastic compliment. The Woman's club in its session yesterday afternoon had first glimpse.

The Wednesday Matinee Bridge has deferred its accustomed game until Thursday of this week. Mrs. A. S. Haner is the hostess.

By process of evolution in name, the Congenials are now the "Idle Rich." What next? No sooner to meet than name is changed with this set of merry matrons. What's in a name any way?

De Wolf Hopper Puts Little Son to Work

De Wolf Hopper's infant son, who through his parentage, has become known in all civilized sections of the world and in a few barbarian circles has been converted into a film actor. He makes his initial appearance in support of his pater in the latest Triangle Fine Arts production, "Sunshine Dad," showing at the Hippodrome Wednesday and Thursday.

William Hopper, Jr., who recently entered his ninth month of existence on earth, is a perfect picture of health. Having inherited his father's masterful disposition, he insisted that his four-wheeled perambulator also made its debut in "Sunshine Dad." It so happens that father and son play together in all of William, Jr.'s scenes, so it makes a sort of Hopper reunion.

Director Edward Dillon is responsible for the engagement of William, Jr. He felt that the scenes of father and son would add a touch of naturalness to the production.

The child will receive the usual remuneration for his work, and with it the cautious father will start a juvenile bank account to keep him in his old age.

"Sunshine Dad."

"Sunshine Dad" is the fitting title of the new Fine Arts production in which De Wolf Hopper, the big star of "Don Quixote," returns to the screen. This new Griffith five-reel comedy will show today and Thursday. The feature is well named except that it gives no hint of the marvelous adventures undergone by a bit of wonderful Oriental jewelry. This is the thread of the ingenious production, but upon this thread is built a closely woven pattern of clever characterizations, facial situations, and steadily mounting suspense punctured with surprises. De Wolf Hopper as a sort of prodigal father dominates the action. Perhaps Leo, the lion, comes in for second honors, for through one whole reel he plays a sensational and most important part. Most animal work in pictures is unsatisfactory for the reason that there is always a suggestion of trick camera work or of a trainer and because the glimpses are fragmentary. But the lion in "Sunshine Dad" gives complete satisfaction, the scenes in which he appears are perfectly convincing, and the animal himself is a born comedian. Fay Fincher, the little comedienne who played with Mr. Hopper in "Don Quixote," has the role of the gay widow in this comedy. Chester Withey, who wrote the story, also plays the part of the Russian count, who is the villain. Jewel Carmen, Max Davidson and Eugene Pallette have good parts, which they make the most of.

The story of "Sunshine Dad" is not one of the sort that can be told in synopsis. Sunshine Dad is a gay old sport, fond of a good time, who does not approve of his son's staid manner. Dad's wild life succeeds in getting his son in hot water many, many times, but nothing quite upsets him so much as the affair of the rich widow and the stolen jewel belonging to the Oriental god, Jujeb. A Russian count, also after the hand of the pretty widow, makes things hot for Dad, but not so hot as the lion, Leo, does. "Sunshine Dad," five reels of wholesome, real fun, will sho wat the Hippodrome today and Thursday.

NICKEL TODAY.

"The Elder Brother," a new Essanay, with Francis X. Bushman featuring, is like the picture shown at the Nickel a few weeks ago, very Bushmanesque, meaning very much the Bushman that you first knew, loved, and in which character he won the distinction of being the most popular player in moving pictures.

Bryant Washburn, who comes second only to Bushman in popularity with many patrons, plays in support, and this will make a trip to the Nickel today doubly worth while.

MARKET REPORT

COTTON

New York.

By the Associated Press

New York, April 25.—There was a sharp early advance in today's cotton market owing to the small number of notices issued against May contracts, with July selling up to 12.14, or about 13 points net higher. Realizing caused reactions later, with July closing at 12.06, but the final tone was steady with last prices showing net gains of from 3 to 7 points.

Liverpool was a shade lower than due and the local market had rather an irregular opening, with first prices four points lower to two points higher. It was soon learned, however, very few May notices were in circulation while trade interests were active buyers of both May at July contracts and prices soon turned firmer. There seemed to be some fresh scattering demand from commission houses as well as covering of shorts on the advance, which carried May contracts up to 11.98 and October to 12.32 before the end of the morning, or about 9 to 15 points higher.

This represented the highest prices reached here in the market since the advance of last month and a recovery of about 28 points from the low level of April 3, in the case of July contracts.

Reports from New Orleans indicated that notices were being well absorbed and rather a more optimistic view of international conditions also may have contributed to the local advance. Prices easied off several points from the best in the late trading, with May closing at 11.90 and October at 12.25.

New Orleans.

By the Associated Press

New Orleans, April 25.—Although May notices were issued in larger numbers than expected today, the cotton market took on a firm undertone and made what the bulls called a fairly wide advance under the circumstances.

Conservative estimates were that this, the first notice day for May brought out tenders of 20,000 bales. Some estimates were as high as 24,000. All notices of delivery were promptly stopped, chiefly by exporters and interior spot houses, who found the taking up of cotton contract was cheaper than buying in the open market. At the best of the day active options showed advances over yesterday's close of 11 to 13 points.

On the opening call the market was nervous and there was much speculating over the size of the tenders and how they would be relieved. On the call prices lost 1 to 8 points, May showing the widest decline. Last prices were at a net rise of 5 to 7 points.

WHEAT

By the Associated Press

Chicago, April 25.—Growing confidence that the crisis with Germany would not cause a break in diplomatic relations had much to do with a fresh advance today in the value of wheat, and so also had stormy weather in the spring crop belt. Prices closed strong, 1¼@1⅝ to 2½c net higher, with May at $1.13⅜@1.13½ and July at $1.14⅛@1.14¼. Other leading staples, too, scored gains for the day—corn ¼@⅜c, oats ⅛@⅜c to ⅝c and provisions 15@27½c.

Upturns in the wheat market formed the rule except right at the outset when owing to lower quotations from Liverpool some hesitancy was evinced.

Corn hardened chiefly in sympathy with wheat ans and as a result of seaboard demand.

Oats were governed by the action of corn and wheat.

Lard went to a new high price record for this season and continued to lead an advance in provisions.

DONE UNTO ME.

(Matthew 25:34-40.)

Then shall the king say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world. For I was an hungered, and ye gave me meat; I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink; I was a stranger, and ye took me in; naked, and ye clothed me. I was sick, and ye visited me. I was in prison and ye came unto me.

Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungered, and fed thee, or thirsty, and gave thee drink. When saw we thee a stranger, and took thee in, or naked and clothed thee. Or when saw we thee sick, or in prison, and came unto thee?

And the king shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me.

WACO HAS THE HOTEL FACILITIES. The formal inaugural of a new career is announced by the management of the Hotel Raleigh, to be celebrated with a social function on May 1st. This event is a reminder to the state that Waco is now in a position to entertain all guests, from any quarter and in any style. Hotel facilities are essential to the industrial success of the modern city. Waco is ready to entertain the world, whether it comes singly, in pairs, or in convention array.

A UNIQUE DISTINCTION FOR GOV. COLQUITT. When the issue first came between the administration and the Kaiser's government, Mr. Taft was one of the first to uphold the president's hands. The republican leaders in congress gave their silent, and some of them their cordial support. Even Roosevelt had no criticism to offer.

The temptation to play politics with big issues is seductive during a campaign year. It is to the credit of all parties that in the face of a world-wide conflict, and its constant menace to us, there has been a temporary lull in partisan politics.

There is, however, one discordant note. Texas, we are sorry to say, has furnished it.

To a former governor of this state, O. B. Colquitt, falls the unique distinction of seeking to inflame the resentment and engage the influence of those whom he supposes to be more attached to a foreign state than to his own country in order that he may thereby secure their support for his political aspirations.

By the way, Oscar, why not try Zapata? He's ready for anything new in the way of a war dance.

To the New York World: Can you tell us what Koeble said?

Judge Riddle has hit the senatorial trail and is stepping lively. Remember Ridder, Judge, and keep your typewriter under your vest.

Anyway, Governor Colquitt is entitled to the appointment of Minister Plenipotentiary and Ambassador Extraordinary to—well, where?

Colquitt to Koeble: "I wish you would also see W. E. Ismann, and talk with him." Can anybody guess what the governor wanted Koeble to talk to Ismann about?

Colquitt to Koeble: "I hope that I am not asking too much in requesting that you see Mr. Ridder and enlist his friendly aid."

Don't mention it, Governor, ask on; ask on.

If it be really true that Obregon and Carranza have indulged in a fist fight, the First Chief would do well to lasso himself to the American column instead of trying to get it out of Mexico.

St. Louis points with pride to its conservation of babies by the use of pure milk. What an infantile paradise St. Louis would be if it would only advance a step further and try buttermilk.

Colquitt to Koeble: "Mr. Henry has no chance to win, but is trying to make headway with the German-American vote."

Why don't you get out of the way, Mr. Henry, and give a real race-horse a chance?

WALL STREET FOR ROOSEVELT. How does Wall street stand is always an interesting question. The Financial World, a New York organ of finance, has sounded 1100 members of the New York Stock Exchange, and has returns from more than 28 per cent of the membership of the Exchange. The vote is Root, 107; Roosevelt, 96; Hughes, 70; Wilson, 20; Theo Burton, 10; J. H. Weeks, 3; Taft, 1; socialist, 1; Henry Ford, 1; General Wood, 1.

The disclosure as to Roosevelt moves the World to say:

"With regard to Roosevelt's vote the gain he makes is remarkable in that it gains over 200 per cent over the vote he received from the Exchange members in 1912. Taft and Wilson men are for him this year in goodly number. The return to 'Teddy' is indicative of the love of 'action,' which Wall street likes, even if it doesn't help their markets at all times. Just what Wall street expects to get from Roosevelt should he be elected president is not quite clear, except that there has been a general understanding that since Roosevelt held the famous conference a few months ago with Judge Gary of the Steel Trust and other industrial magnates at the home of Robert Bacon, partner of J. P. Morgan & Co., the old hatreds engendered in Roosevelt's former administrations have been largely dissipated and mutual understandings resorted as between the candidate and 'Big Business.' Roosevelt is for Big Business if it is righteous, and that is what Wall street likes. Then, too, the Stock Exchange is stronger for Roosevelt this year because they see a ghost of Germany hovering about and Roosevelt, the militarist, will, they think, be able to cope with it."

Governor Ferguson didn't have a copy of that Koeble letter when the Gridiron banquet was pulled off at Houston, but in the light of subsequent events what he said there sounds like a premonitory symptom that he knew it was coming.

The district court has been in session at Columbus, and several euphonious Spanish names figure in the list routed for the gallows on account of the Villa raid. It is amazing to a Mexican patriot to observe what may happen to a truly good citizen when he strays beyond the border.

Mr. Cato Sells will not be a candidate to succeed himself as the Texas member of the Democratic National Committee. Friends of the administration should see to it that his successor truly represents the sentiment of approval which Texas democrats give the policies of the president.

Judge Batts of Austin calls the Baconian theory "an amusing literary joke, so cleverly conceived as to make converts among every class of readers except those who have read Shakespeare and Bacon." Fine him ten dollars for contempt, Judge Tuthill.

For personal reasons, democrats will regret that Mr. McCombs will not serve as chairman of the Democratic National Committee during the next campaign. There is no occasion, however, to fear that the office will not be filled by a competent man. In fact, the committee could get along pretty well four years longer with only an office boy and a janitor.

Mexican bandits are breaking up into small bands and their predatory raids will continue until most of them are killed. Diaz met a problem of this sort soon after his revolutionary movement was successful by sending for the chiefs of the banditti and offering them the choice between becoming policemen for him or extermination. They chose his service, and thus originated the rurale force, which was his chief agency for the pacification of Mexico. If Carranza is wise, he will follow this precedent.

By-the-By

An East Texas exchange says of a candidate for the legislature: "He is quiet, gentlemanly, but determined." Try him with a meat-axe, and if he makes good, put him in the race for speaker.

The rising tide of the peanut industry in Texas is enough to make a Georgia cracker forget that he has a watermelon tooth.

The May fudget will soon succeed the Easter budget.

A Galveston News recipe for chicken pie is thus qualified:

"The exact time for cooking is very hard to give, as the condition and age of the chicken must determine this, but it should always be plunged in actively boiling water, brought again to the boiling point and then very slowly simmered until tender."

That's all right for a well-behaved young hen, but if you are dealing with a veteran rooster, first boil him, then boil the water, then boil them both together, then apply the hand-saw, then boil some more; then let the compound simmer, and, finally, feed it to the office cat.

Lillian Russell insists that beauty is a misfortune. Still, it is an expense that can be dropped whenever the average beauty wishes to shake the misfortune.—George Bailey in Houston Post.

Florida-Times-Uunion: Henry Ford enjoys an advantage over most men spoken of for the presidency in the fact that he can run in one convention as well as in the other.

Judd Lewis in Houston Post:

Rosalee is snaggle-tooth! Her front teeth are gone!
She looked like an angel once, smiling in the dawn,
But her smile is now a grin, full of rowdy-dow;
Rosalee, the angel-child, is a human now,
Filled with every happiness, filled with every glee—
You should have looked down at her when she grinned at me!
Should have seen the mischief and happiness of youth—
Children are plum lovable when they're snaggle-tooth!

(To which, with apologies to Judd, we add:

And you oughter see me run when she snaps that snag,
With a snaggle, snaggle, snaggle and a bag, bag, bag;
For Rosy means biz when her dander is a'piggle,
And I know what's comin' when that tooth begins to wiggle.)

Texas Co. Intervenes in I. & G. N. Suit

By the Associated Press.

Houston, April 25.—The Texas company, claiming $561,549.13 due from the International and Great Northern railway, filed intervention proceedings in the United States court here today asking an injunction to prevent the road's issuance of $1,400,000 receiver's certificates to meet payment on outstanding bonds. The hearing is set for tomorrow morning.

How to Look Years Less Than Your Age

The most aged face will look years younger after the use of ordinary mercolized wax for from ten days to two weeks. This remarkable substance, because of its peculiar absorptive power, actually removes the thin veil of faded or withered outer cuticle a little at a time. Gradually the fresher, more youthful skin underneath is revealed. This absorption process being a purely hygienic one; an entirely natural complexion is acquired—quite different from the artificial complexion, which appears anything but girlish, though often bearing painful evidence of childishness. An ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to rejuvenate any complexion. It is put on like cold cream at bedtime, and removed mornings with warm water.

To eradicate such age marks as wrinkles and furrows, make a wash lotion by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt witch hazel. This has wonderful astringent and tonic properties. It quickly effaces all kinds of wrinkles, no matter how caused, making the skin firm, smooth and young looking.

PLAN GOOD ROADS FOR ROSEBUD ALSO

INTEREST BECOMING INTENSE IN BAPTIST CHURCH REVIVAL AT MARLIN.

Board of Tax Equalization for Marlin Named—Knights of Pythias Elect.

Special to the Morning News.

Marlin, April 25.—Dr. Aycock of Rosebud was in Marlin this morning looking into good roads data and into estimates which were recently made for the Precinct Number One Farmers' Good Roads association for the roads in this precinct with a view to encouraging the voting of a bond issue for the Rosebud precinct.

Those in charge of the work of getting the $500,000 bond issue voted in this precinct expect to have their petitions out within the next few days, and will have the election called as soon as possible.

At a special meeting of the city council this morning W. L. Wood, C. G. Cooley and Frank Oakes were appointed on the board of tax equalization for this year. They will begin their work with the tax rolls as soon as the rolls are completed.

The Marlin Knights of Pythias at their meeting last night conferred the rank of page on fifteen candidates. During the business part of the meeting, J. R. Lockerd was elected representative to the grand lodge meeting in Dallas and B. J. As the close of the revival services being conducted in this city by Rev. L. E. Finney for the Baptist church draws near, the interest is becoming more intense and numbers are signifying their intentions to lead better lives.

Evangelist Finney has been delivering several impressive illustrated sermons in a very original manner, which have been exciting much interest and favorable comment. The work of the meeting has spread until prayer meetings are being held daily in about ten places and two to three services are being conducted daily in the vacant department store building which is being used for the purposes of a tabernacle.

Gus Clayton, the negro shot by Joe Norwood, a white man, last Wednesday night, died from his wounds this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Norwood was arrested again on a charge of murder, but was released under bond to await the action of the grand jury, after waiving examining trial.

Special to the Morning News.

Meridian, April 25.—J. S. Graves, who was placed on trial here yesterday, died at his home in Clifton last night. Graves was charged with assault to murder Rufus Clements at Clifton last February. He entered the store in which Clements was working and fired several shots at him with an automatic shotgun. Last night after court was dismissed he went home on the 8 o'clock train and died after reaching home.

Sensational Charge in Miller Trial

By the Associated Press.

Sherman, April 25.—With tears in her eyes and at times almost sobbing, Miss Luda Kidwell of Anna, testifying today at the trial of her sister, Mrs. Florence Miller, charged with the murder of her husband, Jeff Miller, told of suggestions she alleged Miller made to the witness and defendant several weeks prior to the killing, which occurred here on July 26, last. She was the first witness called in the case, the jury having been completed yesterday.

According to Miss Kidwell's testimony, Miller had urged both women to follow immoral lives in Sherman.

State Wins Orient Case.

By the Associated Press.

Austin, April 25.—A telegram was received today by Attorney General Looney advising that the United States supreme court had, on the motion of the state, dismissed the case of the State against the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railway, thereby sustaining the state's contention. The constitution of Texas provides that when a railroad builds its tracks within three miles of the county seat it must build to the county seat. The state sued the Orient for mandatory injunction to compel the building of its tracks into Sherwin, Irion county. The company refused on the grounds of physical difficulties. The state courts held that such difficulties did not exist and today's action of the United States supreme court sustains this contention. Penalty in the sum of $2,500 is also recovered.

An auto safety signal, invented by A. D. Alessandro, a former Wacoan, but now of Houston, has made its appearance in Waco. The invention consists of a red arm that shows to the traffic behind the equipped car and to pedestrians that the driver is going to turn or slow down. The inventor is a brother of Prof. V. Alessandro of this city.

Sharp Contrasts in Black and White Will Be Taken Up for Smart Sport Suits This Summer.

New York, April 25.—Probably because brilliant colors have been used so much for sport suits, there is a tendency to use sharp contrasts in black and white. We no longer see novelty in awning skirts in brilliant Spanish colors, nor in gorgeous, sunset-dyed sweaters, nor in broad, Mexican grass hats, hand-painted with parrots and other jungle birds. We had these with us last year and we had them during the winter at the southern resorts, but plain black and white, brilliantly put together in domino style, catches the attention.

Sport suits take first place in this combination; and in millinery the novelty is a directoire hat or Reboux sailor of broadly striped, black and white silk. There is a feeling in the air that by June these colors will be considered more fashionable than the gorgeous ones. They may be taken up first by the women who spend much of their time at the hunting clubs, but later they will be worn at Newport and Bar Harbor as a morning costume.

France has been sending over sport suits in this brilliant black and white combination in thin serge as well as jersey cloth, and the apt dressmakers have already copied them into frocks of crepe de chine and Georgette crepe.

Copying Sport Clothes.

One of the best of the sweater suits, as they are sometimes called, has a pleated skirt and long Russian blouse, both white. The blouse is edged with a five-inch band of black satin and is girdled below the hips with a black and white belt that knots loosely in front and has short ends. At the neck there is a huge hood collar half enceloping the shoulders and the long sleeves flare at the wrist and are edged with black satin bands.

This suit has already been copied in white crepe de chine with sleeves of Georgette crepe and the collar of white satin. It will be worn in the afternoon with a broad sailor of black straw with a facing of white crepe, and two broad, white wings going in opposite directions across the crown.

On every side one sees how the influence of the new sport clothes has dominated all manner of clothes, except those for the evening. The huge Russian blouses that are buttoned down the side and girdled with brilliantly colored sashes and which are used as substitutes for sweaters have been made in white and colored Georgette crepe with a dash of embroidery on the chest, to go with taffeta skirts in the same shade.

The colors preferred in these blouses are beige, cafe au lait and two tones of gray. They are also made in pale blue and pink chiffon with gold embroidery, to wear over empire satin slips in the same color. These are for the house, between the hours of 5 and 11 p. m.

Sport Suit in Serge.

The sketch today shows a novelty suit for the summer, made up in a brilliant black and white combination. The novelty in the coat lies in the way in which sharp pointed panels are placed below the waist to flatten the figure. The top part of the coat is slim fitting, and the neck is opened somewhat in the manner of our Peter Thomson blouse. There is a broad, black belt, finished with a square, black buckle in front and a black silk cape hanging loosely over the shoulders and in the back. The hem of the broadly pleated skirt is finished with several rows of narrow, black braid. The wide, rolling cuffs are of black silk.

This frock has already been copied in white crepe de chine, to make it more comfortable for our summer climate, and that Chanel suit of cloth which has been so often described, is now copied in pale pink satin for a young girl's afternoon dance frock.

A BAG FOR EVERYTHING.

If you wish to make a novel gift for an engaged girl, give her a set of housekeeping bags. You can make them all yourself, and you can make the set to consist of as few or as many bags as you wish to have it.

Make all the bags of materials that can be easily washed. Make all with stout drawstrings of white tape. For some of the bags cretonne can be used, and for the others muslin and cheesecloth.

There are the refrigerator bags in one set. These should be made of white muslin, soft but strong. There should be a big one in which a chicken washed and stuffed, ready to cook, can be placed, to stand in the refrigerator until time to cook. Then there should be one for washed lettuce, one for celery hearts and stalks that are cleaned, one for parsley. The uses of these bags should be put on them in cross-stitched or outlined letters.

Callot Sport Suit of White Serge With Black Belt and Black Silk Cape Hanging in the Back—The Skirt Has Narrow Bands of Black Braid at the Bottom.

There should also be a bag for tomatoes. The tomatoes are placed in the bag and then dipped into boiling water, removed immediately, chilled and peeled. This method of removing the skins leaves a firm, smooth tomato, neither cooked by too much scalding nor hacked with a knife.

Then there are bags to use in the laundry. One is a bag to hold handkerchiefs, both in the boiling and drying. Fine handkerchiefs ought never to be pinned on the line. Instead, they should be placed in a cheesecloth bag, after they are washed and rinsed and blued, and the bag should be hung on the line. The handkerchiefs thus get the advantage of wind and sun without being tattered against the line. A bag in which table linen can be boiled is another useful one. All the little pieces can thus be kept together without difficulty.

Another set of laundry bags might consist of a dozen tiny cheesecloth bags for bluing.

Shoe bags, to hang on the inside of closet doors, are made of cretonne, with pockets for the shoes. Broom bags are made of canton flannel with drawstrings, and are drawn up over the broom to sweep walls and ceilings and polished wood floors. A couple of jelly bags would also be useful. And so would an old linen bag stocked with a supply of odds and ends of clean, old muslin, which it is difficult for a new housekeeper to get.

Volley Ball Teams Have Banquet at State House

In the New State House dining room last night, seventeen teams of the twenty men that played in the last schedule of volley ball games at the Y. M. C. A., sat down to one of Mr. Seley's suppers, and thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Several of the men were called upon to give some remarks along these lines:

Mr. Morrow, "Team Work;" Mr. Goldberg, "What I've Got Out of Volley Ball;" Mr. Redman, who surprised the players recently with an original poem, again came to the front with a short poem, that treated in a verse, each team as they stood in the league at the wind up.

Mr. Dupree and Mr. Redman were selected as a committee to place the players in the new league on teams, and to make these teams as even as possible in ability. Dr. H. E. Hoke, L. S. Gardner and Clint Padgett were the new men to be selected and placed on these teams.

It was decided at the banquet that whenever any team was scheduled to play no matter whether they had one or all of their men present, it was up to them to start the game and not wait for their other men to come. This new schedule is to last for 30 games, and the two winning teams will eat with the losers at the latter's expense. The personnel of the new teams are as follows:

Team No. 1.—Eason, Dupree, Manton, Fitzpatrick, Murray.

Team No. 2.—Siebel, Goldberg, Gus Knebel, Hicks, Brandt.

Team No. 3.—Morrow, Redman, Rogers, Ben Knebel, Hunter, Padgett.

Team No. 4.—Gay, Jones, Blair, Lagow, Hoke, Gardner.

No captain for these teams were selected las tnight, because each team will on Friday night elect their own captain.

At the regular meeting Friday night at 6:15, Team No. 1 will play Team No. 2; at 6:30 Team No. 2 will play Team No. 4.

PRESIDENT OPENS BASEBALL SEASON

President throwing first ball in opening game at Washington.

The national capital would not feel that its baseball season had been properly inaugurated unless the president of the United States attended the game and threw out the first ball. The opening of the home season came on the heels of the president's important message to congress on the German submarine issue and it was announced the night before the game that Mr. Wilson could not attend. He made a special effort to go, however, and saw Washington win the opener.

Hell Is Not a Place With Champagne and Chorus Girls

In his sermon on "What We Know About Hell," preached at the First Baptist church last night, Dr. H. H. Hulten made it very plain that Christ taught the doctrine of a literal hell. "However," said Dr. Hulten, "we have read Dante into our Bibles too much. So much so that we have made the doctrine grotesque. As orthodox Baptists, we indeed believe in a literal hell, but do not let us get away from the Scriptures in our endeavor to make it plain to others.

"Too many preachers say that hell is filled with poker chips, champagne and chorus girls. What more could a bad boy want than that? That is heaven enough to him."

Dr. Hulten pictured the rich man as living in a mansion, beautiful and luxuriant. Just outside the palace lay the beggar, Lazarus. But when the rich man ordered the servants to sick the angry dogs on Lazarus the dogs proved to be the friends of the beggar, and licked his sores. "If you want a real friend, get a dog," he said. "He'll stick closer than a man every time. But when the rich man died his soul went to hell. When the beggar died his soul went to heaven.

"This parable, if it is a parable, gives us the most awful picture of hell. But Jesus taught the whole program of God. There are many preachers who stand in our pulpits today and preach the doctrine of Infinite Love, and never touch on the doctrine of future punishment.

"In the Scriptures there are four words from the original that are used to designate what we know as hell. In the Old Testament Hebrew we find the word 'Sheol,' meaning grave. In the New Testament we find the Greek word, 'Gehenna,' meaning the place where fire and smoke ascended constantly, for the burning of the city's refuse. Then the Greek word, 'Hades,' meaning 'Unseen world.' There were two places in Hades, one for the bad and one for the good. Then from the Latin Vulgate we have the word, 'Tartarus,' which the ancient Greeks believed to be a place as far below the earth as the heavens were above.

"Did Jesus merely seek to frighten us by giving us such an awful outlook toward future punishment?" asked the preacher. "No, for we are taught that there is a way to avoid going there.

"God never sent one single soul to hell; it is the logical place for the sinner. The Scriptures tell us that Judas went to his own place.

"If the language of the Bible about hell is figurative, so is the language of the Bible about heaven. How many people want to believe that the language of the Bible about heaven is figurative?

"If hell is not a place of fire and brimstone then it is a place just as bad as fire and brimstone. But the hottest fires in this world are not where the iron is melted, but in the caldrons of sin.

"Everywhere in the Scripture we find future punishment spoken of as eternal. 'And,' said Abraham, 'between thee and me, there is a great guif fixed.' Hence, there is never any passing from hell to heaven.

"We are not called upon to understand God in this, for God says, 'As the heavens are high above the earth, so are my ways above your ways and my thoughts above your thoughts.'

"When Voltaire came to die, he turned to his friend and said, 'I have denied the existence of hell, but now I am going there.'"

At the conclusion Dr. Hulten explained in a beautiful way how Jesus has provided for us to escape His condemnation.

Services each morning at 10 o'clock and evening at 8. Prayer meetings at the church for men and women at 7:30.

¶ CITY NEWS BRIEFS ¶

It transpires that there were a good many telephones put out of commission by the storm of Sunday night. The wind blew harder than most people knew, and limbs which were broken off fell across the telephone wires in some cases, interfering with the transmission of the electric currents or breaking wires altogether.

Lightning struck very close to the residence of Jim Bagby in East Waco Sunday night during the storm, and Mr. Bagby had not been long gone from the place where the stroke made itself felt. Two or three persons who were in the house at the time received a severe shock, but were not really injured.

It was decidedly like unto summer yesterday, and pedestrians were observed looking for the shady side of the street. It has not been long since the sunshine section of the thoroughfare was the one sought, but this is changing.

There have been many revival meet-ings in Waco in the past several weeks, and the evangelistic campaigns are still in progress. Most of the ministers who have held these meetings have had good success.

Health conditions are satisfactory in Waco, and the people are co-operating in the work of cleanliness, said Health Commissioner W. H. Cockcroft yesterday. There has been some complaint of the dust on Austin street, incident to the putting down of the new pavement, he said, but this is correcting itself as the pavement solidifies and becomes less dusty daily.

There is still a great deal of cotton in the yards in Waco and at other points in Central Texas. Not much cotton remains in the country, but the yards show a lot of it is still in the hands of parties who are probably holding for a better price. Just what the outcome of the effort to secure this price will be remains to be seen.

Waco clerks, bookkeepers and office men generally are turning their attention as never before towards getting a certain amount of exercise daily. Some are joining the Y. M. C. A., others are getting into ball teams, some are walking to and from their work, and in various ways they are trying to secure the needed use of dormant muscles.

The Methodists of Waco and in fact of McLennan county are looking forward to the district conference at West, which will assemble on April 27 and last two days. Practically all pastors in the county will be present at the gathering, as will many laymen.

The regular weekly meeting of the city commission will be held tomorrow morning. The sessions are generally pretty busy ones, as many matters receive attention.

Wearing a woman's red sweater, a negro man was arrested by Constable Leslie Stegall and Deputy Phil Hobbs at Windy City, on the Robinson road, yesterday morning, on a charge of theft. The negro is said to have stolen a gold watch, a clock, an automatic cigar lighter and some eggs from the home of Henry Owens, who lives near Robinson.

Cigarettes Camel

The stamp placed over end seals the package, which keeps out air, thereby preserving the quality of the blended tobaccos. By inserting the fingers as illustrated, the stamp easily breaks without tearing the tin foil, which folds back into its place.

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages, 20 for 10c; or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton for $1.00. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

Camels leave no unpleasant cigaretty after-taste! They will not bite your tongue, will not parch your throat and will not tire your taste! Smoke them liberally without any comeback!

Prove our word about Camels by comparing them puff-by-puff with any cigarette at any price!

To Quickly Remove Ugly Hairs From Face

(Beauty Notes.)

Beauty-destroying hairs are soon banished from the skin, with the aid of a delatone paste, made by mixing some water with a little plain powdered delatone. This is pread upon the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed to remove the remaining delatone. This simple treatment banishes every trace of hair and leaves the skin without a blemish. Caution should be used to be certain that it is delatone you buy.

Waco Woodmen Will Assist in Mart Initiations

Approximately 1,000 members are enrolled in the local W. O. W., according to a statement made Monday night when several hundred members of the order celebrated the silver jubilee of Geyser camp No. 6. Several addresses were made telling of the growth of the order.

Members of Geyser City camp will go to Mart May 4 to help confer initiatory degrees on ten candidates of the Mart camp. The Mart camp is reorganizing its teams.

Republican Delegates.

At the beginning of this week there were 528 delegates chosen to the republican national convention out of a total membership of 985. The instructed delegates fall into these groups:

Sherman	58
Fairbanks	48
Cummins	50
La Follette	25
Total	211

Only two states, Nebraska and Montana, choose delegates this week; but next week will be a big one in the selection of the convention's membership, since 120 delegates will then be chosen by Massachusetts, New Jersey, Ohio and Idaho. The Ohio delegates will probably be instructed for Mr. Burton. But watch Ford.—Springfield Republican.

Sure Way To Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

MACCABEES LAUNCH MOVEMENT TO MAKE WACO LODGE CENTER

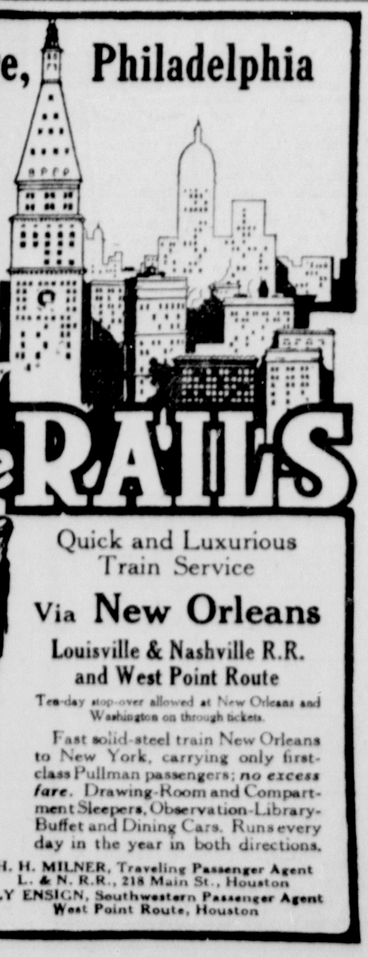

A movement to get a "Great Camp" of Maccabees in Texas with Waco as the place for the organizing convention and later as the camp headquarters was launched at a meeting of the local Maccabees in their hall at the New Masonic temple last night. It is declared that the Maccabees in Texas are strong enough to have the self-government that comes with the Great Camp and Waco is taking the lead in pushing the movement to a successful consummation. The vote on the project will probably be taken by the various tents over the state at their last regular meeting in May. Should the proposal of a Great Camp carry, which it is declared to be almost certain, Waco will make a pull for the convention that will formally organize the state machinery and also for the permanent location of the organization headquarters.

INSTITUTE HELD BY TEMPERANCE UNION

PUBLIC SCHOOL SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT ENDORSED AT ALL-DAY SESSION.

CURFEW LAW IS DISCUSSED

Several Talks Made and Plans Started for Receiving Mrs. Mary Armor, Who Speaks in Waco May 1.

Definite steps toward starting a public school savings bank department were taken yesterday at the all-day institute of the local chapter of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, held at the Austin Avenue Methodist church. Mrs. W. W. Woodson in a talk stated that a plan of this kind had been tried in other cities and that excellent results were being secured. As presented by Mrs. Woodson, although the details were not touched, the plan is to encourage thrift and wise expenditure of money by students of the public schools. In October the plan will be presented to the school board and it was stated that several members of the board were in favor of it. Mrs. Woodson was appointed superintendent of this work.

Referring to what had been accomplished in other cities by the curfew laws, Mrs. E. E. Ingram discussed this question at the afternoon session and stressed the importance of such a law in Waco. She stated that it had meant a great deal according to reports in other cities as a crime reducer and that it proved to be of special benefit to a community.

SEVERAL TALKS ARE GIVEN BY WOMEN.

Song service at the morning session was led by Mrs. J. W. Byars and was followed by scripture reading by Mrs. Susan Price. That the W. C. T. U. was one of the largest organizations for women in the world and that its accomplishments had been unlimited, an interesting history of the organization was read by Mrs. A. D. Adams. She said that there are now enrolled approximately 500,000 members and that the organization was the outgrowth of an inspiration of Frances Willard.

"Declaration of Principles," a paper read by Mrs. W. H. Moore, was of special interest to those present. Mrs. C. A. Westbrook of Lorena talked on "Sabbath Breaking," and gave a plea for a more reverent observance of the Sabbath. She is the state superintendent of the Sabbath observance department of the W. C. T. U. Sunday school work. Sunday school work that should be carried on in accordance with the views of the W. C. T. U. was discussed by Mrs. W. J. Wigley, superintendent of this department.

Importance of teaching temperance in the higher grades of the public schools was brought out in an address by Mrs. J. C. Houser. Her subject was scientific temperance. Mrs. C. C. Shumway told of the work of the mothers' department, and Mrs. J. A. Stanford talked on "Proportionate and Systematic Giving," in which she quoted scripture which showed the importance of the right kind of donations. This ended the morning session and the meeting adjourned for lunch.

PREPARATIONS FOR VISIT OF MRS. ARMOR ARE STARTED.

Devotional services for the afternoon were led by Mrs. C. H. Carrington. Vocal numbers were given by Mrs. J. W. Byars, Mrs. J. W. Harris and Mrs. Wynne. Literature dealing with the visit of Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, often referred to as the greatest woman orator in America, was distributed to committees of the different churches of the city that were present. Mrs. Armor will be in Waco May 1 and will speak that night at 8:30 o'clock at the First Baptist church.

Reports of new members were received and the new members installed with appropriate ceremonies. Mrs. C. B. Smith talked on "Medical Temperance," bringing out that not only should alcohol be excluded from beverages, but from medicines.

Information in regard to the work conducted by the Bethel Home at Galveston for soldiers and sailors was given by Mrs. D. M. Wilson. She stated that this home was very popular among the soldiers and sailors and that it provided special entertainment for them such as banquets and musicales.

REPORT GIVEN OF JAIL SERVICES.

"Our Mission to the Prisoners" was the subject of a talk made by Mrs. R. H. Winfrey, who assists in conducting services at the county jail every Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. She stated that four conversions had resulted in the services for the last two weeks and that inmates of the jail were presented with Easter lilies on Easter morning.

Suggesting temperance lessons for the missionary societies of the city at least once a month, Mrs. R. H. Newman gave a talk on "Co-operating with Mission Work." This concluded the program for the institute, after which the meeting adjourned.

I. O. O. F. CONVENTION HAS GOOD ATTENDANCE

SESSIONS ARE HELD IN MORNING, AFTERNOON AND BANQUET IN THE EVENING.

Next Convention Goes to Temple—J. M. Honeycutt of Temple Heads Association.

The Central Texas I. O. O. F. association in session yesterday held its closing social meeting at 8 p. m. at the Odd Fellows' hall.

Through the courtesy of James Mohan, the florist, the hall had been beautifully decorated. The color scheme was pink and freen, the colors of the order, while other floral designs, appropriately portraying their fraternal symbols, were placed at the various stations.

The afternoon session was devoted entirely to a business session and election of officers.

Temple was unanimously selected as the next meeting place. The following officers were elected to serve the coming year:

Mrs. Ada Thompson Chaviers gave an eloquent toast to "Brothers as Rebekahs," at the close of which she made each Odd Fellow who was not an Odd Fellow wish that he was one.

Mrs. Minnie Brown and Mrs. J. D. Alexander gave witty toasts on "Oddfellowship" in a graceful and happy manner.

Mrs. Little's toast was an unexpected surprise.

This session closed the association's gathering. The next meeting will be held at Temple in April.

MORNING SESSION BEGAN THE CONVENTION.

After the call to order at 10 a. m. yesterday by President Mrs. J. E. Curry and invocation by Mrs. J. M. Honeycutt, Mayor John Dollins gave a cordial welcome in behalf of the city. This was followed by an address of welcome on behalf of McLennan lodge No. 241 by Judge R. A. Word.

A few well chosen words of welcome on behalf of Waco Rebekah lodge by Mrs. Gregg Lawson helped make the visitors feel at home.

Able addresses on "Fraternal Spirit" and "Achievement in Texas" were made by the president of Rebekah assembly, Mrs. Minnie Brown and the secretary of Rebekah assembly, Mrs. J. D. Alexander. Other entertaining talks were made by visitors.

ASSEMBLY DEGREES ARE CONFERRED.

At the close of the afternoon session of the Central Texas I. O. O. F. association a miniature grand assembly was held by the president, Mrs. Minnie Brown, Vice President Mrs. Little and Secretary Mrs. J. D. Alexander, assisted by Mr. Brown and others.

A greater portion of the loans of the Lumbermen's Security and Trust company, which were taken over by the Bankers' Trust company of Waco, of which Edward Rotan is president, were put into business form Monday when President Rotan gave a check for $191,489.06 to care for the purchase of the loans.

The Lumbermen's Security and Trust company recently voted to liquidate, and it was in this connection that the purchase of the loans outstanding was made by the Bankers' Trust company of Waco, an institution which does business in a big way.

DRIVER SPEEDS ON WHEN INJURES CHILD

Declared to have speeded up after they saw that they had struck little Gordon Moore, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Moore, as the family was getting off of an outbound interurban car at Lacy Summit yesterday afternoon, two men in a Ford car went their way northward without their identity being known. The car struck the child and knocked it several feet, inflicting a severe scalp wound and bruising the body in a number of places. For several hours the child was unconscious, but it is not thought that the wounds will prove fotal. The parents and the child had gotten off the 6:20 interurban car and were crossing the Dallas pike on their way home.

SIMPLE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get about two ounces of plain powdered neroxin from any drug-store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big black heads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions of the body that form in the pores of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores and do not get them out after they become hard. The powdered neroxin and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.

WACOANS TO ATTEND STATE LEAGUE MEET

W. V. Crawford, president of the state organization of the Young Men's Business League, said yesterday afternoon that he thought that not less than thirty-five members of the local league would attend the annual convention which begins at Temple this morning and continues through tomorrow. Many of the Wacoans will leave over the Katy at 7:30 this morning, and others will go by auto. The round trip from Waco is quoted at $1.70.

Any member in good standing with any affiliated league is entitled to be a voting delegate at the convention. There are no delegates especially elected.

President Perry A. Duncan of the Waco Y. M. B. L. is slated to respond to the address of welcome this morning, and W. W. Naman is scheduled for an address on the ways in which a league can help in city building.

At the directors' meeting last night the convention was discussed and several of the directors who had been in Temple stated that extensive plans were being made on the part of the Temple league to entertain the visitors, and that several features of entertainment would be offered.

Mayor to Cops: Be Courteous; Watch Mashers!

Insisting on a spirit of helpfulness, courtesy and enforcement of city traffic laws, and suggesting that stronger measures be taken by individual patrolmen to prevent immoral women on the streets of Waco, Mayor John Dollins had a heart-to-heart talk with members of the police squad at the roll call last night. The mayor pointed out that the policeman on his beat has a great opportunity to be a friend in need to the pedestrian, especially women and children, and that he is the evangel of public peace and propriety. He emphasized the need for a closer look-out for the "street walker" or "masher," and asked for a codial support from the individual policemen for a cleaner and more courteous city.

"Inheritance Assured." In our reading we take this from "Life," and in our experience we also take it from life. "The bonds of the father are visited upon the children; aye, even unto the third and fourth generation." "Sunshine Dad."

"Sunshine Dad" is the fitting title of the new Fine Arts production in which De Wolf Hopper, the big star of "Don Quixote," returns to the screen. This new Griffith five-reel comedy will show today and Thursday. The feature is well named except that it gives no hint of the marvelous adventures undergone by a bit of wonderful Oriental jewelry. This is the thread of the ingenious production, but upon this thread is built a closely woven pattern of clever characterizations, facial situations, and steadily mounting suspense punctured with surprises. De Wolf Hopper as a sort of prodigal father dominates the action. Perhaps Leo, the lion, comes in for second honors, for through one whole reel he plays a sensational and most important part. Most animal work in pictures is unsatisfactory for the reason that there is always a suggestion of trick camera work or of a trainer and because the glimpses are fragmentary. But the lion in "Sunshine Dad" gives complete satisfaction, the scenes in which he appears are perfectly convincing, and the animal himself is a born comedian. Fay Fincher, the little comedienne who played with Mr. Hopper in "Don Quixote," has the role of the gay widow in this comedy. Chester Withey, who wrote the story, also plays the part of the Russian count, who is the villain. Jewel Carmen, Max Davidson and Eugene Pallette have good parts, which they make the most of.

The story of "Sunshine Dad" is not one of the sort that can be told in synopsis. Sunshine Dad is a gay old sport, fond of a good time, who does not approve of his son's staid manner. Dad's wild life succeeds in getting his son in hot water many, many times, but nothing quite upsets him so much as the affair of the rich widow and the stolen jewel belonging to the Oriental god, Jujeb. A Russian count, also after the hand of the pretty widow, makes things hot for Dad, but not so hot as the lion, Leo, does. "Sunshine Dad," five reels of wholesome, real fun, will sho wat the Hippodrome today and Thursday.

NICKEL TODAY.

"The Elder Brother," a new Essanay, with Francis X. Bushman featuring, is like the picture shown at the Nickel a few weeks ago, very Bushmanesque, meaning very much the Bushman that you first knew, loved, and in which character he won the distinction of being the most popular player in moving pictures.

Bryant Washburn, who comes second only to Bushman in popularity with many patrons, plays in support, and this will make a trip to the Nickel today doubly worth while.

Also today the Selig Tribune News with many novel features, and one of those good old Ham comedies, entitled "Ham and Preparedness," a subject every one is interested in, and no matter what side you are on, see Ham's view of it, at the Nickel today.

COTTON

New York.

By the Associated Press.

New York, April 25.—There was a sharp early advance in today's cotton market owing to the small number of notices issued against May contracts, with July selling up to 12.14, or about 13 points net higher. Realizing caused reactions later, with July closing at 12.06, but the final tone was steady with last prices showing net gains of from 3 to 7 points.

Liverpool was a shade lower than due and the local market had rather an irregular opening, with first prices four points lower to two points higher. It was soon learned, however, very few May notices were in circulation while trade interests were active buyers of both May at July contracts and prices soon turned firmer. There seemed to be some fresh scattering demand from commission houses as well as covering of shorts on the advance, which carried May contracts up to 11.98 and October to 12.32 before the end of the morning, or about 9 to 15 points higher.

This represented the highest prices reached here in the market since the advance of last month and a recovery of about 28 points from the low level of April 3, in the case of July contracts.

Reports from New Orleans indicated that notices were being well absorbed and rather a more optimistic view of international conditions also may have contributed to the local advance. Prices easied off several points from the best in the late trading, with May closing at 11.90 and October at 12.25.

New Orleans.

By the Associated Press.

New Orleans, April 25.—Although May notices were issued in larger numbers than expected today, the cotton market took on a firm undertone and made what the bulls called a fairly wide advance under the circumstances.

Conservative estimates were that this, the first notice day for May brought out tenders of 20,000 bales. Some estimates were as high as 24,000. All notices of delivery were promptly stopped, chiefly by exporters and interior spot houses, who found the taking up of cotton contract was cheaper than buying in the open market. At the best of the day active options showed advances over yesterday's close of 11 to 13 points.

On the opening call the market was nervous and there was much speculating over the size of the tenders and how they would be relieved. On the call prices lost 1 to 8 points, May showing the widest decline. Last prices were at a net rise of 5 to 7 points.

WHEAT

By the Associated Press.

Chicago, April 25.—Growing confidence that the crisis with Germany would not cause a break in diplomatic relations had much to do with a fresh advance today in the value of wheat, and so also had stormy weather in the spring crop belt. Prices closed strong, 1¼@1⅝ to 2½c net higher, with May at $1.13⅝@1.13½ and July at $1.14⅛@1.14¼. Other leading staples, too, scored gains for the day—corn ⅛@⅜c, oats ⅛@⅝c to ⅝c and provisions 15@27½c.

Upturns in the wheat market formed the rule except right at the outset when owing to lower quotations from Liverpool some hesitancy was evinced.

Corn hardened chiefly in sympathy with wheat ans and as a result of seaboard demand.

Oats were governed by the action of corn and wheat.

Lard went to a new high price record for this season and continued to lead an advance in provisions.

Futures ranged as follows:

Sharp Contrasts in Black and White Will Be Taken Up for Smart Sport Suits This Summer.

New York, April 25.—Probably because brilliant colors have been used so much for sport suits, there is a tendency to use sharp contrasts in black and white. We no longer see novelty in awning skirts in brilliant Spanish colors, nor in gorgeous, sunset-dyed sweaters, nor in broad, Mexican grass hats, hand-painted with parrots and other jungle birds. We had these with us last year and we had them during the winter at the southern resorts, but plain black and white, brilliantly put together in domino style, catches the attention.

Sport suits take first place in this combination; and in millinery the novelty is a directoire hat or Reboux sailor of broadly striped, black and white silk. There is a feeling in the air that by June these colors will be considered more fashionable than the gorgeous ones. They may be taken up first by the women who spend much of their time at the hunting clubs, but later they will be worn at Newport and Bar Harbor as a morning costume.

France has been sending over sport suits in this brilliant black and white combination in thin serge as well as jersey cloth, and the apt dressmakers have already copied them into frocks of crepe de chine and Georgette crepe.

Copying Sport Clothes.

One of the best of the sweater suits, as they are sometimes called, has a pleated skirt and long Russian blouse, both white. The blouse is edged with a five-inch band of black satin and is girdled below the hips with a black and white belt that knots loosely in front and has short ends. At the neck there is a huge hood collar half encircling the shoulders and the long sleeves flare at the wrist and are edged with black satin bands.

This suit has already been copied in white crepe de chine with sleeves of Georgette crepe and the collar of white satin. It will be worn in the afternoon with a broad sailor of black straw with a facing of white crepe, and two broad, white wings going in opposite directions across the crown.

On every side one sees how the influence of the new sport clothes has dominated all manner of clothes, except those for the evening. The huge Russian blouses that are buttoned down the side and girdled with brilliantly colored sashes and which are used as substitutes for sweaters have been made in white and colored Georgette crepe with a dash of embroidery on the chest, to go with taffeta skirts in the same shade.

The colors preferred in these blouses are beige, cafe au lait and two tones of gray. They are also made in pale blue and pink chiffon with gold embroidery, to wear over empire satin slips in the same color. These are for the house, between the hours of 5 and 11 p. m.

Sport Suit in Serge.

The sketch today shows a novelty suit for the summer, made up in a brilliant black and white combination. The novelty in the coat lies in the way in which sharp pointed panels are placed below the waist to flatten the figure. The top part of the coat is slim fitting, and the neck is opened somewhat in the manner of our Peter Thomson blouse. There is a broad, black belt, finished with a square, black buckle in front and a black silk cape hanging loosely over the shoulders and in the back. The hem of the broadly pleated skirt is finished with several rows of narrow, black braid. The wide, rolling cuffs are of black silk.

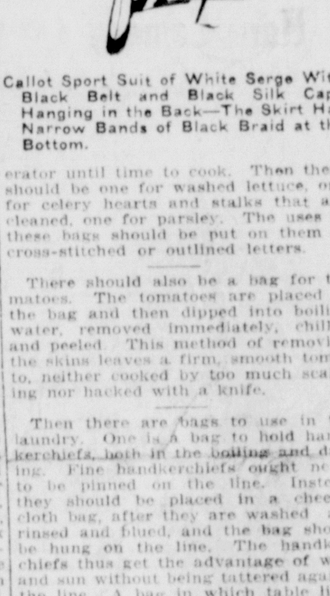

This frock has already been copied in white crepe de chine, to make it more comfortable for our summer climate, and that Chanel suit of cloth which has been so often described, is now copied in pale pink satin for a young girl's afternoon dance frock.

A BAG FOR EVERYTHING.

If you wish to make a novel gift for an engaged girl, give her a set of housekeeping bags. You can make them all yourself, and you can make the set to consist of as few or as many bags as you wish to have it.

Make all the bags of materials that can be easily washed. Make all with stout drawstrings of white tape. For some of the bags cretonne can be used, and for the others muslin and cheesecloth.

There are the refrigerator bags in one set. These should be made of white muslin, soft but strong. There should be a big one in which a chicken washed and stuffed, ready to cook, can be placed, to stand in the refrigerator until time to cook. Then there should be one for washed lettuce, one for celery hearts and stalks that are cleaned, one for parsley. The uses of these bags should be put on them in cross-stitched or outlined letters.

Callot Sport Suit of White Serge With Black Belt and Black Silk Cape Hanging in the Back—The Skirt Has Narrow Bands of Black Braid at the Bottom.

There should also be a bag for tomatoes. The tomatoes are placed in the bag and then dipped into boiling water, removed immediately, chilled and peeled. This method of removing the skins leaves a firm, smooth tomato, neither cooked by too much scalding nor hacked with a knife.

Then there are bags to use in the laundry. One is a bag to hold handkerchiefs, both in the boiling and drying. Fine handkerchiefs ought never to be pinned on the line. Instead, they should be placed in a cheesecloth bag, after they are washed and rinsed and blued, and the bag should be hung on the line. The handkerchiefs thus get the advantage of wind and sun without being tattered against the line. A bag in which table linen can be boiled is another useful one. All the little pieces can thus be kept together without difficulty.

Another set of laundry bags might consist of a dozen tiny cheesecloth bags for bluing.

Shoe bags, to hang on the inside of closet doors, are made of cretonne, with pockets for the shoes. Broom bags are made of canton flannel with drawstrings, and are drawn up over the broom to sweep walls and ceilings and polished wood floors. A couple of jelly bags would also be useful. And so would an old linen bag stocked with a supply of odds and ends of clean, old muslin, which it is difficult for a new housekeeper to get.

INSTITUTE HELD BY TEMPERANCE UNION

PUBLIC SCHOOL SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT ENDORSED AT ALL-DAY SESSION.

CURFEW LAW IS DISCUSSED

Several Talks Made and Plans Started for Receiving Mrs. Mary Armor, Who Speaks in Waco May 1.

Definite steps toward starting a public school savings bank department were taken yesterday at the all-day institute of the local chapter of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, held at the Austin Avenue Methodist church. Mrs. W. W. Woodson in a talk stated that a plan of this kind had been tried in other cities and that excellent results were being secured. As presented by Mrs. Woodson, although the details were not touched, the plan is to encourage thrift and wise expenditure of money by students of the public schools. In October the plan will be presented to the school board and it was stated that several members of the board were in favor of it. Mrs. Woodson was appointed superintendent of this work.

Referring to what had been accomplished in other cities by the curfew laws, Mrs. E. E. Ingram discussed this question at the afternoon session and stressed the importance of such a law in Waco. She stated that it had meant a great deal according to reports in other cities as a crime reducer and that it proved to be of special benefit to a community.

SEVERAL TALKS ARE GIVEN BY WOMEN.

Song service at the morning session was led by Mrs. J. W. Byars and was followed by scripture reading by Mrs. Susan Price. That the W. C. T. U. was one of the largest organizations for women in the world and that its accomplishments had been unlimited, an interesting history of the organization was read by Mrs. A. D. Adams. She said that there are now enrolled approximately 500,000 members and that the organization was the outgrowth of an inspiration of Frances Willard.

"Declaration of Principles," a paper read by Mrs. W. H. Moore, was of special interest to those present. Mrs. C. A. Westbrook of Lorena talked on "Sabbath Breaking," and gave a plea for a more reverent observance of the Sabbath. She is the state superintendent of the Sabbath observance department of the W. C. T. U. Sunday school work. Sunday school work that should be carried on in accordance with the views of the W. C. T. U. was discussed by Mrs. W. J. Wigley, superintendent of this department.

Importance of teaching temperance in the higher grades of the public schools was brought out in an address by Mrs. J. C. Houser. Her subject was scientific temperance. Mrs. C. C. Shumway told of the work of the mothers' department, and Mrs. J. A. Stanford talked on "Proportionate and Systematic Giving," in which she quoted scripture which showed the importance of the right kind of donations. This ended the morning session and the meeting adjourned for lunch.

PREPARATIONS FOR VISIT OF MRS. ARMOR ARE STARTED.

Devotional services for the afternoon were led by Mrs. C. H. Carrington. Vocal numbers were given by Mrs. J. W. Byars, Mrs. J. W. Harris and Mrs. Wynne. Literature dealing with the visit of Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, often referred to as the greatest woman orator in America, was distributed to committees of the different churches of the city that were present. Mrs. Armor will be in Waco May 1 and will speak that night at 8:30 o'clock at the First Baptist church.

Reports of new members were received and the new members installed with appropriate ceremonies. Mrs. C. B. Smith talked on "Medical Temperance," bringing out that not only should alcohol be excluded from beverages, but from medicines.

Information in regard to the work conducted by the Bethel Home at Galveston for soldiers and sailors was given by Mrs. D. M. Wilson. She stated that this home was very popular among the soldiers and sailors and that it provided special entertainment for them such as banquets and musicales.

REPORT GIVEN OF JAIL SERVICES.

"Our Mission to the Prisoners" was the subject of a talk made by Mrs. R. H. Winfrey, who assists in conducting services at the county jail every Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. She stated that four conversions had resulted in the services for the last two weeks and that inmates of the jail were presented with Easter lilies on Easter morning.

Suggesting temperance lessons for the missionary societies of the city at least once a month, Mrs. R. H. Newman gave a talk on "Co-operating with Mission Work." This concluded the program for the institute, after which the meeting adjourned.

I. O. O. F. CONVENTION HAS GOOD ATTENDANCE

Next Convention Goes to Temple—J. M. Honeycutt of Temple Heads Association.

The Central Texas I. O. O. F. association in session yesterday held its closing social meeting at 8 p. m. at the Odd Fellows' hall.

Through the courtesy of James Mohan, the florist, the hall had been beautifully decorated. The color scheme was pink and green, the colors of the order, while other floral designs, appropriately portraying their fraternal symbols, were placed at the various stations.

The afternoon session was devoted entirely to a business session and election of officers.

Mrs. Ada Thompson Chaviers gave an eloquent toast to "Brothers as Rebekahs," at the close of which she made each Odd Fellow who was not an Odd Fellow wish that he was one. Mrs. Minnie Brown and Mrs. J. D. Alexander gave witty toasts on "Oddfellowship" in a graceful and happy manner.

Mrs. Little's toast was an unexpected surprise.

This session closed the association's gathering. The next meeting will be held at Temple in April.

MORNING SESSION BEGAN THE CONVENTION.

Bankers' Trust Co. Takes Over Loans

A greater portion of the loans of the Lumbermen's Security and Trust company, which were taken over by the Bankers' Trust company of Waco, of which Edward Rotan is president, were put into business form Monday when President Rotan gave a check for $191,489.06 to care for the purchase of the loans.

The Lumbermen's Security and Trust company recently voted to liquidate, and it was in this connection that the purchase of the loans outstanding was made by the Bankers' Trust company of Waco, an institution which does business in a big way.

DRIVER SPEEDS ON WHEN INJURES CHILD

Declared to have speeded up after they saw that they had struck little Gordon Moore, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Moore, as the family was getting off of an outbound interurban car at Lacy Summit yesterday afternoon, two men in a Ford car went their way northward without their identity being known. The car struck the child and knocked it several feet, inflicting a severe scalp wound and bruising the body in a number of places. For several hours the child was unconscious, but it is not thought that the wounds will prove fotal. The parents and the child had gotten off the 6:20 interurban car and were crossing the Dallas pike on their way home.

SIMPLE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get about two ounces of plain powdered neroxin from any drug-store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big black heads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions of the body that form in the pores of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores and do not get them out after they become hard. The powdered neroxin and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.

WACOANS TO ATTEND STATE LEAGUE MEET

W. V. Crawford, president of the state organization of the Young Men's Business League, said yesterday afternoon that he thought that not less than thirty-five members of the local league would attend the annual convention which begins at Temple this morning and continues through tomorrow. Many of the Wacoans will leave over the Katy at 7:30 this morning, and others will go by auto. The round trip from Waco is quoted at $1.70.

Any member in good standing with any affiliated league is entitled to be a voting delegate at the convention. There are no delegates especially elected.

President Perry A. Duncan of the Waco Y. M. B. L. is slated to respond to the address of welcome this morning, and W. W. Naman is scheduled for an address on the ways in which a league can help in city building.

At the directors' meeting last night the convention was discussed and several of the directors who had been in Temple stated that extensive plans were being made on the part of the Temple league to entertain the visitors, and that several features of entertainment would be offered.

Mayor to Cops: Be Courteous; Watch Mashers!

Insisting on a spirit of helpfulness, courtesy and enforcement of city traffic laws, and suggesting that stronger measures be taken by individual patrolmen to prevent immoral women on the streets of Waco, Mayor John Dollins had a heart-to-heart talk with members of the police squad at the roll call last night. The mayor pointed out that the policeman on his beat has a great opportunity to be a friend in need to the pedestrian, especially women and children, and that he is the evangel of public peace and propriety. He emphasized the need for a closer look-out for the "street walker" or "masher," and asked for a codial support from the individual policemen for a cleaner and more courteous city.
